Clings to Its Power, Governor Says.

Within the last decade burocracy has reversed itself from the role of servant of the people to that of boss and, far from being a war time emergency, is fighting every attempt to return power or liberty to the people, Gov. Dwight H. Green declared last night in addressing the Chicago Bar association.

With few exceptions, Gov. Green said, "burocracy has discarded the principle of service and has set up, instead, a reign of administrative absolutism," which has become the most vital issue America has had to face since the Civil war.

The governor pointed out that the expansion of burocratic power is not a war time measure but that "this policy of administrative absolutism was in effect for years before war was even considered a remote possibility in America."

Never Relinquishes Powers.

"Every right, every power, every liberty that has been relinquished into the hands of the federal burocracy in the past is still in the hands of that burocracy today," Gov. Green declared. "Indeed, every effort to regain any lost power has met the stiffest, most implacable resistance, regardless of whether the emergency which inspired the original grant of power is past."

Defenders of burocracy sneer at time tested American institutions, Green said, ridicule the Constitution as an "out-dated document," and are impatient of the system of checks and balances and are insultingly cynical regarding the ability of the American people to rule themselves.

"Self-styled liberals arise to delineate their liberal objectives," the governor said, "and they affirm that their goal can be achieved only by scrapping or evading constitutional restrictions. They would have us believe they have a 'corner' on liberalism.

Charges People Deceived.

"These brazen apologists of the new order' would have us believe that centralization of government provides us with a streamlined, more efficient administration that is infinitely more sensitive to the wishes of the people than representative government, with its constitutional checks and balances.

"But they can deceive the American people on that score no longer, because it is obvious to most of us that the present national burocracy is the most expensive and the most recklessly extravagant in American history.

"Never before have the American people seen such red tape, such chaos, and such inconsistency and petty bickering in the seat of their federal government. Nor have we ever had a government that was more callously insensitive to the wishes of the people. We have learned only too well that the representatives of administrative absolutism in Washington are representatives of their boss—not of the people.

Charges Liberty Menaced.

"The third fallacy upon which this whole unwieldy structure of centralized government is based is the erroneous idea that we can place our entire economic system under the rigid control of federal burocracy without losing our civil liberties.

"They are at a loss to answer the fact that this same theory which carried Hitler into power in Germany, and Mussolini in Italy, has proven false every time it has been tested. Without exception, the platform of every dictator during the last century has been: To regulate business and protect the civil liberties of the people. And without exception the people who have been deluded into accepting an economic dictator have been forced to accept a political dictator also.

"The answer lies in respectful study of and rededication to those principles of freedom which have made America the greatest, the most powerful nation in the world."

Police Stage Gaming Raid; Tip-Off Foiled

Fred Pretzie Jr. of the crime commission notified the state's attorney's office where two large gambling houses of the syndicate were operating in Cicero. All day a commission investigator stood watch at one of the places, 4730 Cermak road. In the afternoon state's attorney's police were sent to make a raid.

Before the police arrived the crime commission investigator discovered activity in the rear of the gambling place. He saw equipment moved out of the gambling house and loaded on a truck. He followed the truck and saw the gambling equipment, roulette wheels, dice tables, etc., carried into a basement at 4738 Cermak road.

Police Arrive Too Late.

The investigator returned to his post at 4730 Cermak road. Shortly thereafter the state's attorney's police arrived, walked in, and found 150 patrons playing the horses, dice, and poker. But very little equipment was in the place.

Six employes were arrested and the patrons released.

The state's attorney's men were ready to leave when Pretzie arrived to tell of the movement of the equipment. The raiders drove to the 4738 address and forced their way into the basement. There they found two new and costly roulette wheels and several new dice, poker and blackjack tables.

Three safes also were found, one of which was opened. The raiders said the opened safe contained bundles of currency. The money was taken for safe keeping to the state's attorney's office and the gambling equipment to the Cicero police station. The other two safes will be opened today.

Four Arrested in Raid.

The other gambling house raided was at 5937 Roosevelt road. When the state's attorney's squad arrived they found sheriff's deputies inside already making a raid. Two roulette wheels, dice, poker and blackjack tables were confiscated and 150 patrons, including 40 women, were chased out. Four employes were arrested. The deputies took charge of the equipment.

Earlier the grand jury, investigating the murder of Danny Stanton and Martin Quirk, questioned Capt. Frank Malone of the Chicago Lawn district for nearly two hours on the operations of John Williams, gambler sought for questioning in the Quirk slaying.

Williams is the son of Ann Williams, 13th ward Democratic committeewoman and former policewoman discharged Wednesday from the force by Commissioner Allman.

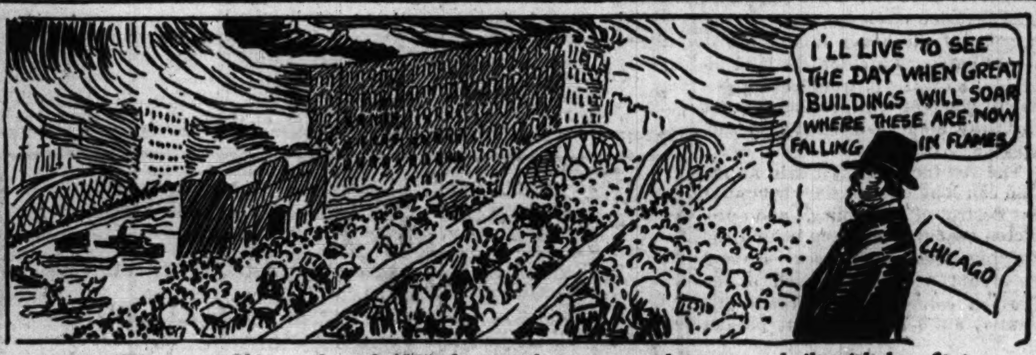
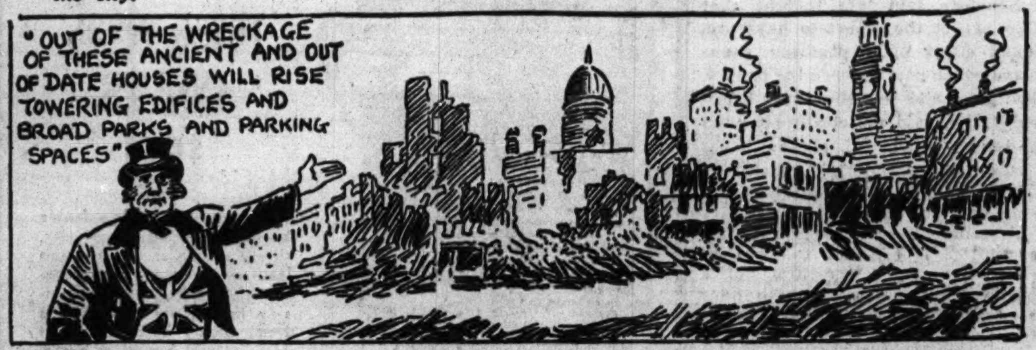
THOUGHTS ON FIRE PREVENTION DAY



I'LL LIVE TO SEE THE DAY WHEN GREAT BUILDINGS WILL SOAR WHERE THESE ARE NOW FALLING IN FLAMES
CHICAGO

The great Chicago fire of 1871 destroyed vast areas that were rebuilt with benefit to the city.



"OUT OF THE WRECKAGE OF THESE ANCIENT AND OUT OF DATE HOUSES WILL RISE TOWERING EDIFICES AND BROAD PARKS AND PARKING SPACES"

London's bombed and burned areas will be replaced with modern buildings and broad streets.

BLAST LONDON; R. A. F. IN EUROPE

Enemy Bombers' Paths Cross Over City.

LONDON, Oct. 8 [Friday]—(AP).—The German air force made its heaviest and longest raid on London and other sections of southeast England in two years shortly after dark last night as a great force of R. A. F. bombers sped over the English channel for new attacks against the continent.

The roar of the British bomber armada flying high across the searchlight studded skies of the capital synchronized with the staccato blasts of anti-aircraft barrage. Ground gunners knocked down at least two of the fairly large number of enemy raiders which dashed over London beneath the outbound bombers.

Bombers Exchange Fire.

London newspapers said British and German bombers exchanged gunfire as they passed each other high over the capital.

Air raid protection workers toiled by the light of shaded torches to extricate persons buried in wreckage in half a dozen districts struck by the Nazi bombs. In one district some 200 ARP crewmen and 30 soldiers operated in relays to bring victims from wreckage piles, some of which were moved by a 50 ton crane.

One raider, trapped in a great cone of searchlights and hammered by anti-aircraft, unloaded a stick of bombs that landed across the main street of a crowded section. The explosions caught a large number of persons who had been watching the plane try to escape the light trap.

Searchlights spotted the enemy planes, then picked up bigger British bombers flying higher. The ground barrage ceased as British night fighters went up, but was resumed about 30 minutes later.

Bombs Hit Homes.

Many bombs fell in crowded residential areas and some direct hits were scored on residences. Glass and other debris littered the streets in some suburban sections.

A southeast coast correspondent reported the R. A. F. bomber procession continued for more than three hours across the coast en route to the continent for the fourth night attack against German targets thus far this month.

Sailor Bares Red Control of U. S. Merchant Fleet

BY CHARLES CHEADLE.

Evidence that the Communist party has gained control of the crews of thousands of ships in the American merchant marine—evidence directly from a man who has sailed in these ships for two years—is in the hands of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

The strangle hold of the Communist party on the National Maritime union, which has closed shop contracts with 123 shipping companies operating all but a comparatively few of the merchant ships now under the American flag, has been brought to light by a native Chicagoan. He has first hand and intimate knowledge of what has been going on behind the scenes.

Could Seize Cargo Fleet.

Proof that the party of Premier Josef Stalin of Russia can control our vessels so completely that within a few hours the party agents could seize and operate most of them, and thus, if desired, sever our waterborne communications with this country's millions of overseas soldiers, robbing them of a steady flow of supplies, is contained in the mass of material, notes, and diary gathered by this Chicagoan in his months of duty at sea.

The Communists, the evidence shows, have followed their usual method of boring from within to seize key positions, communications, intelligence and other strategic services, and have put their representatives into important offices in the NMU, ready to act if the party leaders so direct them.

Wield "Strangle Hold."

This and subsequent articles will describe the strangle hold of the Reds on American ships. The articles will show that:

Regular "cell" meetings of the Communist party are held aboard ships flying the American flag, at which Communist literature is sold, given away and discussed, and plans for the "day of revolution" studied.

Discipline on ships of the merchant service is a thing of the past, and efforts to enforce it have been almost completely abandoned by masters and mates.

Members of crews dictate to their officers, and their decisions are supported by the NMU in meetings ashore and by the orders of Joseph Curran, communistic president of the union.

By kangaroo courts, at sea and ashore, the NMU has driven from the high seas more than enough experienced crewmen to man the ships now being turned over to foreign countries because we have a "shortage" of trained personnel. These men were expelled from the union, and thus from their jobs, because they refused to become Communists.

Federal Agency "Alarmed."

Rear Adm. Emory S. Land, administrator of the war shipping administration, has admitted, in orders to masters and agents of vessels, that the WSA is "alarmed" over the "deterioration of the authority of the master and licensed officers" of American merchant ships.

What Adm. Land has termed "lack of discipline and prevalence of disorder on United States flag vessels" is not logged by masters for fear of reprisals by the Communist elements of the union.

Organizers and officers of the Communist party and the NMU are, in many instances, the same persons, and sympathy with Communist beliefs is requisite to membership in the union.

In the Chicago area the Communist party not only has obtained virtual control of the crews of Great Lakes ships but has infiltrated the steel, munitions, and other industries, where its organizers are stewards and hold other offices in CIO unions.

Press Recruiting Work.

The party, particularly in the Calumet-Gary industrial region, within recent months has stepped up its educational and recruiting

BORING FROM WITHIN.

How the Communists bored from within to gain control of the National Maritime union will be told in the second article of this series.

CROSS RIVER AT 3 POINTS; SET TRAP NEAR KIEV

LONDON, Oct. 8 [Friday]—(AP).—The Red army has cracked the vaunted German Dnieper river line to establish three west bank bridgeheads north and south of Kiev, has driven two wedges thru the Leningrad-Vitebsk front, and swept the Germans out of the Caucasus, Moscow announced early today.

The Russian troops which crossed the Dnieper beat off German counter-attacks and are extending the bridgeheads "step by step," the soviet war report said. All German attacks were "repulsed with heavy losses," Moscow said of the drive that threatens to trap thousands of Germans in the river loop and force a Nazi withdrawal to Rumania and Poland.

More than 8,000 Germans fell in two days' fighting at one bridgehead, the bulletin said.

Where Dnieper Was Spanned.

Soviet forces planted themselves firmly across the middle Dnieper on the west bank north of Kiev, south of Pereyaslav, 50 miles southeast of the Ukraine capital, and southeast of Kremenchug, between Kiev and Dnepropetrovsk on the river bend.

Taman, a port in the western Caucasus opposite the Crimea, and seven other towns were captured in the final cleanup of the German foothold there.

"Enemy troops who were unable to evacuate the peninsula are being wiped out," Moscow said.

Near Latvian Border.

The war report said soviet airmen were sinking fleeing German troops by the boatload in the narrow Kerch strait between the Caucasus and the Crimea.

In a plunge toward the Baltic states, Russian troops gained 15 miles on a 15 mile front, capturing the rail junction city of Nevel, only 70 miles from the Latvian border, and more than 100 villages.

Capture of Nevel put the Russians astride a rail hub commanding lines to Leningrad on the north, Vitebsk in White Russia to the south, and Baltic routes branching off to Warsaw in Poland.

Extending their front further north, the Russians made a nine mile advance in the Volkhov sector southeast of Leningrad.

Two Day Fight for Nevel.

Marshal Josef Stalin previously had announced the fall of Nevel, terming it "a large strongpoint and operationally important German center of communications." He said it fell after a two day fight.

Berlin broadcasts already had prepared the Germans for the reverses at Nevel and on the Dnieper. They had told of a strong Russian attack near Nevel, 35 miles southwest of Veliki Luki, and had said the Red army had established a "major bridgehead" on the west bank of the Dnieper about 50 miles north of Kiev. Berlin also had admitted two other crossings.

FINDS CHEMICAL THAT WILL TURN ANY SKIN WHITE

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 7 (AP).—A new chemical that turns skin of any color white was described today before the 93d annual session of the Medical Society of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Louis C. Schwartz, medical director of the United States public health service, said the discovery was made during a study of a skin disorder among Negroes employed in a leather plant.

The hands of workers wearing gloves treated with monobenzyl ether of hydroquinone—intended to prevent deterioration of the gloves—became white, Dr. Schwartz related. Later experiments on the skin of animals, he said, disclosed that the change lasts from six months to six years.

REVEAL CLASH IN POST-WAR ALLIED CLAIMS

Clear cut evidence of the firm foreign policies of several nations fighting the axis were set forth in cable dispatches yesterday. In some cases the nations' policies clashed. In the stories coming from abroad there were definite outlines of post-war territorial claims and plans. Here are the dispatches:

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Following the announcement by the Greek ambassador, Thanassis Aghnides, that Greece is claiming territorial rewards for assistance given to the allies, it was disclosed today that the Jugo-Slav goverment also is making territorial demands which would strengthen its position in the Adriatic.

Acceptance of the combined Jugo-Slav and Greek claims, it was stated, would compel Italy to give up the Dodecanese islands, the Istrian peninsula, Trieste, Fiume, and several islands and bases in the Adriatic.

Lists Serb "Demands."

Attributing its information to "an allied source," the Evening Standard said the Jugo-Slav government has asked the major allied powers to consider its claims to the following territories: the entire peninsula of Istria; Cherso and Lussin islands in the northern Adriatic; the port of Fiume acquired by Italy under an agreement between Italy and Jugo-Slavia in 1924; a strip of territory on the extreme eastern boundary of Italy running from Trieste, which was ceded to Italy by Austria in 1918, northward to Gorizia and Tarvis and including the regions surrounding these three cities and the port of Zara in the Italian zone on the Jugo-Slav Adriatic coast which was annexed by Italy in 1920.

The Greeks were reported to be claiming all the territory owned by Greece before the war except the Islands of Imbros and Tenedos, which were occupied by the Turks after the oubreak of the Mediterranean war; the Dodecanese Islands, including Kos, Kalymnos, Leros, Nisyros, Tilos, Symi, Kharki, Astypalaea, Scarpanto, Kaxo, Patmos, Lipsos, and the important naval base of Rhodes, and an undefined area in southern Albania which the Greeks call northern Epirus.

Offer Base to Britain.

If these demands are finally conceded, the Greek government would welcome use of Rhodes as a naval base by Great Britain, it was stated.

The Jugo-Slav and Greek claims, it was understood, will be discussed at the Moscow three power conference and by the interallied Mediterranean commission scheduled to meet in Algiers this month.

'FIGHTS CHEAP WAR'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Almost on the eve of the three power talks, Paul Winterton, the News Chronicle's special correspondent in Moscow, said today the only major question on which Britain and Russia see eye to eye is the necessity for bringing Germany to total defeat.

The article coincided with the announcement that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is leaving England within a few days for Moscow, accompanied by a staff of foreign

URGES FOOD STAMP PLAN AS ANSWER TO SUBSIDY PROPOSALS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7 (AP).—A food stamp plan to provide cost of living relief for those in the low income group was advanced today by Rep. Christian A. Herter [R., Mass.], former foreign relief aid to Herbert Hoover, as a substitute for the administration's subsidy program.

The New Englander laid his proposal before the house banking committee, as one to hold government relief directly to those struggling to meet grocery bills instead of spreading government "bounty" to rich and poor alike.

Herter estimated that his plan would bring relief to approximately 12,000,000 persons and cost between 600 million and 700 million dollars.

Under it, the government, thru local welfare boards, would issue food stamps—worth 25 per cent of the affected family's food budget—to: Those whose incomes have not increased more than 20 per cent since Jan. 1, 1939, or who now receive less than $1,000 annually, in the case of a single person, or $1,200 if married.

NEEDED TO SAVE MILLION YANKS, SENATORS SAY

Report on Tour of War Fronts.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—The senate was told today, at a secret session unparalleled in its history, that the lives of a million American fighting men could be saved if Russia, America's ally, would permit the United States to use Russian bases to bomb Japan.

The blunt but considered statement was made by Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. (R., Mass.) behind the locked doors of the senate chamber when the senate met to hear him and four other senators report on their 40,000 mile airplane trip which took them to all the American fighting fronts.

5 Main Observations.

So grave was the report, and so many the questions which were asked, that only three of the party were able to tell their stories today. They were Senators Lodge, Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.), and James M. Mead (D., N. Y.).

A second secret session was ordered for tomorrow, when Senators Albert B. Chandler (D., Ky.) and Ralph O. Brewster (R., Me.) will make their report.

While the story of Russian refusal to coöperate in saving American lives dominated the meeting, senators who attended said they came away with these impressions:

1 Great Britain, while our ally, is nevertheless an active rival, planning for post-war commerce that should rightfully be ours, accepting credit for American lend-lease supplies given in Britain's name to other countries and minimizing the news of American contribution to the war.

Britain Lukewarm.

2 Great Britain is lukewarm toward the war against the Japanese and is permitting the United States to shoulder far more than our share of the entire war burden.

3 The United States should act promptly to insure post-war military and commercial use of the air and naval bases built with American lend-lease billions.

4 The United States is planning idealism and the four freedoms for all the world, but Great Britain and Russia are proceeding on their program of realism as to territorial economics, commerce, and power.

5 The great need of the United States is for a clear national policy, to enable our military, diplomatic, and business personnel abroad to work as a team—with appropriate international rank.

Lodge Ignores Gag.

Vigorous efforts were made to prevent Sen. Lodge's statement that Russia could save a million American lives by giving us bases from reaching the public. The senators who accompanied Sen. Lodge, indeed, overrode his demand that the Russian picture be told in the formal report they issued to the press. Sen. Lodge said they told him they wished to avoid giving help to the Japanese.

Senators who heard the report today, however, scoffed at the suggestion that the news was too grim to give the American public and disclosed what the youthful Massachusetts senator had told them.

They said that Japan could be bombed out of the war without costly land and naval operations if Russia would make available Vladivostock and other sites within easy bombing distance of Tokio.

Lodge told the senate in open session upon the party's return that countless American lives could be saved by Russia's making her Pacific coastal area available to the United States.

He explained at that time that he was fully aware of the delicacy of the problem of Russo-Japanese relations, but, he said of the question:

"It is of such importance to the American people that I feel it must be mentioned."

Veterans steeped in senate lore could recall no precedent for today's secret meeting, with its drama of war and its assurance that the story of that war was to be heard from the lips of a committee appointed to investigate it at the fighting fronts. Even senate employes were barred.

Globe Hides Wallace.

To illustrate the global operations in which they were to report, the returned senators had brought a great map and a globe of almost a man's height. In order that Vice President Henry A. Wallace could be seen while presiding, it was necessary for him to move from the rostrum to a table placed in the well of the chamber beside the globe.

Senators who heard the report said they found that Great Britain, despite the exigiencies of war, is able to extend her control over the communications systems of most of the world. They said they learned that she is maintaining her trade and preparing to expand it while the United States abandons normal activities to fight the war. Unless the United States substitutes dollars and cents values for international post-war planning, they said, we shall find that Great Britain has gained control of the world markets.

Senate members said the United States was pictured as a world benefactor who furnishes generous supplies of lend-lease goods needed in Arabia, Turkey, and other countries of the middle east. But these, as the story was told, are distributed by the British, who fail to mention that they are the gifts of Uncle Sam. Thus, it was explained, a tremendous reservoir of good-will is built up with both the ruling heads and the civil population of many countries. But it is good-will for Great Britain, not the United States.

Minimize U. S. Efforts.

Whatever may be the British intent, the senators were told, British control of the new agencies in many areas where the Americans are fighting results in minimizing American efforts and emphasizing those of the British. This, it was related, is especially noticeable in Australia, where American soldiers have been disturbed by reports that the British share in the fall of Italy was 90 per cent. Soldiers in North Africa were said to have had difficulty in discovering that the United States is at all active in the war.

Sen. Chandler had intimated before the meeting that Great Britain is apathetic toward the war against the Japanese. Senate members said after the meeting that they had ample reason to believe this from listening to the report of the three who spoke, altho Chandler is not to tell his story until tomorrow.

Ask More British Oil.

The reporting senators are said to have indicated clearly that Great Britain's effort in the war program is dwarfed by that of the United States. Among the illustrations were oil and rubber.

The senators' formal report, which only sketched the subjects discussed in private, said:

"A great deal more oil should be provided from the deposits of the middle east. Existing sources of crude rubber in the orient, now held by the united nations, could be increased. Too much American gasoline is made available to civilians in North Africa."

The assertion regarding oil was made in the face of President Roosevelt's denial of the returned senators' earlier charges on the subject. Immediately after their return, the senators reported that this country was being required to furnish far more than its share of oil, risking exhaustion of American oil reserves while Great Britain hoards Persian gulf oil. Mr. Roosevelt came to Great Britain's defense with his denial on Tuesday, but failed to silence the senators.

Fear for Airways.

The senators who reported are understood to have taken a determined stand on British strides for domination of the world air ways in the post-war period. Even the brief formal report, mild by comparison with the travelers' spoken words, commented:

"The United States has constructed huge air fields all over the world at a tremendous cost to our people. The use of some of these fields in the future may be just as essential to our national security as battleships or divisions.

"We have no post-war rights of access to these fields outside the western hemisphere at the present time. These rights of access are also indispensable to the vitally important growth of commercial aviation."

United States Barred from Fields.

[The United States is now banned from permitting American commercial planes from landing on the foreign air fields built with American millions, six months after the war. This country has no agreements for perpetual use of the naval bases it has built in foreign territory.]

The reporting senators are understood to have emphasized that a proper regard for the taxpayers' money demands that the United States act to protect its interests in the foreign air bases before any more money is advanced thru lend-lease to the countries concerned. Senators in attendance said they learned with surprise that the British flag flies over the island bases built by the United States on British territory leased to the Americans.

From the comments of many senators, it was inferred that great emphasis had been placed on the necessity for realism in the American point of view. The men who have returned from the fighting fronts expressed no quarrel with the four freedoms as a goal toward which the world should strive. But it was made clear that they had objected to lightly made promises to feed and clothe the world, and impose lofty governmental ideas upon nations unprepared to assimilate them.

Members said they came from the secret meeting with no illusions that Great Britain plans to dismember her empire in keeping with the free world theories, or that Russia intends to give up any of her territorial aims.

As to national policy, the globe travelers said in their written conclusions:

"The need of a clear national policy is strikingly apparent. With such a policy should go an American representation abroad in which our military, diplomatic, and business personnel work as a team, with appropriate international rank. We owe this to ourselves and to the world."

The senators who reported today renewed their earlier objections to foreign propaganda activities conducted in friendly foreign countries by Elmer Davis' office of war information. They found the propagandists sincere and capable, but said their mission raises many doubts, and recommended that the whole foreign propaganda policy be reëxamined.

True Picture Withheld.

Doubt was likewise expressed as to the work of the public relations officials at the fighting fronts.

"The men who are bearing the brunt of battle," the written resume said, "do not feel that the true picture of their hardships is being given to the public. They have a realistic viewpoint regarding war which they would like to have shared by our public relations officials and the public, insofar as military security permits."

Listeners at the session said they were told that American soldiers are finding disillusionment in China. The soldiers, it was said, find little resemblance in China to the democracy they have envisioned, and complain that war lords close to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek are becoming rich from the war. Gen. Chiang, nevertheless, was portrayed as holding the Americans' highest respect.

Questioned Landis Choice.

It was reported on excellent authority today that the senators who made the three months' tour of the fighting front were responsible for the creation of the post of American director of economic operations in the middle east. They complained during their trip that American supervision was lagging in the area. President Roosevelt thereupon appointed James M. Landis, director of the office of civilian defense, to supervise the work. Landis was not a unanimous choice of the traveling senators, according to the report, as some doubted his ability to match shrewdness with the British.

Demand End of Secrecy.

The secret hearing brought considerable criticism on Capitol hill, where many said the American public was entitled to know the full story. Moreover, the objectors said, the truth is not too severe for the public to know.

Sen. Alexander Wiley [R., Wis.] headed a senate group in a demand that the full report be published.

Sen. Chandler said he will plead tomorrow that full scale American land invasion of Europe be deferred because of the heavy loss of life it would entail. An extensive land invasion, he warned, would bring disaster, whereas he has hopes that Germany may be bombed into submission.

The Kentucky senator said no nation can long endure such bombings as destroyed Hamburg, and predicted that the Germans behind the fighting lines would crack. He said he would not be surprised if the German collapse should come this winter, altho he would not predict it.

Effect on Post-war Plans.

Senators said late tonight that they expect the report to have profound effect upon post-war peace plans which now concern the capitol. The grim and realistic views heard today, they said, materially alter the situation which led to the house passage of the Fulbright resolution, later pigeonholed by the senate foreign relations committee.

A senate foreign relations subcommittee is reported to have recently completed the draft of a post-war plan which was to have been submitted to the full committee for possible consideration by the senate. Some regarded it as likely that this draft would now be withdrawn. News of the draft's existence was disclosed in a curious manner. Asked about a report that a copy of it had disappeared, an official unintentionally confirmed the story by complaining that it was clearly marked "confidential."

Bares Jap Atrocities

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7 (AP).—Reports that Japanese had wantonly operated on an unwounded captured American soldier without the use of an anesthetic were heard in New Guinea by Sen. A. B. Chandler [D., Ky.] when he and other members of a senate inspection committee paused there on their recent 'round-the-world flight. The senator said Gen. MacArthur knew of several authenticated atrocities committed by the Japanese and was keeping the names of the perpetrators on file so they can be called to account after the war.

Bryn Mawr, Pa., Oct. 7 (AP).—The "Helen Hayes of China" put on the best act of her career when she disguised as an old Buddhist and escaped from Jap occupied Hongkong to Chungking in 40 days of constant terror, neat maneuvering, and "just good luck."

Yung Wang, 25 years old, whose successful movies caused Pearl Buck to compare her with one of America's first ladies of the stage, told today in the deanery of Bryn Mawr college, where she is now a student, how she was clubbed by Japs and how she once rowed in a fishing barge past a Japanese held island where one inadvertent sound would have meant death.

Struck by Soldier.

"There were 31 adults and an infant—all escaping fugitives—in the small boat," she said. "An old man was huddled over the oars struggling to move the barge as quietly as possible. He looked up and whispered huskily:

"'If the baby cries, we'll have to throw him overboard.'"

Driven from Tokio.

Miss Wang had been hunted by the Japanese Gestapo since, at 16, she refused to star in a Japanese propaganda film. She was driven out of Tokio.

At Bryn Mawr, Miss Wang, sponsored by her government and the Bryn Mawr college Chinese scholarship fund, is studying American language and literature.

WPB PREPARES NEW CUT IN PAPER USES; CITES LACK OF PULP

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7 (AP).—A war production board official said today the supply of wood pulp for newsprint is 25 per cent below full demand and told a congressional committee "further curtailment orders" on uses of papers were being prepared.

Harold Boeschenstein, director of WPB's production control bureau, said if the present use of pulpwood continues there will be a shortage of approximately 25 per cent next year.

He told a house subcommittee investigating the use of wood pulp that WPB is "engaged in preparing and issuing further curtailment orders dealing not only with newspapers but also many other varieties of paper products." He did not elaborate, however.

The nation, he observed, must either curtail use of pulpwood in 1944 by 25 per cent or increase production by that amount.

UNDERGROUND PRESS GROWS.

ALGIERS, Oct. 7.—Total circulation of the French "underground" press is now more than 800,000 with at least 70 papers appearing regularly in France. The French committee of national liberation today estimated that each copy of a paper is read by 10 individuals.

KELLY DECLINES TO INTERVENE IN OCD DISCUSSIONS

As coördinator of the office of civilian defense for the Chicago metropolitan area, Mayor Kelly said yesterday that he will take no action regarding alleged internationalistic propaganda in the OCD block discussion group setup.

Earl S. Johnson, assistant professor of social sciences at the University of Chicago, told 600 block discussion leaders at a training lecture Tuesday that "American" is no longer the most important word in the political vocabulary. Johnson also said that "if we want world security we must give up some of our national independence."

"The OCD is a democratic organization, and it is trying to foster free speech," Mayor Kelly said. "I cannot help what any speaker says. I'm not going to interfere."

WORKMAN DIES OF BURNS.

Edward Solomon, 45 years old, 1354 South Peoria street, Negro, died yesterday in Loretto hospital of burns suffered Wednesday when a blow furnace backfired at a smelter at 1343 West 21st street where Solomon was employed.

SCORES KILLED BY NAZI PLANTED MINE IN NAPLES

Many Children at Play Die in Big Explosion.

BY NOEL MONKS.

[Distributed by the Associated Press.]

NAPLES, Oct. 7.—One of the war's greatest atrocities was perpetrated against the Neapolitans by the Germans today when a delayed action mine containing tons of high explosive, planted in the basement of the postoffice, went off.

Scores of Italian civilians, including many women and children, were blown to pieces as the whole pavement in the Via Armondo Diaz was flung into the air.

Killed in Nearby Building.

Nearly every person on the ground floor of the postoffice was killed as well as many civilians walking in the street a block away. People also were killed in adjoining buildings.

The explosion occurred at one of the busiest times of the day when hundreds of Neapolitans were visiting the postoffice and endeavoring to communicate with their relatives living in districts occupied by the allies.

Some soldiers were included among the dead.

British and American Red Cross services on the scene worked at high pressure for several hours.

Children Among Victims.

One appalling aspect was the number of children killed. At one moment they were playing in the street. In the next they were mere ribbons of flesh.

I visited the scene within a few minutes of the explosion and counted the torn bodies of 15 children. A woman walking at the corner of the Via Roma, 150 yards from the postoffice, had her head blown off.

POPE APPROVES MORE SWISS AS VATICAN GUARDS

BERNE, Switzerland, Oct. 7 (AP).—A dispatch from Chiasso on the Italian border today quoted the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, as saying that Pope Pius XII. has consented to the recruiting of additional Swiss citizens for service in the papal guard in view of the fact that the battle zone is rapidly approaching Rome.

Fifteen Swiss who were recruited in the last few days have been delayed in arriving in Vatican City because the frontier between Italy and Switzerland has been closed, the dispatch said.

[A Reuters news agency dispatch reaching London from Zurich, Switzerland, said the Germans planned to "remove the pope to a north Italian town offering greater security" should Rome be in danger of capture by the allies.]

WEAR ON TIRES QUADRUPLES AS SPEED DOUBLES

Tribune Test Finds Loss High at 90.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Death Valley, Cal., Oct. 7.—The high price in rubber paid by motorists for speed, especially in hot weather, was dramatically emphasized today in measuring the tread wear on four Trib-buna tires driven 500 miles at speeds 70 to 90 miles an hour over the scorching desert.

The loss of rubber from the tread design averaged .017 of an inch. The rate of loss per mile was approximately four times as rapid as experienced in driving synthetics at 45 miles an hour over the highways of west Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona. In other words, the tires could be driven almost four times as far at 45 m. p. h. as they could be driven at 70 to 90 m. p. h. before wearing smooth.

Calculations Theoretical.

The anticipated life expectancy of the tread design at the faster speed was calculated at 9,487 miles. The anticipated life expectancy of the tread design at 45 m. p. h. as calculated from .0168 of an inch wear in 1,854 miles of highway cruising, was 36,104 miles.

These calculations are obviously theoretical since they presume that the tire will last as long as the tread and that the life of the casing will not be foreshortened by cuts, bruises, underinflation, overinflation, or mishaps. A blowout the other day in our Chicago Tribune tire test enterprise here demonstrated that anticipated life expectancies can blow up.

Speed Hard on Tires.

The increase in tire wear from faster driving was previously demonstrated, less dramatically, however, on the highways of Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan almost a month ago. There, the Chicago Tribune test car found that a thousand mile drive at 50 m. p. h. took 45 per cent more rubber from the tires than a thousand mile drive at 35 m. p. h.

These new and old figures explain why the 35 m. p. h. national speed limit was invoked to conserve tires by presidential proclamation last year before the synthetic plants came into production.

Equalled Natural Rubber.

Participating in the speed demonstrations here is the Automobile Club of Southern California which also observed the blow-out caused by a mishap while subjecting the overheating tires to stone cuts at slow speed. The Trib-buna did as well as natural rubber in resisting cuts and it was speculative whether a natural rubber tire would not have been blown out under the same conditions.

The Trib-buna is standard government synthetic. The only difference is the source of a raw material for the rubber. Butadiene, the main ingredient for Buna-S synthetic, is made by the government from petroleum and from alcohol distilled from grains. Butadiene for Tribbuna was converted from alcohol salvaged from waste sulphite liquor at THE TRIBUNE's Canadian woodpulp mills in a process pioneered in the western hemisphere before Washington, D. C., anticipated present shortages of petroleum and of grains.

How Proving Grounds at Aberdeen Function.

[This is the first of a series of articles on the Aberdeen proving ground, the United States army ordnance department's vast military testing establishment in Maryland. The writer recently made a four day tour of the proving ground, was permitted to visit and inspect virtually every branch and division of activity there and ask questions about what he saw.]

BY JOHN MENAUGH.

Aberdeen proving ground in itself is one of the main reasons the American army is the best armed and best equipped in the world.

Altho the country's great industries, operated privately in most cases, are producing the weapons and other materiel of war, it is the army ordnance department's huge proving ground in Maryland which is seeing to it that these products are made to stand up in tests as severe as those found in actual campaigns and battles.

Thousands of Acres.

Occupying many thousands of acres along the western shore of the upper end of Chesapeake bay on bottom lands that once were devoted to the growing of corn, the Aberdeen proving ground is what helps in a big way to make the American soldier click in war.

Its activities, which shall be described in greater detail in subsequent articles of this series, are under the control and direction of the ordnance department. Maj. Gen. Levin H. Campbell Jr. is chief of this department.

Miles upon miles of artillery pieces, hub to hub; avenues lined with tanks and trucks, ready to be rushed to war; work shops, offices, barracks, schools, laboratories, and other buildings by the hundreds, and activity everywhere—all these make it apparent that Aberdeen is doing a great job under its commanding general, Maj. Gen. Charles T. Harris Jr.

"Never has there been a day," said Gen. Harris, "in which our troops, each and all of them, have been short of materiel. In the other war we borrowed guns from the British and ammunition from the French, but this time we have been able to meet our own problems and demands and in addition help supply our allies."

Ordnance Proved Superior.

At Aberdeen, undergoing tests or waiting to be shipped to the fronts, are innumerable pieces of ordnance equipment that are equal or superior to anything that our allies and our enemies have managed to produce. This is neither conjecture nor the enthusiastic claim of ordnance officers. It has been proved and is being proved daily.

One of the most important tasks of the proving ground is to compare pieces of foreign equipment with the corresponding pieces of American equipment. In no instance, according to the proving ground officers, have tests revealed a superiority for the foreign models, altho in cases in which foreign equipment or principles appear worthy of consideration they are studied scientifically with the possible object of American adaptation.

There are between 600 and 700 individual pieces of foreign ordnance equipment at Aberdeen. These range in size from the smallest exhibit of small arms ammunition up to a German 21 centimeter Moerser [mortar]. A 60 ton tank, for example, with its armament and its full equipment and tools, by this method of counting would represent only one unit. If all the items in the foreign materiel collection were broken down into their component parts the number would reach far into the thousands.

Tiger Tank in Collection.

Included in the foreign collection are small arms, artillery of all types, ammunition, including aerial bombs and land mines; transport equipment, and tanks. Of the tanks the most impressive is the Panzerkampfwagon VI., commonly called the Tiger or the Mark VI. This terrifying vehicle is armed with an 88 millimeter high velocity gun.

A considerable part of the foreign equipment is on display in a museum building, where it can be studied by ordnance officers. Before it gets to the museum, however, it is tested in every way. A gun, for example, is fired with its own captured ammunition. Tanks, other vehicles, weapons, and all other items of foreign equipment are taken apart. Their structure is studied and their steel is given laboratory tests. Then most pieces are thoroly reconditioned or rebuilt in the machine shops of the proving center or in the base shop of the ordnance school, which is a part of the proving ground.

There is no such thing as being satisfied at Aberdeen in regard to foreign guns, tanks, and the like. In other words, this or that foreign piece is not set aside forever and forgotten after it has been tested. Take any piece of enemy equipment, for example. Sooner or later a piece of the same type is captured and brought to Aberdeen. This new piece undergoes the same examination and study as the original. In this way we keep informed of any changes or substitutions.

German Ordnance Good.

By comparison with American equipment, the enemy equipment is heavy but soundly engineered. The German, ordnance officers say, is the best of the enemy equipment. The Italian and Japanese generally is of poorer quality and much of it of the design of World War I, but still it will kill.

Much has been published about Germany's famous 88 millimeter gun, which is built for both anti-tank and anti-aircraft use.

"It is a fine weapon," said an ordnance officer of the foreign materiel branch of the proving center. "It is quite capable at a mile or so of knocking out the most formidable tank. Despite this, its reputation was made not upon its actual merits as a weapon but by the tactics with which the Germans employed it. They found it paid well to lure allied tanks by various devices up to within a few hundred yards, where the 88 could be certain to demolish them."

American Gun Superior.

The American 90 millimeter anti-aircraft, anti-tank gun is far superior to the German 88. The 90 is more mobile, it outranges the enemy weapon and fires a heavier shell, which has greater striking power and more destructive explosive effect.

Ordnance personnel in North Africa were responsible for sending much of the captured foreign equipment back to the proving ground.

In the proving ground's foreign materiel museum are virtually all of the military rifles of the world, except those of Russia. The total is about 50. In the main the rifles of the enemy are poor weapons by comparison with the American types. The older Italian and Japanese are antiquated and of poor construction. It requires no expert to see this. The new models are far better.

No manually operated rifle of this collection is comparable with our Springfield service rifle. The foreign armies have no semi-automatic rifle that can be considered in the same class with America's Garand. Germany's new Gewehr 41, a 7.92 millimeter semi-automatic rifle, was produced as an answer to the Garand, but tests at the proving ground have shown it to be far inferior to our weapon.

All enemy submachine guns, many of which are in the foreign materiel collection, are poor by comparison with our Thompson gun. Nor have the enemy armies anything to compare with our new .30 caliber lightweight carbine.

Far ahead of any enemy achievements is the American weapon designated as the rocket launcher ATM1. This weapon, popularly known as the "bazooka," proved its destructiveness against enemy tanks in the campaign in Tunisia.

Australia Gets British Cruiser to Replace Ship

CANBERRA, Australia, Oct. 7 (AP).—Prime Minister John Curtin announced today that the cruiser H. M. A. S. Shropshire, given by Britain to replace H. M. A. S. Canberra, sunk by the Japanese, now is a part of the Australian navy. The Shropshire was to have been renamed the Canberra but the United States already has named an American vessel the Canberra.

NAZI ARMORED DIVISION OPENS FIGHT ON BRITISH

Enemy Bolsters 125 Mile Line Across Italy.

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Oct. 7 (AP).—The Germans have rushed an armored division to the Adriatic coast and have opened a heavy battle against the British 8th army.

After a slow 300 mile withdrawal since Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery's troops first invaded the Italian mainland at Reggio Calabria on Sept. 3, the German army apparently finally has entrenched itself for a strong stand along a 125 mile front across Italy and is determined to make the allies pay dearly for their next major objective, Rome.

Hold Line in "Some Strength."

A headquarters spokesman said the Germans were believed to be holding the Volturno line "in some strength."

Further information from the front disclosed that the crossing of the Volturno by 5th army elements as reported at headquarters yesterday was only along the main tributary of the Volturno system, the Calore river.

The elements of the 5th army which crossed the Calore constitute a threat to the German flank on the coastal plain.

Radio France in Algiers reported that the 5th army was only three miles from Capua, where the Germans were expected to make a strong stand. All the German forces holding the present line across Italy were disclosed to be part of the Nazi 10th army, which has been entrusted with the defense of all central and northern Italy.

Beat Off First Assaults.

On the Adriatic coast the Germans attacked the advancing British and Canadians of the 8th army with tanks and infantry in the Termoli area, and the first assaults were beaten off, today's allied war bulletin said. The 8th army positions were said to have been further reënforced.

The British destroyers Jervis and the Offa pumped shells pointblank at the German held coastal railway which lies close to the sea. The Offa in bombarding Cantania earned the distinction of being the first warship to open the attack on Sicily.

[A military commentator on the German controled Paris radio said Montgomery was bringing up American units which were not taking part in the fighting and might be "the first elements for an allied operation aimed at the Balkans." A British dispatch from Stockholm on Wednesday said Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr.'s United States 7th army was in Italy, probably massing to strike at the Balkans.]

Bomb Town in Venice Area.

Allied air forces raked the enemy at scores of points, concentrating on disrupting and destroying Nazi supply lines. Yesterday's heaviest blow was struck by Flying Fortresses which shattered rail yards, car shops, engine sheds and chemical works at the main rail junction of Mestre in the Venice area.

Mestre is on the Italian mainland where the rail causeway from Venice joins the main coastal line, and is an important link in the enemy's communications with Jugo-Slavia and Austria. Rumanian oil and Silesian coal must pass thru the junction in reaching Italy.

German armored units and other reënforcements rushing toward the Termoli battle area were blasted from the air by allied fighter bombers, which were credited with the destruction of 82 motor vehicles and the damaging of another 113.

Yanks Attack Capua Area.

On the 5th army front allied airmen attacked heavy German road traffic northwest of Capua, an important communications and air center nestled in a sharp bend on the south side of the Volturno river.

[The German war bulletin said "bitter fighting" was in progress in the Termoli area, and that repeated allied infantry and tank attacks on the Volturno river had been repulsed, principally by counter-attacks. In the mountainous center it said German forces were "slowly withdrawing toward the northwest" after repelling strong allied attacks. Secretary of War Stimson said in Washington, D. C., that the Germans still were pouring troops into Italy and that their forces now probably number between 20 and 25 divisions—possibly 300,000 men.]

GAMBLER'S AUNT DISCHARGED AS A POLICEWOMAN

Mrs. Mae Fox of 1659 North Lawler avenue, an aunt of John Williams, gambler who is sought in connection with the murder of Martin [Sonny Boy] Quirk, agent of the Jack Guzik gambling syndicate, was discharged from the police force yesterday. She had served as a policewoman since 1936.

Mrs. Fox' sister, Mrs. Ann Williams, mother of John Williams and Democratic committeewoman of the 13th ward, was ousted from the force Wednesday. Mrs. Fox, who had been assigned to the state's attorney's office, yesterday was ordered to return to duty at police headquarters and when she reported there Commissioner James P. Allman discharged her. She was one of the 43 policewomen not under civil service. Allman said he acted "for the good of the service."

The civil service commission has not held an examination for policewomen since 1935, when 1,149 took it and only 15 passed.

WOMAN CLUB LEADER DIES.

Freeport, Ill., Oct. 7 [Special].—Mrs. Amy Kelley, 64 years old, widow of Charles G. Kelley and former city treasurer, died last night. She had been a leader in the Stephenson County Republican Woman's club, other women's organizations, and the Methodist church.

COMRADE TITO'S RED MAGIC SPURS SERB PARTISANS

He's a Mystery Man to Army Battling Nazis.

King Calls for Unity

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 7 (AP).—King Peter of Jugo-Slavia called upon his people in a message broadcast tonight to forget their ancient grudges, to cease quarreling among themselves, and to unite behind Gen. Draja Mihailovitch and other national leaders in the battle for liberation. "The day of deliverance is not far off," he said.

This was the first time the 20 year old king had taken official notice of the discord over the present and future Jugo-Slav policy. He told his countrymen, long torn by differences between Croats, Serbs, and Slovenes, and between religious groups, that the present government was acting only until the people could express their own views.

BY DANIEL DE LUCE.

AT A PARTISAN BRIGADE HDQ. IN JUGO-SLAVIA, Oct 3 [Delayed]—(AP).—There's red magic in the name "Drug Tito" in Jugo-Slavia today.

Drug Tito—Comrade Tito—is marshal of the national liberation army and the Partisan free corps which are battling Germany and the Quisling government in Zagreb and Belgrade for control of at least two-thirds of Jugo-Slavia. He is spokesman for Partisan Jugo-Slavia. He is organizer of a political system which administers large reconquered areas of the mountains, the highlands, and the coast. He is a past master of guerrilla warfare. He is Josip Broz.

Of the hundreds of thousands of Jugo-Slav youths now making war on Germany only a handful ever have seen their aloof, inscrutable chief.

This morning, sitting in an untidy office that once belonged to the commander of the Italian occupation forces, I talked with a deputy commander of a south Dalmatian Partisan brigade who said that only two months ago he saw and spoke with Drug Tito at Partisan supreme headquarters in the mountains of Bosnia.

Breakfast on Grapes.

A peace time taxicab driver in Split and a Partisan volunteer from the outset of the war of liberation, my informant wore a captured Italian uniform. His rank was denoted by three vertical bars of red felt on his sleeve, surmounted by a red star.

We breakfasted from a plate of purple and yellow skinned grapes and the Partisan officer, his beard already half gray at the age of 32, answered my questions with apparent frankness. This is what he said:

"Drug Tito is the son of a Croat laboring family of Orthodox Catholic faith. Once he worked in a metal shop. There he became acquainted with people who put him in touch with modern political and social ideas.

"During the Spanish civil war Drug Tito volunteered to fight against the Fascist terror. He rose high in the command of Barcelona, which you remember was one of the republican strongholds that held out the longest. Afterward he studied in Russia; it may have been in the comintern school I don't know.

"He was in Jugo-Slavia when the Germans began the war against us. It was over quickly—hardly more than eight days. He started organizing the Partisans for resistance. In November, 1941, the Germans were making their second offensive in Jugo-Slavia and Drug Tito offered to put Partisan forces under the combined command of Gen. Draja Mihailovitch, who was a well trained Serbian general and had installed Chetnik troops in the mountains. Mihailovitch refused.

"Drug Tito had given Mihailovitch 7,000 rifles. We needed those rifles later.

"Drug Tito is good in strategy and organization. The Communist party was the only political party which continued to fight against the Fascists and thru the Communist party Drug Tito enlisted Partisans in all parts of Jugo-Slavia. Religion was no barrier. Our soldiers came from all creeds—Moslem, Jew, Roman, and Orthodox Catholic.

Thousands Fight Nazis.

"Here in south Dalmatia we Partisans are Croats, but there are 200,000 Partisans in Serbia and many thousands in Slovenia and around Trieste. Four Garibaldi brigades of Italian Partisans from the Monfalcone shipyards are fighting German occupation. You can see the Partisan movement includes each race in Jugo-Slavia.

"Drug Tito offered collaboration to Vladko Macek, head of the Croat Peasant party. When Ante Pavelic [leader of the Croatian Federalists] came out of Italy and made himself poglavnik [fuehrer] at Zagreb, Macek issued a statement asking his followers to obey the new government's orders, but he appeared to avoid politics and stayed on his farm. Drug Tito sent a delegation to tell Macek two Partisan brigades would fetch him from Ustachi territory. Macek refused. The next day German S. S. troops, Italians, and Ustachi [pro-Nazis] put a combined guard over Macek.

"Macek still appears to avoid politics, but we know he supported the conscription of the Bela Garda [white guard] among his followers to fight against Russia on the east front. Pavelic started the Ustachi terror which murdered 750,000 Orthodox Serbs, Jews, and Partisan sympathizers in Croatia.

"Now that final victory is near in Jugo-Slavia, we know British and American military missions have conferred with Drug Tito at his headquarters. Soviet Russia, Britain, and America are our allies. Under Drug Tito we are fighting for a free federated and democratic Jugo-Slovia."

HIMMLER SEIZES NAZI AIR FORCE CONTROL, SAYS SECRET RADIO

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 7 (AP).—Heinrich Himmler, head of the Gestapo and recently named minister of the interior under Adolf Hitler, was reported in a German language broadcast from an unidentified radio station tonight to have taken control of the Nazi air force.

The German air force, separate from the army, has been under the control of Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering. The switch in command, if true, would give Himmler another powerful weapon to control both the military and home fronts.

Goering and the army always have been regarded as close and this year, after a bitter struggle with Goering, Himmler began developing a separate air force, largely made up of transports and training planes, for his SS guards.

[The fact the radio station was not identified tends to cast doubt on the authenticity of the reported change in command.]

Eisenhower's Promotion Confirmed by Senate

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7 (AP).—The senate confirmed today the promotion of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to the permanent rank of major general, effective last Aug. 30. It also confirmed the appointments of Ira Clarence Eaker and Barton Kyle Yount to the temporary rank of lieutenant general.

REPORT BRIGADE OF CZECHS NOW IN JUGO-SLAVIA

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 7 (AP).—A German report from Budapest said today a Czecho-Slovakian brigade equipped and trained by the British had landed in Jugo-Slavia to coöperate with partisan armies as the first allied force to invade the Balkans.

The Czechs were reported led by a Brigadier Rizicka when they went ashore on the Montenegro coast, either at Budva or Ulcinj. Rizicka is a former lieutenant colonel in the Czech army.

Partisan forces are sabotaging the railway system in Jugo-Slavia so effectively that only 112 out of 600 stations still are operating, a Budapest dispatch to the newspaper Nya Dagligt Allehanda said.

Partisans Destroy 10 Tanks.

LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP).—A Jugo-Slav partisan broadcast reported in London tonight said guerrilla fighters had thrown tanks into the battle for the Istrian peninsula and destroyed 10 German tanks and one German plane. The Jugo-Slavs were said to have lost four tanks.

The Berlin radio, meanwhile, said the Germans were mopping up the Istrian region, that nearly 4,000 of the opposing forces were killed and almost 5,000 taken prisoner in five days.

Russia Sets Up Church and Government Council

LONDON, Oct. 8 [Friday]—(AP).—The Moscow radio today said a special council has been formed in Russia to act as liaison between the patriarch of Moscow and the soviet government. The broadcast, recorded by the soviet monitor, said the council would consider any church questions requiring government intervention.

DRAWS 2 YEARS IN U. S. PRISON AS MAIL BOX THIEF

Ralph Sychowski, 21 years old, 1033 Lawrence avenue, who was on probation for stealing checks from mail boxes, was sentenced yesterday by Federal Judge William J. Campbell to serve two years in federal prison on a similar charge.

Michael J. Boyle, assistant United States attorney, said Sychowski forged and cashed more than 12 stolen checks amounting to $1,000. Records show that Sychowski had been placed on probation for three years last December by Judge Campbell.

Yesterday Judge Campbell revoked Sychowski's probation and ordered him to serve two years in prison, the sentence to run concurrently with the other prison sentence. A similar charge against Sychowski's wife, June, was continued pending investigation of her plea for probation. She is accused of aiding her husband in cashing the stolen checks.

REVEALS NORSE CHEERED YANKS' ARCTIC AIR RAID

BY JOHN E. LEE.

[Representing combined United States press and distributed by the Associated Press.]

WITH BRITISH HOME FLEET, Oct. 6 [Delayed].—Surprised Norwegians cheered and waved when dive bombers and torpedo planes escorted by fighters from a United States carrier struck their lightning blow at enemy merchant ships off northern Norway.

The attack was carried out by carriers of an air group early Monday and spread destruction and confusion among the targets. [The attack was announced by Britain on Tuesday.]

The surprise was so great that the Germans were unable to get a defensive fighter plane in the air during the attack. The only opposition was from anti-aircraft guns which brought down three bombers and wounded the pilot of one American fighter. The bombers crashed or made forced landings, but the fighter managed to return to its carrier.

British Hail Yank Ship.

Later, two German planes which tried to follow the naval force accompanying a carrier were shot down by fighters.

The attack represented an important blow by a United States navy task group now attached to the British home fleet. Today, as the ships returned to the home fleet anchorage, Vice Adm. Bruce Fraser signaled:

"The [giving the name of the carrier] did very well. I would be glad if the ships she passes gave her a cheer when she enters the harbor."

15 Bomb Hits Scored.

The operations were the first in which planes from an American carrier attacked targets in German occupied western Europe and were directed against enemy merchant shipping in the vicinity of Bodoe, 75 miles north of the Arctic circle. Many carrier planes participated in the attack, which was highly successful. Twelve hits were scored on eight merchantmen of from 3,000 to 10,000 tons each. Other hits were observed on a landing barge, a 500 ton ship and a 1,200 ton ore vessel.

In addition, all the ships were strafed.

Of the American planes lost, one crashed at Bodoe and another made a forced landing in the water west of Bodoe. Its crew members were seen swimming close to a rubber boat and presumably were rescued and taken prisoner. A torpedo bomber was shot down off Alsten. One crew member was seen to bail out.

The force accompanying the carrier included British cruisers and destroyers and American units. While the force was returning, one carrier plane which had been carrying out a patrol went over the side in attempting a landing. The plane was lost, but the pilot was rescued. Several other planes were damaged by anti-aircraft fire and made belly landings with undue harm.

NAZIS TAKE CAPITAL AND KOS AIR FIELDS; BRITISH STILL FIGHT

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 7 (AP).—The British reported today that fierce resistance against German forces landing on the Dodecanese Island of Kos [or Cos] was continuing, but admitted the Germans had captured a number of landing grounds and now control the town of Kos.

A British war bulletin said the small force of allied defenders on the island, in the Aegean sea, was exacting a heavy toll from the Germans.

R. A. F. bombers rained explosives on the nearby islands of Rhodes and Crete Tuesday night, pounding German air fields.

FAMINE GROWS IN GREECE, SAYS EX-MINISTER

LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP). — George Extinaris, former Greek cabinet member, said today that in the northern provinces of Greece children were fighting dogs for scraps of food and predicted a worse famine this winter.

Extinaris, who escaped from Greece in July, said that in the five months from October, 1941, thru February, 1942, the death rate was six and a half times normal in Athens and the starving dropped dead in the streets. The situation has become worse, he declared, because allied victories in the Mediterranean spurred Greek hopes so that food reserves were brought from hiding and used.

REPORT HITLER ORDERS: CLEAR EUROPE OF JEWS

Nazis Will Purge Italy Next, Sweden Hears.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 7 (AP).—Adolf Hitler was reported today to have ordered all Jews cleared out of Europe before the end of the war. A purge in Italy has been scheduled to follow immediately after the current persecution in Denmark, it was said.

The capitulation to the allies of the Marshal Pietro Badoglio government in Italy already is being blamed in Rome on the Jews, according to reports received here, and German papers in Rome declare that "fascism demands that Jews should be rendered harmless and must disappear from the national life of Italy."

Storm Trooper Directs Pogrom.

The Stockholm newspaper Social Demokraten said it had learned from informed German circles that a Hitlerian decree already had been issued ordering all Jews cleared from Europe. The order, it was declared was being carried out under Storm Troop Leader Eichmann, who was born in Palestine after his parents went there as German colonists.

Another Swedish source was told by a German SS. [elite guard] officer who visited Sweden recently that "whether we win the war or not, one thing is sure: Not a single Jew and very few Poles will be left in Europe."

Both the Social Demokraten and the Svenska Dagbladet said they had learned that the Nazi Gestapo chief, Heinrich Himmler, as well as the German ambassador to Denmark, Werner Best, and the former military chief in Denmark, Gen. Hermann von Hannecken, all had opposed the purge in Denmark.

Refugees Tell of Terror.

A prominent Danish Jew who reached Sweden this morning said: "You can't imagine what we've been thru. Our homes were sacked and burned, and small children and adults were killed."

Refugees said the Germans ordered the arrest of 7,000 Jews, but that so far they had been able to round up only approximately 800. More than 3,000 fled to Sweden. Scores were killed, and others fled to the Danish countryside.

Swedish correspondents reported Germans in Berlin were expressing indignation at the formal Swedish offer Saturday of a haven for refugee Jews from Denmark.

JAPS GIVING UP SOLOMON ISLES BASE: M'ARTHUR

Flyers Sink 27 Boats Fleeing Vila.

ALLIED HDQ. IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Oct. 8 [Friday]—(AP).—Starving and short of ammunition, the Japanese apparently have abandoned their principal air base of Vila and, at considerable cost in lives and ships, have fled the entire southern half of Kolombangara Island in the Solomons, Gen. MacArthur announced today. Evacuation of the rest of the island is in progress.

"Cutting of supply lines supporting Vila, accomplished several weeks ago by our surprise occupation of Vella Lavella to the north, thus outflanking all sea supply routes, has forced the enemy to attempt to evacuate his troops from Kolombangara," a war bulletin said.

"Vila and the southern part of the island apparently already have been abandoned by troops moving toward the northern shores.

Many Barges Sunk.

"For several nights by barge and small warship, the attempt at evacuation has been progressing. Many barges have been sunk with great loss of enemy life and some of his troops undoubtedly escaped to safety. The enemy's struggle to evacuate continues."

Vila, which is across the Kula gulf from American won New Georgia and has undergone artillery shelling from American forces on nearby Arundel, once garrisoned an estimated 10,000 men.

Over a wide area, allied planes struck at enemy shipping. The bulletin reported at least 27 small Japanese boats, ranging from barges to cargo ships, sunk and at least 12 enemy planes destroyed.

Off Choiseul, the island to which the beleaguered Japanese garrison is fleeing, 18 of the barges were smashed in the latest air attack by Airacobras [P-39s].

Down Nine Planes.

In addition to the barge damage inflicted off Choiseul, American naval units sank a small enemy gun boat in the same area. The Airacobras were intercepted by six enemy fighters of which one was shot down in flames and a second damaged.

On Bougainville, allied raiding planes downed nine out of 30 intercepting planes over the enemy air base of Kahili, the war bulletin said. The Kahili raiders, four engined bombers escorted by fighters, also destroyed an unspecified number of planes on the ground and started fires.

"All our planes returned," MacArthur announced.

On New Guinea, Australian troops driving down the Ramu valley to menace the Japanese coastal base of madang are pressing on against the retreating enemy.

The Japanese airforce engaged in limited activity, attacking the air field captured by the Australians north of Finschhafen, New Guinea, and also lightly raiding allied positions on Goodenough and Kiriwina Islands in the D'Entrecaste Aux group.

Expect Britain to Reduce Military Service Abroad

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 7.—All British army officers and men who have been serving abroad since 1939 are expected to return to Britain within the year, political observers predicted today. War Minister James Grigg announced last month he expected to reduce the qualifying period for return from foreign service from six to five years. It has been suggested that the change will be put into force early next year.

MOVE TO ADMIT CHINESE TO U. S. GETS APPROVAL

House Group Backs Repealer.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—Repeal of the 61 year old Chinese exclusion act was approved today by the house immigration committee by a vote of 8 to 4.

The committee reported to the house a bill, introduced by Rep. Warren G. Magnuson [D., Wash.], which would end exclusion of the Chinese and permit them to enter this country on the same quota basis now applied to most other countries.

Passage Is Predicted.

Passage of bill by the house, which is expected to consider it in about two weeks, was predicted by Republican and Democratic leaders, who said the administration is supporting the measure. A companion bill, introduced by Sen. Charles O. Andrews [D., Fla.] is now pending in the senate.

Rep. Noah M. Mason [R., Ill.], the ranking minority member of the immigration committee, said the exclusion repeal will be "the greatest single step we can take at this time to demonstrate the sincerity of our good will toward our fighting ally, China. It will also combat Japanese propaganda seeking to stir up the hatred of the entire yellow race against this country."

Called Act of Justice.

Rep. John W. McCormack [D., Mass.], house majority leader, said repeal of the exclusion law will be an act of justice to "our allies, the great people of China."

The bill, as now written, would permit the entrance into this country of 105 Chinese a year, with a preference of 75 per cent of the quota for those born in or residents of China.

LEADER OF NAZI SPY RING IN BRAZIL SENT TO JAIL FOR 30 YEARS

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 7 (AP). — Niels Christensen, German leader of a spy ring which sent radio information from Brazil direct to Germany, was sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment today by the national security tribunal.

Christensen was convicted of acting against the national security. He had been linked with a broadcast station which transmitted ship departures and routings, including that of the Queen Mary, which barely averted disaster a year ago.

Eight other members of the ring were sentenced to 25 years' imprisonment, three to 20 years' imprisonment, and two others to lesser terms. Some 80 other persons were absolved.

TORPEDOES SINK SHIP DISPLAYING FLAG OF SWEDEN

Miami, Fla., Oct. 7 (AP). — The brightly lighted motorship Venezia, with two spotlights playing on her neutral Swedish flag, was torpedoed and sunk in the South Atlantic in June, a ship's officer reported here. All hands, 25 crewmen and 2 passengers, were saved.

The second officer, who described the attack, said two torpedoes were fired without warning from a submarine which never was sighted by survivors. He emphasized that the ship was running with all lights burning and the flag illuminated to warn of the neutral status.

After the ship broke in two and sank, survivors drifted in two lifeboats for two days until they were picked up by a British ship and landed in South America.

SUB SINKS JAP STEAMER; 500 DIE, TOKIO SAYS

[By the Associated Press.]

An allied submarine, slipping boldly into the waters off Japan's west coast, sank a Japanese steamer on Tuesday in an attack which took the lives of more than 500 persons, Tokio broadcasts said yesterday. There is little doubt that the submarine was American.

The steamer, which plied between Shimonoseki on the principal Japanese island of Honshu and Fusan, Corea, was on its regular ferry run, according to a Domei news agency broadcast quoting a railways ministry announcement.

Only 72 Saved.

The Domei broadcast said the steamer was the Konron Maru, while a Tokio broadcast of the railways ministry announcement, recorded and translated from the Japanese by United States government monitors, gave the name as Hondon Maru.

Despite strenuous efforts by warships and naval planes to rescue the passengers and crew, Tokio said, only 72 of the 616 persons aboard had been reported saved.

Rough seas and communication trouble were said to have hampered the rescue work.

Hit by One Torpedo.

The announcement said the steamer was hit by a single torpedo and sank "after several seconds." It described the site of the attack as in the vicinity of Oki island, some 130 square miles in size, which lies in the Tsushima strait between Japan and Corea separating the East China sea and the Sea of Japan.

In reporting the receipt of the Tokio broadcast, the office of war information said that to penetrate those waters "an allied submarine would have to dare risks almost, if not as great, as those that confronted the United States submarine that made its way into Tokio harbor." [Three vessels were sunk in Tokio harbor more than a year ago.]

MOUNTBATTEN IN INDIA TO TAKE NEW COMMAND

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 7 (AP).—Adm. Louis Mountbatten, former leader of Britain's Commandos, arrived today to take over his new post as allied commander in chief in Southeast Asia.

From here Mountbatten intends to go to Chungking for conferences with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stillwell, and Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, heads of the American forces in China.

Mountbatten, cousin of King George VI. and the first British officer to be placed in supreme command of allied forces in an entire war theater, stepped briskly from an American Liberator plane and greeted a large gathering of American, British, and Chinese officers.

When William Sylvester, 27 years old, a traffic manager, undertook a campaign of harassment to drive his wife, Agnes, 26, of 6009 South Halsted street, out of his life, he didn't stop at halfway measures, she testified in Superior court yesterday when she obtained a divorce and custody of their son, William Jr., 8. Her sisters, Helen Ortquist and Violet Schoenbacker, accompanied her to court.

Under questioning of her attorneys, Joseph H. and Norman Becker, Mrs. Sylvester told Judge Joseph Sabath her husband tore her clothes, stayed out late, came home intoxicated, beat her, broke the furniture, and threw knives at her and the cat.

"I endured all this but when he finally began teaching the boy to break dishes I gave up," she said. "He would put a pile of dishes before the boy and a pile before himself. Then he'd throw a dish on the floor and tell William to throw one. He'd keep that up until all the dishes were broken."

Mrs. Sylvester waived alimony and was awarded $6 a week for support of the child.

CUTTER RESCUES 60 MEMBERS OF GUN BOAT CREW

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7 (AP).—A coast guard cutter rescued 60 members of the crew of the gunboat Plymouth, sunk off the North Carolina coast Aug. 5, the navy reported today.

Loss of the gun boat previously had been reported by the navy which said the vessel sank after two violent underwater explosions.

Members of the crew, the navy said today, were picked up from stormy waters by the coast guard cutter commanded by Lt. Woodward B. Rich, Baltimore, M. D., and by a life boat crew from the cutter who volunteered to search for survivors.

Both the Plymouth and the coast guard cutter, not named by the navy, had been assigned to convoy duty.

The navy reported patrol bombers dropped life rafts near men in the heavy seas after the Plymouth went down and that the cutter picked up survivors.

$500 LOST IN TAVERN HOLDUP.

Police yesterday sought two robbers who late Wednesday night held up the Riski tavern at 4949 South Halsted street and fled with $500 after menacing Leonard Grady, the bartender, and five patrons.

YANKS BREAK UP 2 JAP RAIDS ON CHINA AIR BASES

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 7 (AP).—Fighter planes of the 14th United States air force broke up two Japanese attempts to raid advanced American air bases on Monday and Tuesday, the headquarters of Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell announced today.

The war bulletin also said that American B-25s [Mitchells] and P-40s [Warhawks] had scored "seven near misses" Monday on two Japanese freighters at the Yangtze river port of Kiukiang.

Chinese forces, counter-attacking against a new Japanese offensive on the east China front, have sent the invaders reeling back from a number of newly-captured points, front line dispatches said.

The Chinese were reported closing in on Suancheng and Kwangteh, 60 and 90 miles respectively from the former capital of Nanking.

A Japanese column in the Kwangteh sector, the dispatches said, was falling back in disorderly retreat. Chinese forces were reported to be pushing back rapidly toward Siaofeng, 35 miles northwest of Hangchow and another Japanese force occupying a village near Suancheng was reported encircled and being pounded by the Chinese.

JAPS SET OCT. 14 FOR 'FREEDOM' OF PHILIPPINE ISLES

Tagalog to Be New State's Official Language.

New York, Oct. 7 (AP).—The Tokio radio announced today that the Philippines would become an "independent" country within the Japanese "co-prosperity sphere" on Oct. 14, and Berlin said Tagalog is the official language of the new state. English has been the official language in the islands since 1913.

The Berlin broadcast said a revolutionary marching song composed by Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo during his insurrection against the United States at the close of last century had been chosen for the Philippine national anthem and translated into Tagalog, one of many dialects spoken there.

Sun on New Flag.

The new state flag, the dispatch added, has a sun in the center to represent "national progress" surrounded by three stars representing the two main islands of Luzon and Mindanao and the Vizayan group containing all the remaining islands.

The Tokio broadcast, recorded by United States government monitors, said the date for conferring "freedom" on the Philippines had been set after conferences in Tokio between Japanese officials and Filipino "President Elect" Jose Laurel.

Laurel was reported to have issued a statement declaring that in less than a week the republic of the Philippines would become "a member of the family of nations for the first time in its history."

Laurel added, according to the announcement: "It marks the realization of the age-old aspirations of Filipino heroes and martyrs who died for the cause of independence. We will not only have self-government but will have a political and international personality for the first time. Prosperity will be ours."

FOLLOWS F. D. R.'S MESSAGE.

Tokio's announcement followed by only a few hours President Roosevelt's special message to the congress in Washington, D. C., proposing a proclamation of independence for the islands as soon as feasible.

Mr. Roosevelt stated the Filipinos had, by their heroism and loyalty, won the right to "complete freedom and nationhood."

His proposal contemplated congressional provision for economic rehabilitation of the islands when the Japanese have been driven from them, and immediate authority to enter into negotiations with President Manuel Quezon, who is in Washington, to "provide for full security for the Philippines, for the mutual protection of the islands and of the United States, and for the future maintenance of peace in the Pacific."

Existing legislation calls for making the islands independent on July 4, 1946, but Mr. Roosevelt noted that "it is possible that the fortunes of war will permit an earlier consummation of this joint will of the American and Filipino peoples."

Mrs. Lettie Reeks, 5932 South Green street, mother of six sons and a daughter in the army and navy, will sponsor a tank landing ship when it is launched at the shipbuilding yards of the Chicago Bridge and Iron company at Seneca, La Salle county, next Tuesday.

Shortly after her daughter, Amy, former Englewood High school student, joined the WAC, Mrs. Reeks received a letter of congratulation from President Roosevelt for having so many of her family in war services. Three sons are in the army and three in the navy.

CAPT. PATTERSON EXPLAINS STAND TO CANADIANS

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 7 [Special].—Under the heading, "Patterson says editorial policy not anti-British," the Ottawa Journal today published the following:

"Capt. Joseph Patterson, Roosevelt-baiting publisher of the New York Daily News, yesterday vigorously denied to the Journal that his editorial policy was anti-British.

"Canadians, he theorized, might be misinterpreting the editorial line of his pugnacious paper with the fabulous [2,050,000 daily and 3,950,000 Sunday] circulation.

"The policy of the News frankly was 'America first,' and if Canadians thought they smelled an anti-British taint in it, then their noses were out of joint.

"The News was dedicated, 'come hell or high water,' to the greater glorification of the United States, and if Capt. Patterson's editorial line was being misunderstood in Canada it was unfortunate, for he 'liked' the British, 'admired' Churchill as the hardheaded master politician of them all, and had great regard for the dominion."

SITDOWN STRIKE GROUP EJECTED AT STEEL PLANT

Work Delayed on Metal for Weapons.

A wildcat sitdown strike in the South Chicago plant of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation was summarily broken up last night when plant watchmen, after giving the strikers a 15 minute ultimatum to work or get out, evicted the strikers without further ceremony.

It was said by a plant spokesman to have been the first such eviction by plant guards in recent history of the Carnegie company. The eviction was understood to have been approved, tacitly at least, by agents of the United Steel Workers [CIO].

An immediate effect of the ouster was felt when members of the 11 p. m. shift, after staging a sitdown disturbance for an hour, reported at their jobs at 12:05 o'clock this morning.

Working on Gun Steel.

The sitdown strike began on the 3 p. m. shift when 17 men assigned to the alloy bar mill refused to work. This mill manufactures a metal used in the manufacture of the Garand rifle and certain machine gun barrels.

The strikers demanded a bonus increase of 25 cents a ton on loaded material. It also was reported that they asked to work seven days a week in the face of a state law barring the seven day week. Another report hinted the men were hoping for dismissal so that they would get certificates of availability to transfer to other jobs.

Whatever the reason, they did not have the sanction of the CIO, and when reminded of this by a company official, one striker allegedly retorted, "We'll settle this problem without our union's help." Other union men, headed by George Mischeau, CIO district director, pleaded with the strikers to return to their jobs.

Ultimatum Served on Men.

Finally, some seven hours after the sitdown began, the company issued its ultimatum to work or get out. A period of 15 minutes was allowed to the strikers to make their decision.

When the time limit had expired, 15 plant watchmen, who are members of the army auxiliary plant guard, moved in. They carried the customary sidearms. They moved behind and around the 17 sitdowners. No physical force was used, but for several minutes the air was filled with protests and shouts. A union official stood by, his presence lending official approval to the eviction, a company aid later said.

When the men of the 11 p. m. shift reported for work and continued the sitdown demonstration, union and company officials pleaded with them to go to work. They were told of the eviction of the other strikers. They finally capitulated. Had they stayed off the job 300 day workers on the 7 a. m. shift would have been idle for lack of material.

Meanwhile, the plant guard of 125 men is to receive an army guidon for efficiency and marksmanship from the army at 3 p. m. today.

CITY, COUNTY 141 MILLION OVER WAR BOND QUOTA

Residents of Chicago and Cook county, heeding the admonition to "back the attack" by purchasing war bonds, had exceeded their quota of $746,348,000 by more than $141,000,000, figures compiled with the close of business Wednesday showed, the war finance committee of the treasury reported yesterday.

Thruout the state individual purchases thru Oct. 4 were $240,000,000, or 73 per cent of the quota, and corporation purchases were $835,000,000, or 141 per cent.

Illinois E bond sales thru Oct. 4 were $87,000,000, or 44 per cent of the $195,000,000 quota, while national sales of E bonds totaled $1,532,000,000, or 51 per cent of the national quota.

U. S. SETS BOGUS CHECK TRIAL FOR HEIRESS' FRIEND

Federal Judge William J. Campbell yesterday set Nov. 16 for the trial of Pvt. Charles L. F. McIntosh on charges of cashing bogus checks thruout the country. Earlier in the day McIntosh appeared before Judge William V. Daly in Felony court, where similar charges were dismissed when the court was told he had made good the checks. McIntosh is accused of cashing a number of worthless checks while traveling with Mrs. Alice de Tarnowsky, Barrington heiress. McIntosh's attorneys were given until Oct. 28 to file motions to quash the federal charge.

Soldier Leaves Father's Bier; Finds Mother Dead

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 7 [Special].—After attending the funeral of his father in Chicago, Oct. 2, Capt. Clinton C. Mills came to Ann Arbor yesterday to visit his mother, Mrs. Mary Agnes Mills, and found her dead at her home. Capt. Mills, who is with the army medical corps at Camp Bowie, Tex., on his arrival, was unable to get into his mother's home, altho a light could be seen burning inside the house. Neighbors said that the light had been burning all day. Capt. Mills made his way into the house and found his mother dead in bed. She is believed to have died Tuesday night.

REVEAL CLASH OF ALLIED POST-WAR DEMANDS

Take Firm Stand on Foreign Policy.

office and military experts. The United States will be the third party to the allied conference.

"Russians Dissatisfied."

Winterton said the differences between the soviet union and Britain are both military and political. The Russians, he wrote, are "more dissatisfied than ever" over the failure to establish a large scale land front in France and are convinced this is due to the British desire to "fight this war cheaply." The Mediterranean victories do not impress the Russian people and even Benito Mussolini's downfall aroused no excitement, Winterton reported.

"Politically," said Winterton, "the fundamental cause of the distrust and differences present and potential between Russia and Britain lies in the wholly different approach of the two countries to the question of what sort of Europe we are going to have after the war."

Disagree on Aims.

Russia, he asserted, sees security in Europe best achieved if the people of the various countries take control of their respective governments, whereas the trend of British policy "appears to be to restore 'sound,' conservative elements to power thruout Europe." This was disclosed notably, Winterton added, by the British government's action in "throwing a cloak of hospitality" over the Polish emigres in London. He charged that the Polish government in London was openly plotting against the soviet union and described it as a "menace to Anglo-soviet coöperation."

"We Back Reactionary."

The Russians, he said, are also highly suspicious of British policy in the Balkans and Italy.

"In Jugo-Slavia," Winterton said, "we are backing a young king and a reactionary general. In Greece we are planning to restore a monarch who is not wanted by a large section of the population and least of all by the Greek troops fighting with us."

'WHAT WE HAVE WE HOLD'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Home Secretary Herbert Morrison's speech before the Anglo-American Press association yesterday was described today by the Daily Mail as a reaffirmation of Prime Minister Churchill's "simple thesis of 'what we have we hold.'"

Morrison, in his speech, assured the United States also of Britain's determination to help defeat Japan after Germany is beaten. He said he agreed with Navy Secretary Frank Knox that the Pacific war holds second place in the minds of the British.

The Daily Mail voiced support for Morrison's advocacy of a "better, fuller, and more prosperous existence for the people of the British colonial empire." The newspaper said it was essential also that Morrison's remarks be given fullest publicity, especially in the United States, adding: "We want no misunderstanding as to where we stand."

Goes Step Further.

Morrison, said the Daily Mail, not only reiterated but elaborated on Churchill's thesis and developed "the more important theme of what we hold we develop." The newspaper conceded that Britain needs a large and increasing export trade if her economic stability is to be regained and urged that "a very big scheme of emigration—bigger than anything yet contemplated—should be one of Britain's first concerns when the war is over."

Another newspaper, the News Chronicle, said that Britain, apart from her pledges to America, has two strong incentives to full coöperation in the Pacific war. The paper said the world's future depends on the continuance of the closest relationship between the United States and Britain in association with Russia and China, and "Japan's insane ambitions constitute a more deadly threat to British interests than they could ever be to America."

The Daily Telegraph approved Morrison's renewal of the British pledge to defeat Japan as "timely," adding that already "Japan stands on the defensive against allied power which so far surpasses hers in all three elements."

SHIFT FAMINE BLAME

BY DAVID ANDERSON.

[New York Times Correspondent.]

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The average man and woman in Britain is shocked by reports from Bengal of famine conditions in India. The state of affairs would be bad enough if mounting deaths due to starvation could be attributed to an "act of God," it is said, but this time the crisis is clearly man-made and it is no exaggeration to say that the British hold themselves responsible.

[The mayor of Calcutta, Syed Badruddozza, asked the mayors of New York and London today to send food to India's Bengal province, where, he said, "people are dying in thousands" of hunger.]

The reason for this is acceptance of the government policy that India is not ready for self-government and it remains for Britain to run India. Arguments presented in parliament to the effect that the Indian provincial administrations were responsible for feeding the people did not set well with the British public. The government is accused of shifting the blame while insisting on control.

For weeks there has been a stream of warm-blooded editorials, letters to and special articles in the press on the subject of the Indian famine.

The impression here is that parliament does not appreciate the tangle of regulations binding central and local governments in India. The spokesmen for Whitehall have not had a happy time of it lately, particularly Leopold S. Amery, secretary of state for India and Burma, whose words, "there is real ground for anxiety," brought forth from his fellow countrymen caustic comment "and real ground for protest, too."

The influential Conservative Yorkshire Post believes that "no plans for political reconstruction in India after the war will bring full benefit to the country unless the living standards are substantially raised."

Drastic Action Required.

Equally serious and constructive in its approach to the famine question is the Laborite Daily Herald, which wrote: "What is required above all is drastic and imaginative action by the British government to meet this crisis and prevent its recurrence—united action if need be by the governments of the British commonwealth of nations."

Boiled down to simplest terms, the editorials all echo the popular belief that the British people cannot escape the responsibility to history for what may happen.

NEW DEAL WASTE OF PAPER SEEN AS 'CRIMINAL'

Costly Publications Are Shown at Inquiry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—A warning by a war production board official that "further drastic cuts" in newsprint use are inevitable brought a demand from members of congress today that the government take immediate action to boost paper production and slash its own use of paper.

Rep. Charles A. Wolverton [R., N. J.] charged at a house subcommittee hearing on newsprint supplies that the government's huge use of paper, while private publications are being curtailed, is "nothing short of criminal."

Sees Shortage of Pulpwood.

Altho WPB recognized the seriousness of the newsprint shortage more than a year ago, it has not adopted any effective program to increase production, he asserted.

Wolverton's remarks were made in questioning Harold Boeschenstein, WPB director of production controls, who told the subcommittee the reductions are unavoidable.

Boeschenstein said the use of pulpwood, from which paper is made, must be cut 25 per cent in 1944 or production must be boosted by an equivalent amount.

The WPB official then outlined a program which he said was designed to increase paper output. It included a request to the war man power commission to stop the drain of cutters from the woods, greater use of farmers and war prisoners for wood cutting, and an expanded waste paper salvage campaign.

Printed in Large Type.

"I've been hearing about all these things for months," Wolverton retorted, "but I can't find that anything actually has been done."

Wolverton asked the committee and Boeschenstein to examine a number of thick, color illustrated government propaganda publications which he submitted and decide for themselves how essential they are.

Two of the publications were large picture magazines printed in Spanish and put out by the coördinator of inter-American affairs, Nelson Rockefeller, for Latin America.

One of them, La Marchia Hacia La Libertad [The March Toward Liberty] was a 60 page publication which led off with full page pictures of President Roosevelt and Vice President Wallace. All reading matter was in 24 point type [one-third inch high] with 17 lines of print on a 14 inch page, and margins two inches wide.

"This is not for children, as the size of the type might indicate," Wolverton commented. He also submitted a copy of a government book weighing 1¾ pounds entitled "Selective Service in War Time," which, he said, was merely a review of past history.

Boeschenstein examined the publications but made no comment.

Rep. Lyle H. Boren [D., Okla.], subcommittee chairman, said government agencies are making arbitrary decisions as to what products are essential and ignoring the wishes of congress.

HOUSE PUTS OFF BILL TO REVAMP DRAFT SYSTEM

Pares Senate's Boost of Allotments.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—The house military affairs committee today put off until next week consideration of the senate bill which would attempt to reduce the number of occupational and physical deferments in the draft, thereby cutting down the number of fathers to be inducted into the army and navy.

At the same time the house committee reported out a bill carrying a compromise schedule of allotments for wives and children of service men, and indicating that it will strike out of the senate's draft bill the provisions for an increase of upwards of 100 per cent in dependency pay.

The house allotments are higher than those approved by the senate in a bill passed last July, but lower than the rates adopted in yesterday's session of the senate during which the proposal by Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] to postpone the fathers draft was defeated.

Exceeds Present Rates.

Under the house compromise, payments for a wife and one child would be $75 a month, a wife and two children $95, and $15 a month for each additional child. The senate proposal passed yesterday would have provided $80 a month for wife and one child, $100 for wife and two children, and $20 a month for each additional child. The present law gives a wife and one child $62, a wife and two children $72, and $10 for each additional child.

The house action was contained in a rewriting of the senate bill passed last July, and it is foregone conclusion this action will result in eliminating the allotment scale set up in the senate fathers draft bill passed yesterday.

Fathers Draft Bill Still Opposed.

Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.], chairman of the house committee, said the rates approved by his committee today will increase the cost of dependency pay about $650,000,000 a year, but said the cost is necessary if fathers are to be drafted.

"It is the price we must pay for doing wrong," he said. "I am still opposed to taking fathers."

Rep. John J. Sparkman [D., Ala.], who helped devise the new rates, said, "This bill recognizes that if they are going to take fathers, this is the price we must pay."

Retained by the house committee was the feature in the July senate bill which will require the government to pay the entire amount of a service man's family allotment for the first month. At present a delay is being experienced while the service man earns his first month's pay so he can contribute his required $22 share of the allotment. The bill also increases payments to dependent brothers, parents, and sisters.

Uncertain Over Dads' Draft.

No one today was willing to comment on the probable fate of the senate fathers draft bill in the house. Whether an attempt will be made in committee or on the floor to re-insert the proposition that to delay the fathers draft until man power tangles are straightened, is not known.

The drafting of fathers is scheduled to begin officially this month, altho many draft boards are holding off as long as possible.

FINANCIER FREED IN PURCHASE OF STOLEN BICYCLE

Alfred F. Frieder, 51 years old, owner of the Astra hotel, 5326 Winthrop avenue, and vice president and treasurer of the First United Finance corporation, 9 West Washington street, yesterday was exonerated in Town Hall court by Judge John McSweeney of a charge involving his purchase of a stolen bicycle for $22.

Testimony showed that Frieder, without knowing that the bicycle was stolen, had bought it from Michael Dizzilura, 16, of 1250 Montrose avenue, who represented to Frieder that he needed exactly $22.50 for an especially urgent purpose.

The bicycle had been stolen from Lawrence Johnson, 17, of 1453 Foster avenue, a Senn High school student. Judge McSweeney dismissed the charge, counseling Frieder to be more careful in the future.

EX-JUDGE FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN HAMMOND HOME

John F. Cody, 60 years old, former judge of the Lake county [Ind.] Superior court, was found shot to death yesterday in the basement of his home at 38 Highland street, Hammond. A pistol lay near the body.

His wife, Nell, whom he married last July, said he had been despondent over his inability to recover fully from an attack of pneumonia he suffered recently.

Judge Cody was defeated for the Democratic nomination last year after he had served two terms on the bench.

CANADIANS AID POLES.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 7.—The Canadian Red Cross will dispatch relief supplies to Poland, L. R. Lafleche, minister of war services, said today. This will be in the form of clothing for Polish prisoners of war in Germany, and vitamins and medical supplies for Polish children and nursing mothers.

Cruel to Her

Eleanore Page Hamilton.

Eleanore Page Hamilton, 33 years old, a copy writer who lives at 180 East Delaware place, obtained a divorce in Superior court yesterday from Stuart, 35, an advertising man, when she told Judge Joseph Sabath that he had been cruel to her. She was awarded custody of their son, Bruce, 7. An out of court financial settlement was made. Mrs. Hamilton, under questioning by her attorney, Benjamin B. Davis, said that on one occasion Hamilton picked up a bed while she was lying on it and smashed it, the mattress, and her against a wall.

ORDERS ARREST OF PORTER'S AID IN HOTEL FRAUD

Judge William V. Daly in Felony court issued a warrant for the arrest of Robert McDonald, secretary to Washington Porter II., art collector, yesterday when McDonald failed to appear to answer a charge of defrauding a Chicago hotel.

Atty. Francis J. Callahan pleaded that McDonald had paid the bill and is a sick man. McDonald was injured last May when he plunged from the 14th floor of the First National Bank building to escape arrest on a charge of defrauding a Milwaukee, Wis., hotel.

Judge Daly forfeited McDonald's bond and issued the warrant for his arrest

U. S. JOBS SHIELD 4,118 IN ILLINOIS FROM WAR DUTY

Young Group Deferred as Boards Call Fathers.

Illinois selective service boards have deferred from army duty 4,118 men between the ages of 18 and 37 because they are employed by the federal government, it was brought out yesterday in Washington, as Chicago draft boards dipped into lists of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers to fill late October and November draft calls.

Divided Among Bureaus.

Of the Illinois total, 1,826 are employed by the war department, 789 by the navy, 251 by the maritime commission, 227 by the war shipping administration, 181 by the department of justice, and the remainder by other agencies, the report said.

Many of the 4,118 are 25 to 29 years old, with 1,440 in this bracket; 412 are between 18 and 21; 609 are 22 to 24, and 564 are 35 to 37 years old.

The deferments are made by local boards, a Chicago spokesman for state draft headquarters said. Any changes will be made by local boards, which might consider requests from federal agencies. The spokesman said he did not know of any move to release deferments on these groups as a whole.

Call Ordnance Workers.

A Chicago ordnance district spokesman said 403 ordnance workers in Illinois are eligible for the draft. They are to be released at the rate of about 80 a month in the next five months, he said. Schedules already have been made to release 224, the spokesman said, adding that no deferments have been asked for these men.

A survey of local draft boards No. 60 to No. 79, inclusive, indicated that the induction of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers will not be on a big scale in October.

In November, it was indicated, many fathers will be called. Several boards reported that they now are processing the cards of large groups of fathers who will be called in November.

GRANDSON OF FORD TO RECEIVE AWARD IN CHICAGO TODAY

Henry Ford II., grandson of Henry Ford, will speak at a luncheon of the Chicago Executives club this noon in Hotel Sherman. He will receive from the club, on behalf of his grandfather, a citation praising the elder Ford as "a devoted disciple of the American system of free enterprise, under whose nuturing spirit his genius grew."

Ford will be accompanied from Detroit by Harvey Campbell, executive vice president of the Detroit Board of Commerce.

This morning Gov. Dwight H. Green, Brig. Gen. Chester R. Davis, commanding officer of the first brigade, Illinois Reserve Militia, and executives of the club will accompany Ford on a tour of the company's plant in Hegewisch.

DEMANDS 'REAL' PROBE OF PEARL HARBOR ATTACK

Rep. Mansfield Calls for the True Facts.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7 (AP).—Calling for a "real investigation" of the Pearl Harbor attack at the first opportune moment, Rep. Mike Mansfield [D., Mont.] today told the house he intended to see to it the "whole shame-ridden tale" was told.

The nation, he maintained, was disturbed at the possibility of the Pearl Harbor incident being hushed up following announcement by the war and navy departments last week that Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmell and Maj. Gen. Walter Short, in charge of the Hawaiian defenses at the time, had waived the statute of limitations which would have barred their court martial if not arraigned before Dec. 7, 1943.

The cause of the disaster, Mansfield declared, goes "much deeper" than fixing the blame exclusively on Kimmel and Short.

"A real investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster and the needless loss of lives caused by this tragedy will have to, and must, take place at the first appropriate opportunity," he demanded.

"This sacrifice," he continued, "must be paid for not only in the ultimate and complete defeat of Japan but also in the punishing of those responsible for the Hawaiian disaster, whether the fault lies in Honolulu or Washington."

Maintaining the story was one which America was entitled to know, the Montanan said the humiliating unconditional surrender of American forces at Wake, and in the Philippines, could be laid, at least in part, to the Pearl Harbor incident.

PARATROOPER TELLS OF THRILLS ON DARK MISSION

He Stole an Enemy Jeep, but Then---!

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE 2D ARMY IN TENNESSEE, Oct. 7.—"It was just like the movies," said Sgt. Thomas Blakey, paratrooper from Houston, Tex., today, "except it didn't end very happily. There were 16 of us and 15 are, technically, either dead or captured."

"Of course we had a rather risky job," said the sergeant, whose unit is with the "Blue" army in maneuvers. "We were supposed to drop behind the enemy lines Monday night and walk seven miles to a field where the rest of the 1,500 guys were to jump Tuesday night. We carried a lot of stuff to direct the planes to the field.

"Finding the right spot at night is quite a job, you see. First we overshot our objective. Then the pilot got mixed up. At last he said, 'This is it, I hope.' So we all jumped.

Evade a Red Patrol.

"Fifteen of us landed close together. Some had sprained ankles but said they could walk. We never could find our captain.

"A Red patrol heard us and tried to catch us but we hid in a woods and they went by. After three or four miles we came to a railroad track. We had memorized a map and knew this railroad would go past our field. But east or west? We decided to go west. One boy's ankle swelled badly and he dropped out. Two others later had to quit.

"A light flashed a few feet away. The sentry challenged us. 'Put that light out,' I shouted in my most commanding tone, as tho I was irritated with a blunder. The light went out. Two of us jumped on him, disarmed him, made him walk off with us.

Just before dawn, after walking some 25 miles thru almost the entire enemy force, we hunted out a barn that was given as our hideout. We buried our stuff in the hay.

Our intelligence man was worried. About 8 a. m. he went out of the barn and looked around with field glasses. I guess some enemy nearby saw him because in a few minutes they surrounded the barn and took nine of our party away.

"We knew we would be found. So while they were in the other end we slipped down a ladder. Outside was the jeep belonging to the searchers. We jumped in and sped off across the field.

"We thought we were in luck. We rushed around some trees. And ran smack into another patrol. In war we would all have been goners. As it was we gave up as captives, that was all."

HOUSE VOTES TO PAY $39,105 TO EX-BAILIFF FOR 1923 LIQUOR LOSS

A bill to pay $39,105 to Harry S. Tansey, former Municipal court bailiff, in full settlement of a claim for tax-paid liquor destroyed by federal prohibition agents in 1923, was passed by the national house and sent to the senate, the Associated Press said yesterday in a dispatch from Washington, D. C. Tansey's claim for $49,105 was rejected by the house of the 77th congress.

Tansey charged the agents unlawfully destroyed 1,722 cases of choice spirits which he had received from the old Grommes & Ullrich corporation, whisky dealers, in return for his investment in the corporation. Thousands of cases of liquor were returned to other stockholders in the same year.

Ten stockholders, including Tansey, were acquitted by a federal court jury in 1923 on charges of conspiring to violate the prohibition laws.

HELD ON ARSON CHARGES.

Richard Rhubell, 27 years old, accused of setting fires in the basements of five south side flat buildings, was ordered held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge William V. Daly in Felony court on three charges of arson.

3 ILLINOIS YANKS RECEIVE MEDALS IN S. W. PACIFIC

ALLIED HDQ. IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Oct. 7 (AP).—Three more Illinois men, two of them air corps men and one an infantry officer, have been decorated in this theater of the war. Among them was one Chicagoan.

Maj. Millard Gray, 29 years old, of Alton, was awarded the distinguished service cross by Lt. Gen. Robert Eichelberger for heroic action in leading a rifle company against strong Jap positions south of Buna, New Guinea, from Dec. 25, 1942, to Jan. 1, 1943. The citation said that Gray, then a captain, made personal reconaissances at great risk, reorganized a company and led it in a successful attack. Gray is a University of Illinois graduate. His wife and child live in Indianapolis, Ind.

First Lieutenants Bernard A. Makowski, 3245 Lemoyne street, Chicago, and Benjamin M. Boyd of Taylorville, were awarded oak leaf clusters in lieu of additional air medals by Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of allied air forces in this theater. Makowski, a pursuit plane pilot, took part in 25 operational flight missions. Boyd, a member of a transport plane crew, participated in the same number of flights.

ASSAILS HOUSE FOR PERMITTING REGIMENTATION

Scores Acquiescence in New Deal Schemes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—Rep. Calvin D Johnson [R., Ill.] today rebuked his fellow members in the house — Republicans and Democrats — for "sitting supinely by" while New Deal officials continue to regiment the people and add billions to their financial burdens.

Rep. Calvin Johnson.

"I am of the opinion," said Johnson in a house speech, "that the record will show there has never been a time in the history of the world when a free legislative body such as this congress has sat supinely by and watched, while the people it represents were being taken for the damnedest financial sled ride the world has ever known."

Disappointed in Leaders.

Johnson, whose home is in Belleville, Ill., in the 22d Illinois congressional district, is serving his first term in the house. He formerly was a member of the Illinois legislature. His ancestors, who landed at Jamestown, Va., in 1635, followed pioneer trails westward thru Kentucky to St. Clair county, Ill.

Johnson told the chamber he was frankly "disappointed in the lack of initiative on the part of leaders of both parties." He asserted the house is controled by its various committees, which in turn are run by older members, and called upon these members to "assert their leadership in the interest of the American public and grant to this congress the right to stop regimentation."

"Order of Empty Satchel."

"While this congress idles," he continued, "our capitol has become the international headquarters of the 'order of the empty satchel' where delegates assemble in answer to the urging of starry eyed 'globats' who course the world, making lush and ridiculous promises of American goods and American money, while here at home our people are forced to give up and pay for hundreds of essentials such as farm machinery, food, gasoline, clothing, and even crude rubber, that these articles may be given to noncombatant nations where people are not now, and in my opinion never will be, engaged in participation of all out war. 'All out' is correct, inasmuch as they all keep out financially as much as possible."

CHURCH SOCIETY WILL SUPERVISE FOUR IN GANGS

Four young men, members of two rival west side gangs which have been battling among themselves for several months, were placed under the supervision of the Holy Name society yesterday by Judge N. J. Bonelli in Boys court. The four were in court on disorderly conduct charges which were continued until April 14, pending the outcome of the armistice.

The fighting, which caused several pupils to refuse to attend school because they feared they would be caught and beaten by a group of their rivals, was ended last week at a meeting arranged by police and court officials who made the gang members agree to an armistice.

In court were Andrew Britica, 17 years old, 1217 South Sawyer avenue, charged with reckless driving and disorderly conduct; Anthony Bruno, 16, of 1105 South Whipple street; Dominick Dinardo, 16, of 2857 Polk street, and Carmen Tufano, 21, of 1122 South Albany avenue, all arraigned on a disorderly conduct charge.

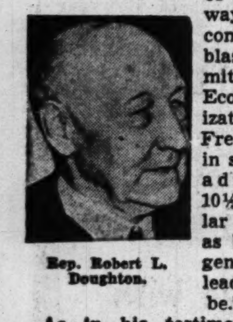
DOUGHTON RIPS NEW TAX PLAN AS MISLEADING

Vinson Evasive on Details at House Hearing.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] of the house ways and means committee today blasted data submitted to it by Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson in support of the administration's 10½ billion dollar tax program as being "as ingenious and misleading as it can be."



Rep. Robert L. Doughton.

As in his testimony yesterday when members brought out evidence which, they declared, proved the tax program to be political in almost its entirety, Vinson carefully avoided giving a direct answer to members' questions. In many instances he evaded the questions entirely and launched into long discussions of insignificant details of the tax program.

Today's testimony, according to members of the committee, tended further to corroborate the charges of Rep. Harold Knutson [R., Minn.] that the administration's effort appeared to be directed less toward trying to control inflation and more toward trying to control "events in the offing"—a fourth term for President Roosevelt.

Claims Challenged.

Rep. Wesley E. Disney [D., Okla.] joined Knutson in asking Vinson how the administration expects to ward off inflation it claims is overshadowing our national economy "when you impose only one-fourth of the increased tax burden on those persons [in the lower tax brackets] receiving two-thirds of the national income."

After considerable hedging, Vinson replied:

"As long as we have exemptions at $1,100, we recognize that that group [persons earning less than $3,000] should not bear an appreciable burden of the tax."

"The fact remains," Knutson said, "this group receives two-thirds of the national income. Then, if you are going to pass only one-fourth of the increase on to them, what are you going to contribute to the fight against inflation?"

Question of "Having."

Vinson replied that "it is a question of a man having or not having dollars with which to buy the necessities of life. We are not much concerned with persons making from $1,000 to $2,000 having any excess purchasing power."

"I don't have to remind you the higher you go up in the income brackets, the less is the pressure toward inflation," Knutson said.

"The queston is, how much of the income of these persons in the higher brackets is immobilized?" Vinson replied.

The questioning brought out that some 26 million taxpayers, or more than 53 per cent of the votes cast in the 1940 Presidential election, would be freed of all tax liability under the administration's program or would be refunded their entire tax liability after the war.

Calls Data Misleading.

Chairman Doughton made his charges that data supplied by Vinson was "ingenious and misleading" while referring to a table outlining the taxes persons would pay and the post-war credit that would be extended them after the war under the administration's program.

"This table does not show the true picture at all," Doughton said. "It doesn't show the state and local taxes the taxpayer must pay. It doesn't show at all the rise in the cost of living. You know, it takes cold cash to pay taxes.

"To get 100 per cent [in post-war tax refunds] you've got to do something no taxpayer is in a hurry about doing—that is to die. [The administration's plan would provide a 100 per cent refund to taxpayers who applied their refund on a paid up government life insurance policy. Those wanting cash would get only 75 per cent refunded.]

"Taxpayers on top of this have to pay state and local taxes. On top of that you have a doubling of social security taxes this year. This table is just as ingenious and misleading as any table can be," Doughton asserted.

By-passing the Danger.

Knutson emphasized time and again that the committee was not advocating heavier taxes on the low income groups but merely was attempting to learn how the administration proposed to halt inflation with its tax plan by completely bypassing the source of the largest spending—the source of inflation danger if any existed.

"No, I'm not as concerned over the threat of inflation as the gentleman [Vinson]. The gentleman is very, very astute in the construction of boogeymen," Knutson said during the proceedings.

Rep. Charles Dewey [R., Ill.] reiterated the demands that he had made of Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau that the administration practice some economy in its operation of the government before demanding more taxes.

"If we are going to have jobs and give jobs to these returning soldiers, we've got to have economy and not have the orange squeezed too dry," Dewey asserted in his attack against levying any additional income taxes.

He cited the economies effected by Republicans in government operation after the last war and the reduction in taxes that followed as an example of what could be done if the administration set its heart to the task.

Tending further to confirm the political implications of the administration's tax program was the noted shift in emphasis by Vinson and Morgenthau to the premise that the higher taxes are required to combat inflation rather than help pay the cost of the war. Many saw in the action a frank admission that the administration has failed to hold the line with its ceilings on wages and commodities.

These observers noted that in 1942 when the administration went to congress seeking higher taxes, emphasis was placed on demands that taxes be increased sufficiently to pay two-thirds of the war costs. The war costs were placed at some 40 billions and total government expenses around 70 billions for the 1943 fiscal year. National income was expected to run slightly over 100 billion dollars.

War Costs Ignored.

Now with war costs boosted to over 100 billion for 1944 and national income up to 157 billion, the administration talks of stopping inflation and little or nothing is heard of the president's desires for sufficient taxes and revenues to pay some of the war costs as we go along.

Observers claim that the administration, which bitterly opposed pay-as-you-go taxes, now takes pay-as-you-go for granted and suggests sharp increases in withholdings.

"Let's get the money while the taxpayer has it," Vinson declared in yesterday's hearing. That, claim some observers, is all the administration has in mind.

ORDER STORAGE EGGS SOLD FOR CIVILIAN USES

E. O. Pollack, regional director of the food distribution administration, yesterday issued an order freeing all shell eggs now in storage for diversion into civilian commercial channels.

Removal of the restriction will make eggs available for the normally heavy marketing season of October and November. The decision to take that step was reached at a meeting between agents of the quartermaster general and various procurement agencies.

NAZI GOLD SALE $1,000,000 JOKE, SAYS 'PLOTTER'

Inspired by His Curiosity, Defendant Testifies.

Elbridge Gerry Bates, 42 years old, an electrical supplies salesman, told a jury of six men and six women before Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday that the so-called plot to sell gold bullion to Nazi Germany was imaginary, inspired by his curiosity concerning a supposed mining engineer who had millions of dollars worth of the metal for sale.

Bates, who resides in Glen Ellyn, was the first of three defendants to take the stand to answer the government's charges that they conspired to acquire the bullion in violation of the trading with the enemy act. The two other defendants are Kurt Erich Schimkus, 37, of 14139 South Western avenue, Blue Island, a research chemist, and Frank S. Smith, 51, owner of the Perfection Furniture company, 2267 Clybourn avenue.

Deal for Sale Admitted.

Questioned by his attorney, Mal Coghlan, Bates told of his meetings with Harry A. Schaetzel, a government secret service agent who posed as Harry Dexheimer, a wealthy mining engineer, at which a deal was made for Schaetzel to sell bullion to a contact man for $35 an ounce.

Bates testified Schaetzel was to receive $22 an ounce for "his boss" and the remainder of each $35 was to be split among himself, Schaetzel, and Myron Landau, who introduced Bates to Schaetzel.

After constant prodding by Schaetzel, Bates said he named as contact man a stranger, Carl Kobelt, at one time district manager of the Chicago office of the North German Lloyd Steamship company, whose name he saw on the glass window of the company's former offices on Randolph street near La Salle street.

$700,000 Sale Arranged.

Bates said altho he never met Kobelt, he told Schaetzel that he had made the contact and that they were to go to New York, where the deal was to be completed. Schaetzel was to have 20,000 to 30,000 ounces of gold bullion—$700,000 to $1,050,000 worth at the agreed price—transported to New York in three automobiles guarded by machine guns.

In New York, Bates testified, he went alone to see Max Burns, a jeweler and coin dealer. Burns, however, refused to buy anything but $20 gold pieces because he had no license to buy gold in large quantities.

Bates said he was called to task by Schaetzel for not having telephoned him for several hours. He then stalled, he said, by telling Schaetzel he had been sitting in a waterfront warehouse waiting for the money to buy the bullion. He said that the money was supposed to be brought to the warehouse after being taken from a submarine far out in the ocean.

Whole Story a "Creation."

Bates, in answer to a direct question by Coghlan, said that there actually was no submarine nor any money but that the entire story was "a creation of my own mind." He is to resume his story from the witness stand at today's hearing.

Judge Barnes denied a defense motion for a directed verdict of not guilty after attorneys charged that the government used entrapment methods in building their case against the men. The court held the matter was one for the jury to decide.

ARMED DEPUTIES BALK SEATING OF NEW SHERIFF

New Orleans, La., Oct. 7 [Special]. Deputized citizens of Plaquemines parish guarded their courthouse with arms today to prevent Gov. Sam Jones from seating his appointed sheriff, Walter J. Blaize, with the use of state guardsmen.

Blaize was appointed by Jones four months ago to succeed the late Sheriff L. D. Dauterive of Plaquemines. The action was opposed by the political faction of District Atty. Leander H. Perez, which contended that the successor should be named in an election. The state Supreme court upheld the appointment.

REDS GAIN LIFE AND DEATH GRIP ON U. S. SHIPPING

Seamen Flout Orders of Their Officers.

activities by bringing in organizers from the eastern states.

These revelations first were made to THE TRIBUNE by Leo F. Ganey, a member of the NMU who recently resigned after two and one-half years in the merchant service. Ganey was a "delegate" or crew representative of the union aboard ship and as such came to know the inner workings of the Communist-NMU alliance before he left the service, apprehensive over its possible disastrous results, to expose the party-union tieup. Ganey joined the United States navy yesterday.

"If the Communists and the NMU are allowed to put into effect their carefully laid plans, the United States not only will have fought this war for nothing but will be at the mercy of soviet Russia," he charged. "No danger that I may incur in helping to expose them is comparable to the danger to this country if they are allowed to succeed.

Close Friend of Bridges.

"Joe Curran, who so far has escaped military service by draft deferments, is head of the Greater New York CIO council and a close friend of Harry Bridges, an admitted Communist who controls all shiploading on the west coast. Curran has forced most of the cost of Bridges' defense in deportation proceedings on members of the NMU. The seamen are forced to give up at least $1 each. These 'contributions' to date, according to the NMU, total $25,000.

"Further proof of Curran's Communist sympathies—if, indeed, he is not actually a member of the party—lies in his talks at NMU meetings, at which he has demanded that all NMU members read Communist literature, hold Communist discussion meetings aboard ship and take orders from NMU shipboard leaders instead of their ship's officers. I have heard Curran talk this way at meetings, and of the dozens of minor union officials that I have met at sea, there was not one who did not boast openly that he was a full-fledged member of the party.

Party Claims on NMU.

"The Communist party is even more open in its claims on the NMU. In the most recent issue of the Port Light, which says it is published by the 'Seaman's Branch of the Communist Party,' that group not only extended its official greetings to the recent NMU convention in New York but bragged that within four months 200 NMU members had joined the Communist party. Of the 4,629 seamen listed as dead or missing in the war, it said 'many' were party members."

SEIZE TWO GIRLS ON CHARGES OF ARMED ROBBERY

Centralia, Ill., Oct. 7 (AP).—Two girls were arrested here today on charges of armed robbery and a third person was sought in connection with a holdup last night in which a Salem, Ill., business man reported he was robbed of $800.

Sheriff Homer Lewellen said the girls were Viola Henderson, 18 years old, of Otisco, Ind., and Dorothy Shaffer, 17, Marionville, Mo. One of them was armed, he added, and their purses contained $700 when they were seized while making purchases in a jewelry store.

The name of the holdup victim was not disclosed.

Contract Provides Mystery Angle.

Under terms of the contract between the National Maritime union and 123 shipping lines operating thousands of American flag vessels, dated Oct. 1, 1943, merchant seamen are given wages that net them a minimum of $300 a month. The contract specifies the following rates:

Basic monthly wage from $77.50 for deck boy to $147.50 for steward.

Plus 100 per cent of basic wage as a war bonus.

Overtime for Special Duty.

Plus $5 per day in Mediterranean and other war areas, averaging $100 per trip.

Plus 85 cents an hour for all overtime at sea, or special duty during watches.

Plus 85 cents an hour for all work between Saturday noon and Monday morning in port.

Plus 15 per cent of basic wage when ship carries explosives.

Plus $2.50 per hour, in addition to all other pay, for loading or unloading explosives. [Members of the army, navy, and marines do this as part of their regular duties.]

Mystery Clause in Contract.

Plus $12.50 per month on ships calling at Dominican Republic ports. [This is one of the mystery clauses of the contract.]

Plus 70 cents an hour for cleaning cargo holds and tanks during regular working hours.

Plus three full meals daily, lunches at night, lodging, free medical and dental care, two weeks' vacation with pay per year, and $5,000 life insurance without cost.

Enlisted men in the army, navy, and marine corps, doing comparable work at sea or abroad, get $50 to $138 per month, plus 20 per cent for sea or overseas duty. They get no other allowances, even for extra-hazardous jobs, and $3.20 per month is deducted from their pay if they carry $5,000 of government life insurance. The average pay of a gun crew aboard ship, including sea duty bonus, is about $85 per month.

Pedestrian Slashed When He Ignores Panhandler

Gilbert Young, 30 years old, 817 Monroe street, who recently received a medical discharge from the army, was stabbed in the stomach yesterday at 14th and Halsted streets by a middle aged man who had asked him for "a dime for a cup of coffee." When Young ignored the demand, the beggar slashed at him with a knife. Young was taken to County hospital.

IOWA GOVERNOR ASSAILS 'ALIENS' IN GOVERNMENT

Former Envoy Strikes at Super-Planners.

Super-planners and "aliens" in government were castigated yesterday by Gov. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa and J. Reuben Clark Jr., first counselor of the Mormon church, first vice president of the Beneficial Life Insurance company, Salt Lake City, and former ambassador to Mexico. They spoke at the American Life Convention annual meeting in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

"A burocratic system was authorized by congress as an emergency measure, but indications are that those who operate the system intend that it shall become permanent," Gov. Hickenlooper declared.

Cites Prodigal Spending.

"We have been beset," the Iowa governor said, "by theorists and planners. We have been controled by those who, while unable to successfully compete in the production of wealth necessary for comfort and progress, nevertheless have been prodigal in its dissipation. The confusion in governmental internal affairs is a direct result of a lack of experienced direction."

Gov. Hickenlooper urged that local communities assume the responsibility for reabsorbing members of the military forces and war workers into a peace time economy when the war ends. Local business and enterprise, with the aid of local government, can do this job satisfactorily if it begins preparation now, he declared.

Condemned as Tyranny.

The "legislative-like" directives issued by the executive branch of government, with the additional assumption of power to try, condemn and pronounce judgement for violations, was declared by Clark to be "tyranny in its most complete form, however beneficient it may happen temporarily to be in fact."

"Ever since the end of the first World war an ever-increasing un-American influence has been exerted among us, boring termite-like into our whole national structure," Clark asserted. "This influence is in leadership largely alien—in birth or in tradition, training and experience, or possessing alien concepts and alien philosophies.

"They are leading us down the road to a communistic state by subjecting us to regimentation, increasing step by step in rigor, complexity and scope, thus destroying our morale."

CALLS G. O. P. STATE COMMITTEE TO BACK GREEN FOR 2D TERM

Indorsement of Gov. Dwight Green for a second term will be on the program when the Republican state central committee meets in Springfield on Oct. 21, it was learned yesterday when Chairman Ben Berve sent out the call.

It is understood that the Green indorsement will be the only one at the meeting. Supporters of Richard J. Lyons for United States senator are contending that it would be a good time to bracket his name with Green's.

County chairwomen and state central committeewomen will meet at the same time, headed by Mrs. Helen Griffin. "Our task is to get out the vote," Mrs. Griffin said. "Organization of the women is the most important factor for victory in 1944 when the female vote will be about 65 per cent of the total."

The Illinois Republican Service Men's league convenes Oct. 23 and 24 and the Young Republicans will gather Nov. 13, also in Springfield.

HORAN FAVORED TO TAKE NASH'S POST IN PARTY

Needs Only Kelly's O. K. to Be County Chief.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Portents yesterday were that Bailiff Albert J. Horan of the Municipal court will succeed the late Patrick A. Nash as chairman of the Democratic central committee of Cook county. It is conceded that Mayor Kelly will have the main say.

Other potential chairmen were being mentioned. Among them are Clerk Joseph L. Gill of the Municipal court, now secretary of the committee; President Clayton F. Smith of the county board; Assessor John S. Clark; Arthur A. Sullivan, former chairman of the state central committee, and County Recorder Edward J. Kaindl.

Kelly's if He Wants It.

Mayor Kelly undoubtedly could have the chairmanship merely by nodding his head. He is not unmindful of his health, tho, and in addition to the heavy duties as mayor he is Democratic national committeeman for Illinois.

Horan obviously has been groomed for the job. He has been No. 3 man in the Kelly-Nash organization as chairman of the executive committee of the central committee, succeeding to that post when Col. J. M. Arvey joined the army in 1941.

Horan has been close to Nash. With Mayor Kelly he waited with relatives as Nash, weighted down by 80 years, fought against pneumonia.

Forgiven for '39 Stand.

Altho in 1939 Horan, who is 29th ward committeeman, aided State's Atty. Thomas J. Courtney in the mayoralty campaign against Kelly, this is not regarded as a serious deterrent now. The Democrats generally believe unity is necessary to stave off the tremendous and increasing Republican strength.

Horan will become 50 years old Dec. 12. He has been chief bailiff for 13 years and before that was 29th ward alderman for 11 years. He is a west side product and lives at 3547 Adams street, within a block of his birthplace. Incidentally, his mother's maiden name was Nash. During World War I. he was an aviator overseas.

Clark and Sullivan are not members of the committee and state law provides that the chairman must be a member. However, it would be a matter of minutes for an elected committeeman to resign so the choice for chairman could be appointed in his stead.

Ross May Rule 28th.

George A. Ross, executive secretary of the committee, was a favorite of Nash. He was the husband of Nash's daughter who died. Most opinion was that he will be named to serve out the remaining months of Nash's term as 28th ward committeeman. He lives in the Nash home at 3234 Washington boulevard.

A busy season of slate picking lies ahead for the 1944 national, state, and county elections. Nash's death is not expected to affect perceptibly the status of Sen. Scott W. Lucas, a downstater given full support after he trimmed the Cook county organization in the 1938 primary. Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, the leading potential candidate for governor, was a protege of Nash and is not so close to Mayor Kelly.

Released from Army, Ends Own Life in Home

Albert Marzullo, 21 years old, was found shot to death yesterday in the home of his mother, Mrs. Esther Marzullo, 900 South Ashland avenue, and police said he had committed suicide. His mother said he had been despondent because he was given a medical discharge from the army after he had served six months in the air corps.

COL. J. J. BABST, CHAPLAIN IN 2 WARS, DIES AT 63

Col. Julius J. Babst, chief of chaplains of the 9th service command with headquarters at Fort Douglas, Utah, and known as Naperville's fighting chaplain during World War I., died Monday in Station hospital, Camp Irwin, Cal., according to word received here yesterday. He was 63 years old and was on an inspection tour when he was stricken with a heart ailment.

Col. Babst was a member of a well known Naperville family. When hostilities broke out on the Mexican border, he joined the regular army as a chaplain. At the outbreak of the first World war, he was made a lieutenant and went overseas with the 2d division in 1917. He served during the battles of Chateau Thierry and the Argonne forest.

For his gallantry in action, he was awarded the distinguished service cross with the oak leaf cluster, the Purple Heart, the silver star, and a French croix de guerre with palm and gold star. Services for Col. Babst will be held at 10:30 a. m. Monday in SS. Peter and Paul church in Naperville.

ONE CHICAGOAN, 59 MORE LISTED AS HELD BY JAPS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—The navy department made public today the names of 60 personnel of the United States naval services held prisoners of war by the Japanese in Japan and the Philippine Islands.

This list brings the total confirmed prisoners of war affecting personnel of the naval services, whose names have been released for publication, less those who have died in prison camps, to 4203. Those from Chicago and area and from states adjacent to Illinois, follow:

CHICAGO NAVAL FLYER MISSING, PARENTS TOLD

C. M. Bransfield.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bransfield, 6911 Euclid avenue, were informed yesterday by the navy department that their son, Lt. [j g.] Charles M. Bransfield, a navy flyer, has been missing in action since Sept. 18. Lt. Bransfield learned to fly while he was an engineering student at Notre Dame university, and enlisted in the navy in the fall of 1939.

Pvt. Henry A. Bartenstein, 30 years old, a former salesman of Wilson and company, meat packers, was killed in action in the North Africa area Sept. 14, the war department has informed his sister, Mrs. Leona Hornstein, 7438 Kingston avenue.

BUSINESS CHIEFS TO SEE EXHIBITS OF NAVAL MIGHT

The interest of the city's business leaders in the "Back the Attack" navy show in Tribune Square will be demonstrated this afternoon when a delegation from the Chicago Association of Commerce arrives for an inspection of the planes, ordnance material and miscellaneous naval gear and equipment which make up the exhibit.

The group will be headed by Holman D. Pettibone and Leverett S. Lyon, the association's president and chief executive officer, respectively. With them will be Harvey G. Ellerd, chairman of the war problems committee, and three committee members—Whipple Jacobs, John C. Peirce, and Harold Byron Smith.

The navy show is sponsored by the treasury department in coöperation with THE TRIBUNE and booths where bonds and stamps may be purchased are provided.

SEEK 4 MILLION FOR USO IN CITY WAR FUND DRIVE

Units Combat Loneliness on Distant Fronts.

Chicagoans' contributions to the National Community and War Fund Campaign of Metropolitan Chicago, can help dispel the occasional loneliness which strikes fighting men at the front, said Clarence B. Randall in a speech last night in the Palmer House.

More than 1,000 loop and neighborhood workers attended the dinner meeting. Randall, vice president of the Inland Steel company, is chairman of the campaign public relations department. The fund is seeking $12,806,424 which will be distributed among 203 local charity and national service organizations. Of the $12,806,424 sought, $4,000,000, Randall said, will go to the United Service organizations.

Aim to Build Morale.

"The USO attacks loneliness of the boys at the front," said Randall. "It is loneliness that destroys morale in the individual soldier, and there is nothing more definite that we can do than to build up soldier morale away from home."

The U. S. O., he said, does countless things designed to help the soldier in his leisure hours. It sponsors personal appearances of famous actors, and he named two, Joe E. Brown and Bob Hope, as extremely popular with the fighting men.

Many Units Overseas.

Randall said that the U. S. O. operates 150 units in overseas areas and 1,800 in the United States. You will find units in training centers, in railway depots, and on wheels, in mobile units, on maneuvers, he added.

"The work of the U. S. O. is growing," said Randall. "It needs lots more money than last year because this is a bigger war, and it must expand in ratio to the increase in our men at the fronts."

CITY WILL CHECK MOTORISTS WHO FAIL ON SAFETY

The city council subcommittee, headed by Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], yesterday directed John Szumnarski, vehicle license commissioner, to make available to the police department a list of all owners taking their cars thru inspection lanes and being refused safety stickers who fail to return in 10 days with the necessary repairs made.

The committee's action was taken after the commissioner had said that approximately 30 per cent of those whose cars are rejected fail to have them repaired and do not return for another inspection. A police campaign against these evaders, he told the committee, would keep many defective automobiles off the city streets.

Also discussed at the meeting was a proposal to make it mandatory for persons purchasing 1944 city vehicle licenses to show proof that their cars had passed thru a safety lane test in the six month period previous to their application for a license.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[This department answers questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries to Sally Joy Brown.]

Mrs. W. L. writes: "I am preparing a package to send to my son, serving with the army overseas. He's only 18, and this will be his first Christmas away from home, so I'm anxious to make the box a nice one. I planned to wrap each item in tissue and desocrate it with ribbon and seals, but have been told that such wrapping is not allowed."

ANSWER: There is nothing in the postal regulations which forbids individual wrapping of gifts in Christmas boxes to service men, but all packages are subject to censorship. Such handling would undoubtedly destroy the effectiveness of decorative wrapping, so I would suggest colorful boxes, decorated with seals, but which could be opened easily for inspection. Oct. 15 is the deadline for Christmas parcels to army men. Complete information on regulations covering such packages may be obtained by sending in a stamped, addressed envelope.

Mrs. A. O. writes: "My husband is in a pre-flight school and is drawing cadet's pay. Could you tell me if that is considered one of the four lowest pay grades, and if I am eligible for benefits offered to the wives of service men of those grades?"

ANSWER: An aviation cadet is not considered as in one of the four lowest pay grades, and his dependents are not eligible for the family allowance, maternity care, etc., prodived for men in the 7th, 6th, 5th, and 4th pay grades.

Mrs. B. H. writes: "Will you please send me two copies of the affidavit forms which are to be used as supporting evidence with applications for family allowances? I have a brother in the navy who wishes to apply for an allowance for my mother."

ANSWER: Affidavits are not necessary for the dependents of navy men. I am forwarding a bulletin which explains the regulations of the various branches of the service with regard to the family allowance. Your brother can make an official application at his post. If the navy department desires further information your mother will be notified and provided with any necessary official blanks.

Mrs. V. H. writes: "My son is a technical sergeant now overseas. He recently wrote that he has made arrangements to have a certain amount taken out of his salary each month and sent to me. He requested that I bank it for him, as he has little need or opportunity to spend the money. Checks have been coming to me from the office of dependency benefits, and I have indorsed and deposited them in my son's savings account. However, an acquaintance of mine insisted that I had no right to accept these checks, even tho I deposit them to his account, and stated that I am liable to fine and a prison sentence, since I am not in financial need."

ANSWER: Your acquaintance is undoubtedly confusing an allowance and an allotment. If your son is a technical sergeant he would not be eligible for a family allowance. If the money in question is deducted entirely from his own salary, it is an allotment, and there is no reason why you may not accept it, since any soldier has the right to dispose of his own salary in any way he wishes. Only when the checks are a family allowance, made up of a contribution from the federal government and one from the service man, is there any question as to your right to accept them.

Ensign Arthur Masley, 25, Navy Flyer, Dies in Crash

Ensign Arthur Masley, 25 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Masley, who live on a farm near Batavia, was killed Tuesday night when his navy plane crashed at sea off Cape Hatteras, North Carolina, they were informed yesterday by the war department. Ensign Masley had just finished his sophomore year at the University of Illinois when he joined the navy in June, 1942. Besides his parents he is survived by two brothers, Capt. John Masley of the army, Lowell, and two sisters, Margaret and Harriet.

8,307 AMERICAN CASUALTIES IN ITALY: STIMSON

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7 (AP).—Secretary of War Stimson reported today that army casualties during the four weeks since bitterly contested landings began at Salerno, Italy, total 8,307, of whom only 511 now are listed as killed in action. He said 5,428 American soldiers have been wounded in the campaign on the Italian mainland, and 2,368 are missing.

"I understand," Stimson said, "that this is somewhat greater than the total casualties suffered by the British components of the 5th army."

At the time of the initial landings in the Bay of Salerno, the secretary said, the 5th army under Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark was composed almost equally of American and British troops, but subsequent reënforcements have been largely American.

[Announcement of these figures brought the American casualty list to approximately 120,000 for the army and navy. Last week the army reported its casualties since Pearl Harbor at 85,039 and the navy at 30,162. The Stimson data on operations since the start of Salerno would bring the army details to killed, 11,193; wounded, 32,094; missing, 26,111; prisoners, 20,541. The navy yesterday announced its total casualties thus far as: Killed, 11,698; wounded, 357; missing, 146; prisoners, 4,203.]

NOW PASS THE BROOKS RESOLUTION.

The administration mustered sufficient strength in the senate to kill Sen. Wheeler's bill delaying the draft of fathers into the army Administration spokesmen offered and pushed over an amended measure.

This bill still is called the Wheeler bill, but has little resemblance to the original measure. It is tantamount to a declaration that the New Deal recognizes it has mishandled national affairs and is determined to do as little about it as possible. It is a face-saver for the Roosevelt stalwarts, born in confusion and promising more of the same.

It took account of the fact that the New Dealers have been sheltering more than half a million young men of draft age in bombproof government jobs by promising that no government or industrial worker would be deferred unless his employer certified that he was indispensable. The New Dealers already have done that for most of their slacker officeholders.

It promised a modest increase in allotments for families of drafted fathers. The monthly stipend is raised from $62 for a wife and one child to $80, and from $72 for a wife and two children to $100.

The congress, by abdicating its powers, failed to do its duty to America. Sen. Brooks has offered a resolution which would establish a senatorial committee to get the facts on man power and such vital issues as conscription and to recommend legislation which will end the muddle. This bill should be passed and passed quickly while there is yet time.

Unless the members of congress can find the courage to obey their oaths of office, the dictatorship which is now engulfing us will become permanent. We need a committee which will study the conduct of the war, have access to the facts, and solve the many problems that the administration refuses to face or lacks the ability to understand.

HOW TO GET MORE GIRLS TO BECOME WACS.

The army is seeking more and more recruits for the women's army corps. WACs are wanted to release soldiers from desk jobs.

A girl who joins the WAC is inducted under the same rules that govern soldiers. She becomes a part of the army and, as a rule, must live in a WAC camp, subject to army discipline, just like a soldier.

The army might have a lot better luck in obtaining enlistments if it would liberalize its regulations for the women's army. It could set up another classification of WACs, subject to the same discipline and the articles of war, but allowed to work in their home towns and live in their own homes if they so desired.

Many of the young women who would otherwise be lining up at recruiting offices hold back because they have dependency problems. Some of them have had to assume the support of parents left behind by drafted soldiers. Others are living with and helping to support wives and children of service men relatives. Still others are, for personal and psychological reasons, closely tied to their homes and their friends.

Girls from small towns and villages remote from any army activity might be required to enlist for the general service so that they could be placed in army posts here and abroad where they are needed. But hundreds of girls who live in the larger cities, where most of the army offices are centered and where the need for WACs is greatest, would be willing to serve if they could still live with and support their dependents and be allowed to remain, off duty, in their own circle of friends.

A WAC is no better stenographer or clerk for living in an army camp and eating army mess. No military man expects her to be ready to grab a gun and dash for a transport to shoot the Japs and the Germans, and there is no need to keep her in constant fighting trim as a soldier is kept in a training camp.

If the rules were so liberalized there is little doubt that the army would be able to fill its quota of WACs in short order. The girls are patriotic and they want to do the job but they are human enough to feel a responsibility to their home obligations as well.

THE CHURCHILL SCOOPS.

President Roosevelt the other day gave newspaper men at his press conference a crumb of real news about the Japanese war. He said that the enemy withdrawal from the central Solomons was a signal defeat for the Japanese and related some facts about Japan's use of barges and Jap casualties.

Prime Minister Churchill, who reports frequently to the English people in speeches before parliament, has, in newspaper parlance, "scooped" President Roosevelt on most of the important news of the war. Mr. Churchill has disclosed at least 10 items such as submarine sinking statistics, the American plan to seize Rome, the details of the escape of Mussolini, and the plans for a meeting between the President, himself, and Josef Stalin of Russia, while American newspaper men who had these stories were prevented from disclosing them by censorship.

It is ridiculous to suppose that Mr. Churchill knew about these happenings before Mr. Roosevelt learned of them. What is more probable is that the President refused to disclose them to the people.

This deliberate attempt to keep the American people in the dark as to what is going on in the war contrasts with Mr. Churchill's willingness to take the English people into his confidence, and it demonstrates several things.

Mr. Churchill feels a stronger sense of responsibility to the people of Great Britain than President Roosevelt does to the people of America. Mr. Roosevelt talks democracy in glowing terms, but he doesn't believe in it. Mr. Churchill tells the Englishmen what is going on because he believes it is their war as well as his own.

Mr. Roosevelt's distrust of the American public was shown from the very first day of the war in the false and deceitful reports that were released of the catastrophe of Pearl Harbor and in the attempt to distort the news and cover up the criminal responsibility for that event in the months that followed. Presidential news of the war has been no more open and honest in the second year of the war and there is no reason to believe that it will improve in the future.

SO WE'RE HAVING ALLY TROUBLE.

Mr. Roosevelt's recent accusation that the newspapers he can't control—including this one—are trying to "spread disunion among the allies" has now been picked up by his pet magazines. They are exploiting it with characteristic venom.

Mr. Roosevelt made this attack because he wanted to divert attention from something that he is trying to hide from the American people. He knows, and his stooges know, that the allies will hang together as long as they are in danger. In particular, he has the power to keep them in line because they are dependent upon America for men, food, and guns. We are in a position to command their loyalty and they have no choice but to obey, because the alternative for all of them and each of them is defeat.

This circumstance should have placed us in an impregnable diplomatic position, but Mr. Roosevelt has surrendered it. Naturally he doesn't want the American people to know what he's done. Naturally, therefore, he is accusing others of causing trouble. Thus he hopes to escape his responsibility.

If Mr. Roosevelt is having difficulty with the allies it is of his own making. He hasn't been on the square with them or with his own people. Consider, for example, the devious record of his Russian relations.

The first thing he did when he took office in 1933 was to woo the Russians. He hastened to grant them recognition. They promised him a lot of things in return, including the discontinuance of their propaganda for revolution in this country, but they didn't keep their word and he no doubt expected they would not. He intended to use the Communists to help him in domestic political matters, and he did so use them. On occasion they carried New York for him. To cement the attachment, he placed hundreds of their men in government offices and threw his support to them in the trade unions. He protected Bridges and Browder. He did all this in spite of the fact that he knew that the Communists were spreading revolutionary discontent in America.

Suddenly all these favors ceased. Browder went to jail. Communists were in the dog house. That wasn't because Mr. Roosevelt had suddenly awakened to the domestic danger he had courted. All that had happened was that, contrary to England's wishes, Mr. Stalin had refused the offer of an English alliance.

That was the unpardonable offense. Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policy has been simplicity itself: Do what England wants and do it quick. Only the other day his secret instruction to Adm. Leahy at the moment of his departure to become ambassador to France in 1940 was made public by the state department. The President wrote:

"The primary interest of the American people, and an interest which overshadows all else at the moment, is to see a British victory."

That was written at the time when we were still at peace with all nations, and when Mr. Roosevelt's pledge to keep American boys out of foreign wars was still ringing in American ears. Mr. Roosevelt had no intention of keeping faith with the American people, and he had already proved that his appearance of friendship for the Russians was a sham.

It would be no wonder if the allies were filled with doubts. They cannot bring themselves to believe that the foreign policy of this country, the greatest in the world, is being formulated with a view not to our own interest but to that of a foreign empire, yet the fact is obvious.

How, for example, can the Chinese explain the rejection of Gen. MacArthur's strategy for a relatively speedy victory over the Japanese except in terms of Anglophile obsession? The determination to throw our strength to Mountbatten for his campaign toward Burma means to the Chinese what it means to every other observer: That our primary concern across the Pacific is to restore to Britain the colonies she misgoverned and lost. Japan sank American ships at Pearl Harbor and has murdered our flyers and raped our women, but we are fighting Japan as if the retaking of Singapore and Hongkong meant more to us than the recapture of Manila and the surrender of Tokio.

To say these things is not to sow dissension among our allies. It is to tell the American people how far their administration in its foreign relations has departed from the line of conduct that our welfare and our interest demand. Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policy is that of the sycophant. We have believed it to be a duty to point out the facts, and we're not going to be dissuaded from doing so by slanderous abuse.

Test Your Horse Sense

By George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 16.

1. Which one of these creatures would most likely plant a tree?
   Buffalo Rabbit Squirrel Beaver.
2. The devil is associated with which one of these foods?
   Cornbread Eggs Chocolate pie Cheese.
3. A ship passing thru the Panama canal from the Pacific toward the Atlantic ocean, would sail in which of these directions?
   Northwest Northeast Southeast Southwest
4. Which one of the following has the highest melting point?
   Copper Silver Steel Gold.
5. Which one of these flying creatures does not lay eggs?
   Butterfly Bat Crow Humming bird.
6. This is a True-False problem, so encircle the letter T in front of the statement if you deem it true, or the F if you consider it false. You deserve one point for each correct judgment.

T F [e] Mulberry fence posts last longer than catalpa posts.

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

NATURE ABOUT TOWN.

The floral borders of war gardens are still bravely in bloom, altho the provender patches within are somewhat ravaged. The fangs of frost have not yet reached them, but the teeth of their owners have been busy.

During the last week more people have been saying, "It's a fine day," than at any time since Pearl Harbor.

Leaves have been reluctant about saying good-by to their favorite twigs. The shedding has been gradual, because of summer's slow start toward full foliage and abundant rainfall thereafter. Still, within a week, Chicago's trees have thinned their garments considerably. Autumn is giving an excellent performance of her strip-tease act.

The night skies have been remarkably clear and the star show magnificent. Mars and Saturn are gleaming in the northeast for midnight spectators, and risers before dawn, who are numerous in war time arrangement of the hours, enjoy fine views of Orion, the most splendid constellation, from southeast windows. The hunter's moon will reveal itself next Wednesday.

Commuters are reporting a fine display of autumn color in the hinterlands, but if you want to stay within the city limits to conserve gas stamps try Columbus park, on the western edge of town. Jens Jensen, its landscape architect, says in his book of memoirs, "Siftings":

"When autumn comes, the glory of the woodlands in their gay coloring is represented here as truthfully and as beautifully as beyond the city; but it is only in this park in a great city of many parks where it is expressed."

It is well, however, not to become transfixed with rapture, and stand and gaze in one spot; a Columbus park golf ball may conk you.

For a novelty in birdlore consider the albino sparrow recently observed by this column. He was a harlequin or piebald type, quite showy in white and gray feathers, and his regimented kindred were not annoying him. The story goes that albinos are exiled from the tribe, but this bird was enjoying life in a flock without molestation.

FLIGHT TO CAPRI.

Dear Capri, lovely island of delight,
For centuries a playground—from the gem
Deep hidden in your heart, the sapphire cave,
To dizzy crown on Anacapri's height!
You welcomed all the world and those who came Loved everything and longed to come again,
But now a nobler destiny is yours
And higher honors rest upon your name—
A haven for the homeless, those who flee
From sure destruction in the war's advance,
Your refuge is a hospitality
Far greater than your tiny isle can see,
For open arms and loving welcome warm
Can lift the spirit to new heights of strength;
God grant that in its peaceful work today
Your island refuge may be safe from harm!

Grandma's Coffee Mill.

Of course your grandmother had a hand operated coffee mill! Was it the wall type or the kind you held on your lap?

Our grandma had the lap type. It served as an alarm clock also. Whole coffee beans churned vigorously in the still morning hours and pleasantly roused you from deep slumber. Lying contentedly in bed and hearing the enthusiastic whirl of the handle, your mind's eye could see whole coffee beans excitedly dancing in its hopper, then gingerly disappearing into the mill. As the beans vanished and exposed the grinding gears, the rattling sound subsided. The small drawer at the bottom of the mill now held freshly ground coffee and broadcast its aroma.

If you happened to doze off again, the tantalizing breakfast smell would teasingly enter your bedroom. Even the laziest boy could not resist and remain bedridden with that aroma of wheatcakes, country sausages, and coffee.

The years have transformed the mill's once golden-oak color to a rich coffee brown. Altho we do not use it now for grinding coffee, we are proud of the old mill. In its hopper grows and blooms a prickly cactus. The drawer holds our favorite deck of winning pinochle cards.

NATURE'S TROUBADOURS.

The minstrels' songs are nearly done,
Their fiddles silenced, one by one;
So ancient is their minstrelsy
They hold our fields and woods in fee.
Troubadours to the ground so near
Earth's songs they fain must hear
And they have learned an old, old song
Of sorrow, heartache and of wrong.
Long years ago at the palace gate
Great Pharaoh heard them, early and late,
The hopeless cry of the bondmen repeat,
But Pharaoh crushed them beneath his feet.
Sick for home in the alien corn,
Haply Ruth heard their plaint forlorn;
And surely these their vigil kept
In an olive grove while others slept.
The minstrels played thru long summer nights;

Three Great Conflagrations.

It might be interesting to compare the Chicago fire of 1871 with other historic conflagrations. The most devastating fire which London suffered was in 1666. The burned area was somewhat less than a square mile, 13,200 buildings were destroyed, and the fire continued for 16 days.

The Moscow fire [see Tolstoy's "War and Peace"] occurred Sept. 15, 1812. The burned area was somewhat less than a square mile and the number of buildings destroyed 11,400. The Russian city is supposed to have been burned under orders of its governor, Rostopchin. Fire broke out in 500 places simultaneously.

Chicago's great fire occurred in October, 1871. The area burned was approximately four square miles, the number of buildings 15,000, and the monetary loss variously estimated between $150,000,000 and $175,000,000. Clyde D. Foster.

TEST THE INTESTINAL TRACT IN ARTHRITIS.

THE CAUSE of that puzzling malady, arthritis, has been a moot question for centuries. Many older writers attributed the disorder to a disturbed intestinal tract. It has long been thought that the absorption of bacterial toxins from the bowel could injure the joints. In fact, more than 50 years ago, the ailment was produced experimentally by planting streptococci within the colon.

More recently, efforts have been made to find organisms in the blood stream—originating within the alimentary tube. In many cases, this search has been successful. The point seems to be established that we must look upon the digestive canal as a possible focus.

Nests of microbes may be harbored for months or years, keeping up a supply which operates to lower resistance. In such circumstances, germs may pass thru the wall of the intestine. Furthermore, when they become numerous — reproduce at will—they may be "spotted" in the circulation. Such "bugs" floating about may lodge in the fine capillaries adjacent to a joint and there become responsible for inflammation.

This would explain the mild and fleeting character of many a seizure. Most of us have become constipated at times or we are aware that elimination is not quite up to par. For a day or so, perhaps, sufficient bacilli may be absorbed to give rise to twinges. The episode passes because general resistance beats down the enemy and the oncoming hordes are neutralized.

In every case of beginning arthritis it is well to pay strict attention to the state of the colon as well as to other sources of pus. Not allowing the structure to play host to huge families of microörganisms may reëstablish well being.

The discharges contain germs of various types but particular attention may need to be given the patient whose stool cultures show the presence of streptococci. Many of this group are blood destroyers and they are all poison producers. Occasionally, they will be detected in one who appears normal but the chances are that if they persist, trouble will be complained of sooner or later. The earliest symptom may be fatigue but, when the joints begin to act up, an attempt must be made to rout the offenders.

Fortunately, we have sulfaguanidine and other preparations which have special value in ridding the bowel of noxious invaders. But now and then little effect will be produced by one of these compounds. Reliance, then, may be placed upon vaccines which are grown from the patient's own organisms, killed, and then injected in an effort to build immunity. During the administration of the vaccine, the stools are checked once a month. If all goes well, the number of bacteria will gradually decrease and at the same time symptoms will be less severe.

Just why reducing starches and sugars in the diet is beneficial may be explained on the basis that these substances furnish excellent food materials for the outlaw tribes. At any rate, restricting carbohydrates, and substituting high protein [meat] feedings, seems to destroy the environment which encourages bacterial growth.

Of course, the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, etc., and other lurking nooks [such as the gall bladder] must not be overlooked. But the colon may manufacture just enough toxin to tip the scales in favor of this crippling affliction.

WANTS NEW EYES.

J. B. writes: I have been wearing glasses for two years and want very much to go without them. The only thing is, when I take them off, I get a sort of haze in front of my eyes. How can I get rid of this haze?

REPLY.

Wear your glasses if they are helpful. Comfort and good vision must take precedence over wishes borne of vanity.

NOT FROM WASHING.

O. S. writes: Does washing the hair once a week cause it to fall out?

REPLY.

This mistaken notion arose because numerous strands, which had loosened during the interval between shampoos, were observed in the bowl. No danger unless an extremely irritating soap is employed.

INGROWN LASHES.

J. T. writes: What causes the lower lashes to turn backward into the eyes?

REPLY.

In certain eye conditions, the edge of the lid turns inward [entropion]. Surgical correction may be required as the lashes are likely to irritate the cornea.

SPEECHLESS.

H. B. writes: What causes paralysis of the vocal cords?

REPLY.

Any disturbance or injury to the recurrent laryngeal nerve.

Pro and Con.

In the mail:

"I have read with interest what you say about Frank Sinatra, and about Catherine, also.

"Thanks so much for offering to see that I meet Catherine, who will, I understand, age me 20 years in 10 minutes.

"Now at my age [I am 68] I don't want to grow old that fast.

"[I filled in my age above because Ester, who is typing this letter, thinks that I am much younger. She is about the same age as Catherine and worries a great deal about my being taken in the draft. As far as I know Ester hasn't swooned once — not once. Should she meet Catherine?]

"But I wanted to ask you a question. At my age, and being a lover of Gilbert and Sullivan and other music of the gay '90s, don't you think I would grow old even faster by listening direct to Frank Sinatra?

"Even now when I just think about Frank I feel faint. Does that mean anything?

"CHARLES BOTHERED."

"What you wrote about Frank Sinatra made me very happy because I feel a good deal like Catherine ['Now I have lived'] when Frank sings.

"He puts feeling and warmth into the songs he sings which helps one remember times that were and fine times to come.

"IRENE KADRASZ."

"Please believe me when I tell you I never heard of Sinatra until recently, when I saw him in a movie at a neighborhood theater where he sang one song and strutted between gorgeous gals playing pianos, then on top of that a notice in the paper about him arriving from Hollywood, clothes practically torn off his body, etc.

"These young, simpering females who are squealing and wailing about Sinatra will be doing the same thing next year over a newcomer. When I listen to them, or read about what fools they make of themselves, my stomach does a flip-flop and I wonder what kind of women we'll have in this wonderful country of ours in the future, but then I happen onto a WAVE or a WAC or an army or navy nurse and I know we're still batting 1.000.

"This Catherine you wrote of must be the prize dope. Sure, we gals have dreams, but can you imagine any one saying 'Now I have lived' because they saw Sinatra step off the Chief! Reminds me of the time Rudolph Valentino was appearing at the Trianon and some fool girl threw her diamond engagement ring on the floor at his feet. Well, maybe I haven't lived yet, but I doubt it. I'm not 16, but twice plus that, married, and very happily so, and I wouldn't give up my dyed in the wool man for 20,000 Sinatras.

"I know this will start a civil war, but I can't help it. I'm disgusted with all this hoop-de-doo about Sinatra, and please don't think me an old, stuffy bump on a log, because I am not.

"LEE MANN."

"P. S.—I'm afraid Sinatra has a good press agent, and that's all. I wish he would get some meat on him, and maybe he'd turn into a Crosby, yessir!"

"Your column about Sinatra states the case perfectly. Catherine couldn't have stated it better. She sets forth in words what I have felt about Mr. Sinatra for a long time. In these days of so much laxity and so-called sophistication, Mr. Sinatra is very refreshing and I'm sure he must be a very nice person to know. I couldn't wish for his success more if he were a member of my own family.

"I am 32, have been married 10 years, have a child of 5, am a college graduate. I have always been considered very stable emotionally and not addicted to hero worship. But I like Mr. Sinatra.

"MRS. M. S. GRACE."

"And then there is the prolific column contributor who is slowly losing his mind. It seems as tho, as hard as he may try, he cannot compose a gag about Frank Sinatra.

HE WANTS TO FIGHT.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—I am a father of four children. I volunteered to join the army several weeks ago with my wife's permission. I was inducted and after passing all examinations was finally rejected for an operation that I had nine years ago and which has never bothered me since.

Since then I have driven a 10 ton truck and handled 350 pound barrels of soap powder and I defy any soldier or sailor to show me any training they have had that I can't do. When you read in the paper about our American boys getting their heads cut off by a sword and their bellies cut open, and read about those dirty yellow bellies attacking wounded men and cutting them to pieces and torturing them to death, it is heart rending. I eat my heart out and can't do my work and still they want me to stay home and do something to help the war when my heart and place is up there helping in the correct way.

So if you see an "L" platform man working in the loop and he doesn't seem to have all of his heart in his work you will know the reason why.

R. L. BROWN.

POLITICAL RATE-MAKING.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 4.—Last Monday I stopped at the newsstand for a copy of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and, as usual, turned to the editorial page which I always enjoy, whether in agreement or disagreement with what is on it.

I read your editorial on political rate-making with interest and in immediate agreement. But I was puzzled, surely it wasn't my name, I thought. I don't belong that high up in transportation circles even tho my name may be anathema to my own governor and all the other governors of the southern states because I oppose their schemes for nationalizing and regimenting our rate structures.

But I reckon you meant me, and I write to express my appreciation of the honor of being mentioned in terms associated with the interstate commerce commission which, to those who practice before it, is indeed synonymous with all that is fair and of unquestioned integrity.

It is a matter of sincere regret that industry's stake in the country's rate structures should be made a political consideration rather than economic. We have opposed our governors on this score just as much as on the purely economic question of the fallacy of one rate level for the whole country. Southern industry enjoys very favorable basic commodity rate structures which it is not willing to give up merely for a fancied ideal of so-called equality. We should be swapping dollars for dimes.

HOW THEY DO IT.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—In the debate on the Fulbright resolution, Rep. Gore of Tennessee let the cat out of the bag when he said: "Now, we may as well recognize that the gravest danger to a consistent program of international collaboration for us, which now seems to be supported by an overwhelming public sentiment, is that congress and the people may finally disapprove whatever arrangements may be made."

In other words, we must be committed irrevocably before the people wake up to what has happened?

MRS. GRACE KEEFE.

THE AMERICAN WAY.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 4.—I want to congratulate D. G. Toothaker on his letter in the Voice of the People, as he knows what he is talking about and hits the nail on the head. I am past 70 years old, was raised on a farm and have done many a hard day's work at all kinds of farming and milked seven cows night and morning when I was 12 years old.

My father or husband was never paid by the New Deal for what they did not raise and we always had plenty of good food to eat and money to spend, which we will not have in the future if the army keeps taking our boys and men from the farms.

When I read H. G. Bowers' letter I wondered if he realized who is paying to teach the farmers how to farm. Does he know his great-great-grandchildren, if he has any, will still be paying on our national debt which the New Deal has made? I for one hope something can be done to stop this New Deal unnecessary spending and we can get back to the American way of living.

FARMER'S WIFE.

EXCELLENT CITIZEN.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 4.—I have just read Mr. Louis Ford's letter on cats, and would like to add my two cents' worth for this very fine animal. I have had a cat most of my 48 years and know something about these animals. If properly housed and fed, cats do not catch birds. I have a Siamese cat who ignores my wife's canary birds entirely, is the closest kind of a pal to our dog—they sleep together—and spends his leisure time ridding our garage, which was an old stable, of rats. Last week he caught and killed eight rats, not for food—he doesn't like them—but he knows they have no place in society. A well cared for and trained cat makes an excellent citizen and should be considered as such.

BIOFF REVEALS TRIBUTES PAID BY MOVIE FIRMS

Strike Threats Produced Thousands for 'Mob.'

New York, Oct. 7 [Special].—William [Willie] Bioff, a powerful figure in a movie and theater workers' union before he was convicted of extortion, told Judge John Bright and a jury today how he and his associates had achieved such a dominating role in the movie industry that they could demand "two or three million dollars" and actually collect several hundred thousand on threats of calling strikes.

In federal court today, Bioff continued the testimony he began yesterday against eight men charged with extorting more than a million dollars from the motion picture industry and labor in violation of the federal anti-racketeering act. He had been convicted previously with George E. Browne, former president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes.

Meets with Movie Heads.

Bioff testified that in the spring of 1936 a "basic agreement" meeting was held in New York between union leaders and film company executives, among whom was Nicholas Schenck of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Bioff said he told Schenck to "get together with the heads of the companies and get a couple of million dollars together."

"I told him this was it," Bioff testified. "That if they didn't get together we'd close every theater in the country. The sum and substance was that I made demands for a large sum of money, between two and three million, and said that unless the companies put up the money, the industry would have a strike on its hands."

Movie Firms Agree to Pay.

Bioff said the upshot of this "agreement" was that the five major companies promised to pay $50,000 annually and two minor companies $25,000 each. Bioff then called on or was called on by executives of M-G-M, Paramount, Twentieth-Century Fox, and Warner Brothers in connection with payments. He said between April, 1936 and May, 1937 the receipts amounted to $200,000.

He and Browne, Bioff said, split one-third of the money, and turned two-thirds over to Paul Ricca [De Lucia], one of the eight defendants described by Special Prosecutor Boris Kostelanetz as the leader of the Chicago ring which dominated the union.

Bares Chicago Deal.

Earlier in the day Bioff testified a group of Chicago movie theater operators was persuaded to pay more than $100,000 as tribute. Arguments used with the theater men, he said, were that only one IATSE member was employed in each projection booth in Chicago, while two were kept in booths elsewhere in the country.

Bioff said he told Jack Miller, a representative of the Balaban & Katz theater firm in Chicago that the union was going to demand a "two man booth." When Miller told him the demands would cost the Chicago theaters $500,000 and bankrupt the operators, Bioff said he told Miller to "make a deal" and a deal was made.

The Balaban share, Bioff said, was $60,000; that of Warner Brothers $30,000, and that of the S. and S. company $10,000.

'Chicago Mob' Got Half.

Up to this time, Bioff testified, he and Browne had received half of the take, the other half going to the Chicago "mob," seven of whose members are identified by the government as the men on trial. The eighth man is Louis Kaufman, agent of the Newark local of IATSE.

The seven Chicagoans on trial are Ricca, Phil D'Andrea, former Al Capone bodyguard; Louis Compagna and Charlie Gioe, who in 1930 were charged with three murders; John Rosselli, former husband of June Lang, actress; Ralph Pierce, former Capone lieutenant, and Frank Maritote, Capone's brother-in-law.

Spurred by the ease with which the $100,000 had been obtained, Bioff said, the Chicago syndicate demanded two-thirds instead of one-half of the loot. This was explained to him and Browne in a Chicago hotel by Frank Nitti and Frank Rio, who have died since, and Ricca, Compagna, and Circella, the last of whom pleaded guilty to an extortion charge and is serving a prison term.

No Position to Argue.

Bioff and Browne agreed they were in no position to argue about the division of spoils, so they accepted the new arrangement.

In order to win union jurisdiction over about 6,000 west coast studio workers, Bioff testified, the IATSE called a strike in 400 theaters in the Chicago area in December, 1935, altho the owners previously had paid $100,000 for immunity from "trouble." The strike was effective, and the union gained its goal in Hollywood studios, Bioff said.

RED TAPE HALTS SUPPLIES; U.S. ORDERS PILE UP

Label Maker Cannot Buy Lacquer, He Says.

F. R. Smith, who makes decalcomania labels at 546 Washington boulevard, yesterday was awarded a contract for the identification numerals to be placed on the sides of 12,000 postoffice trucks, but he said he may have to forfeit this and five other government orders because the government won't let him buy lacquer.

The war production board has kept his business idle since June, he said, by bickerings over whether he should apply for new stocks of lacquer and decalcomania film on priority form PD-1A or PD-870.

Smith's original priority purchase was used up in June. He applied to the WPB office at 226 West Jackson boulevard for a renewal, and a clerk gave him a PD-1A blank. He returned with this application the next day, but another clerk refused to accept it.

"I've talked with my superior on this, and he says you should have PD-870," the second clerk told Smith, altho Smith protested he had obtained his first priority on PD-1A without trouble.

He mailed a PD-870 application to Washington, however, meanwhile receiving inquiries from government customers wondering why he was not filling their orders. The department of commerce was becoming impatient for delivery on 2,500 3 by 7 inch decals reading "Remove Hoist Before Lifting."

On Aug. 14, Smith heard from the WPB in Washington. His request for priority assistance was denied, he learned, because "no priority assistance should be necessary to facilitate acquisition of laquers."

"Are you advising us to buy on a black market?" Smith wrote back to Washington.

Month Passes without Reply.

"We have checked this application with the chemicals division of the WPB and they say it is necessary for you to come in on a PD-1A application, and that PD-870 is incorrect," Smith heard next in a letter sent him Sept. 3 from Washington.

Smith thanked the WPB and hurried to file a PD-1A application. In the last month he has had no word from the WPB, but has been receiving other government correspondence.

FORT SHERIDAN SHIFT TO MAKE IT CENTER FOR 4 MORE UNITS

Fort Sheridan will gain four new military units in connection with its forthcoming changeover from an army ground forces to an army service forces installation, it was revealed yesterday.

They are a recruit reception center, a rehabilitation center, the parent school for bakers and cooks, and the 6th service command training center.

The training center, being transferred here from Camp McCoy, Wis., under command of Lt. Col. W. Lutz Krigbaum, includes a visual training aids section, a clerical school, a special training unit, a basic training battalion, and an officers' pool.

For two of the new units, the recruit reception center and the parent school for bakers and cooks, the switch will be a homecoming. The Fort Sheridan recruit reception center, the first to be in operation under selective service, was inactivated June 15, and the parent school for bakers and cooks was moved to Camp McCoy about the same time.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7 (AP).—President Roosevelt sent to congress today a request for an additional appropriation of 5 million dollars for the office of war information. PREDICTS BIGGER CUT IN CIVILIAN USE OF GASOLINE

Military demands for gasoline, now estimated at 20 per cent of the nation's output, will reach 40 per cent within 90 days, bringing further reductions in civilian supplies, B. M. Provis, president of the Gasoline Retailers' Association of Metropolitan Chicago, predicted yesterday.

Provis' statment came as Petroleum Administrator Harold Ickes in Washington announced revocation of the regulation limiting the operation of gasoline service stations to 72 hours weekly. The regulation was established on a national basis last Jan. 18.

Provis said latest reports indicate that refineries of the nation are producing at approximately 75 per cent of capacity. He predicted that, with expanding military operations in Europe and the Pacific, the army and navy soon will take at least 40 per cent of the nation's gasoline and that all high test gasoline will be reserved for military use.

"Come on, Kay...

so we can see their windows"

Even after shopping inside, people usually stay just a little longer to look at our windows. Folks find window-gazing at our store one of the delights of coming downtown. Perhaps it's because we consider each of our 65 windows (more windows than any other store in America!) is a miniature theater. Each must tell a story of fashion or news—each must truly reflect the store. It takes as many different kinds of technicians and craftsmen to produce a good window as to produce a good play: artists, electricians, mechanics, stylists, carpenters, painters, mannequin makers, writers. When the curtains are parted on any of our windows, you see Marshall Field & Company in miniature. And you'll never see anything in our windows that you won't find proved 40 ways from Sunday when you come inside.

Folks have a warm, friendly regard for our store.
You probably agree when you hear them say,

SUIT ACCUSES 4 CEMETERIES OF RACKET ON CARE

Barrett Asks Receivers and Dissolution.

Dissolution of four cemetery corporations charged with fraudulent use and misapplication of perpetual care funds and the appointment of receivers for them was demanded yesterday in suits filed in superior court by Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett.

The cemeteries named in the suits are Rosehill, Woodlawn, Oak Lawn, and Ridgewood. They are the first that Barrett has moved against since he started an investigation Sept. 1 of 193 cemeteries in Cook county after receiving complaints that perpetual care funds were being mismanaged by some corporations.

Other Suits to Be Filed.

"These suits are the first in a series to clean up an unhealthy condition which exists in the perpetual care funds of the cemeteries of Cook county," he said. "We intend to keep after these cemetery operators and promoters until every dishonest operator and promoter among this group is driven from our midst."

Barrett said the investigation showed that more than 75 million dollars has been invested by the public in Cook county cemeteries.

"Our search further reveals that for a great number of years in many of this county's cemeteries the selling of perpetual care agreements has been one of the biggest rackets in existance," he continued. "Our investigators found one instance where a person paid $4,000 for perpetual care. Others have paid all the way from $50 up to whatever the promoters could obtain in this ruthless practice."

Charges $64,000 Misused.

Barrett asserted that many widows and children put their money into perpetual care trusts with the understanding that the graves would be maintained properly, the grass kept trimmed, flowers planted, and tombstones repaired, but that in many cases the agreements were not fulfilled.

When the investigation was started, Barrett called on the 193 cemetery corporations to make a full report on the sums collected and the manner in which the funds were invested. He said yesterday that Rosehill and Woodlawn refused to submit their records, that Oak Lawn made no report whatever, and that Ridgewood made an incomplete report.

"The statement submitted by Ridgewood cemetery" said Barrett, "shows that $64,000 of its perpetual care fund was used for other purposes. At one time the perpetual care funds of this cemetery were found to be short $127,000 of its present total of $171,758."

KELLY, OTHER LEADERS ATTEND WAKE FOR NASH

Hundreds of Democratic leaders, headed by Mayor Kelly, last night attended a wake for Patrick A. Nash in his home at 3234 Washington boulevard. Among them were many of Mr. Nash's proteges whom the veteran political chief, co-leader with the mayor of the Democratic party in Cook county, had guided up the political ladder to various public offices.

The body will be in the home until the funeral tomorrow. A requiem high mass will be said at 10 o'clock in St. Matthew's church, 3040 Walnut street.

Mr. Nash, 80 years old, died Wednesday night in Columbus hospital of pneumonia that developed from a cold and affected his heart. The city council will hold a special meeting at noon today and the Democratic central committee of Cook county will meet at 10:30 a. m. to adopt resolutions of sympathy and plan group attendance at the funeral.

MRS. M. FRITZE, SURVIVOR OF '71 FIRE, DIES AT 104

Mrs. Mathilda Fritze, for 76 years a resident of Chicago, died yesterday in her home, 4741 North Campbell avenue, at the age of 104. Her death followed an illness of more than a year. Mrs. Fritze was born in the village of Birnbaum in the old province of Posen, Germany, and came to Chicago when she was 28 years old.

Her first marriage was to her childhood sweetheart, Martin Oswald. The home at Clybourn avenue and Larrabee street was destroyed by the great Chicago fire in 1871. Four years after Mr. Oswald's death his widow married Ferdinand Fritze, a mason inspector for Chicago.

Services for Mrs. Fritze will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow in the chapel at 2118 Lawrence avenue.

Kellogg, 52 years old, 1019 Michigan street, Wheaton, a missionary nurse in the Harwood Memorial hospital at Fenchow, China, from 1919 to 1933, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the Wheaton Congregational church. Miss Kellogg, a sister of Col. Henry L. Kellogg, deputy director of the Illinois war council, died Wednesday night in Presbyterian hospital. She also is survived by three other brothers, Col. Albert B., Claremont, N. H.; Thomas P., Wheaton, and Samuel A., Laura, Ill., and two sisters, Mrs. John S. Congdon, Fort Collins, Col., and Mrs. Amos Dresser, Wheaton.

Robert Skilleter Smith.

Robert Skilleter Smith, 82 years old, an architect in Chicago for nearly 60 years before his retirement several years ago, died yesterday in his home at 4831 Lee street, Skokie. His home was in Kenilworth for 46 years. Surviving are two daughters, Dorothea M. Smith and Mrs. D. S. Taylor. Services will be at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 1567 Maple avenue, Evanston.

Gilbert Samuelson.

Services for Gilbert Samuelson, 5240 Sheridan road, who would have celebrated his 30th anniversary as agent for the Connecticut Life Insurance company this month, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow in the chapel at 2114 Irving Park road. Mr. Samuelson died Wednesday at the age of 68. He is survived by his widow, Hulda.

Dr. Arthur G. Lyle.

Dr. Arthur G. Lyle, 61 years old, a dentist at 25 East Washington street, died of a heart attack while dining with a group of dentists yesterday in a department store restaurant at State and Madison streets. A rescue squad under Acting Lt. Walter Corrigan tried for a half hour to revive him. His widow and a child survive.

Ole Olsen.

Hoyt F. Paxton.

Services for Hoyt F. Paxton, retired controler of Fred S. James & Co., insurance agents and brokers, will be held at 4 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 134 South York street, Elmhurst. Burial will be at Georgetown, Vermilion county. Mr. Paxton died Wednesday at Hendersonville, N. C., where he had made his home for the last two years. He formerly resided in Elmhurst. He leaves his widow, Lucille, and two daughters.

Ed L. Keen.

New York, Oct. 7 [Special].—Ed L. Keen, vice president of the United Press and veteran foreign correspondent, died today while in the barber shop of the Barbizon Plaza hotel. He was 73 years old. His career as a foreign correspondent began in the last century when he scored a world scoop on Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo in the Philippine insurrection. He was active until 1939 when he retired as general European manager of the United Press.

Bernard E. Sunny.

Services for Bernard E. Sunny, Chicago philanthropist, telephone pioneer, and industrialist, will be held at noon today in Central church [Orchestra hall], 216 South Michigan avenue, with the pastor, Dr. Harold Ruopp, officiating. Mrs. Alice Moore McGrew.

Services for Mrs. Alice Moore McGrew, former Chicago resident who died Wednesday in New York, will be held at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 6110 Cottage Grove avenue. Mrs. McGrew was the wife of Edward McGrew, an official of the Sinclair Refining company of New York. She was 58 years old.

Julia E. Willkie.

New York, Oct. 7 (AP).—Miss Julia E. Willkie, 57 years old, elder sister of Wendell L. Willkie, died today at Bridgeport, Conn., hospital. An educator, bacteriologist, and linguist, Miss Willkie was associated with an aircraft company for the last two years.

BURGLAR GIVEN 2D LIE TEST ON GALVIN SLAYING

Jeffery Omar Carroll, 18 years old, a Negro who lives at 5427 Prairie avenue, was given a lie detector test last night by police who questioned him about his whereabouts the day Mrs. Lillian Galvin and her maid, Miss Edna Sibilski, were slain in Evanston.

Carroll has confessed looting three homes in Evanston and three in Wilmette, police said. He was arrested by Sgt. W. L. Calderwood and Patrolman Fred Wynn of the Evanston force Sept. 15 when they investigated reports that a prowler was trying to break into a house on Marcy avenue. His finger prints were found on the door. He has been bound over to the grand jury and is being held in the county jail.

Carroll was given a lie detector test previously. Investigators reported his reactions indicated he was lying when he said he was in Detroit on Oct. 22, 1942, when Mrs. Galvin and Miss Sibilski were killed in the Galvin home at 3038 Normandy place, Evanston. Jewelry valued at $28,000 and furs worth $3,350 were stolen by the killer, but no trace of the loot has been found.

N. Y. 'SICK' STRIKE BY MILK DRIVERS IS CONCLUDED

New York, Oct. 7.—A four day old strike of milk company employes that disrupted deliveries to thousands of families in the metropolitan area and northern New Jersey appeared ended today.

Workers returned to plants and routes of the Borden company this morning and several hours later F. J. Andre, president of the Sheffield Farms company—the other firm involved—said he had been assured by the milk wagon drivers' union that his employes were ready to do likewise. He said he expected normal operations by Saturday.

The work stoppage began Monday when employes reported "sick" in protest against a national war labor board decision.

Delivery of several newspapers and magazines in sections of Brooklyn, Queens, and Nassau county on Long Island was crippled tonight by a "sick strike" of 120 drivers of the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers' union.

Fined in Fight Following Legion Auxiliary Election

Judge Cecil Smith in South Chicago court yesterday fined Mrs. Anastasia Skorupa, 50 years old, 8324 Baker avenue, $1 and costs on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Helen Gilarski, 50, of 8330 Baker avenue, in a quarrel Sept. 10 growing out of an election conducted by a Polish-American Legion auxiliary.

CAPTURE FUGITIVE SOLDIER.

LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP).—A week long search for three American soldiers who escaped from an army detention camp in the Midlands ended early today with the capture of Warren G. Nelson, 25 years old, by military police near Nuneaton, Warwickshire. Russell Fazio, 20, and Charles B. Poteet, 22, were recaptured late yesterday. The home addresses of the trio were not disclosed.

FUNERAL TO BE HELD TODAY FOR JOHN C. SHAFFER

Services for John C. Shaffer, president and publisher of the old Chicago Evening Post from 1901 to 1931, will be held at 2 p. m. today in the First Methodist church, Evanston. The Rev. Ernest Fremont Tittle will conduct the rites.

Edith Mason, opera singer, will sing at the services in token of appreciation of Mr. Shaffer's interest in her career at the time he was president of the Chicago Grand Opera company.

Mr. Shaffer, who was president of the John C. Shaffer Grain company of Chicago and editor and publisher of the Indianapolis Star and Muncie [Ind.] Star, died Tuesday in his home, 1704 Judson street, Evanston. He was 90 years old.

ORDNANCE PLANT BLAST INJURES 6; FELT FOR MILES

Six men were slightly injured last night in a powder explosion at the Kankakee ordnance works, 10 miles south of Joliet in Will county. Nineteen other men near-by were shaken.

Capt. Edward Miller, executive officer, said that five of the men required only first aid, that the sixth needed several stitches for an injury, and that all probably will return to work today.

The explosion occurred on the TNT line No. 1. It shot a bolt of flame high in the air. Dense black smoke followed, which was visible for miles. The concussion of the blast was felt as far away as Coal City, 14 miles from the plant.

ROBBED OF SHOE STAMPS.

Elmer Kreuzer, owner of a shoe store at 4035 West 26th street, surrendered $75 and 200 shoe ration stamps to two armed robbers yesterday, he told Lawndale police.

WANT TO GIVE UP "DOSING" FOR GOOD?
Try This Natural "Regulating" Food!
Don't lose hope, even if you've tried one harsh pill or cathartic after another, with no lasting relief! For many people there is a safe, pleasant way! One that doesn't prod your bowels—rob your system of water—or "sweep you out"! It's KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN!
The secret, scientists say, is that KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN "gets at" one big cause of common constipation—by supplying the cellulosic elements needed for normal evacuation—should they be lacking in the diet. These elements assist the intestinal flora in lightening and fluffing up the contents of the colon, for easy, satisfactory elimination!
If this is your trouble try eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't give up "dosing" — for good! Remember, too—ALL-BRAN is amazingly nutritious! Each ounce contains more iron than two eggs, more phosphorus than a glass of milk! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

EPISCOPALIANS DEFEAT CHANGE IN NUPTIAL LAW

Another Plan to Be Voted Upon Today.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 7 (AP).—Protestant Episcopal clergy and laity failed to agree on liberalization of church marriage canons tonight, after a day-long debate on proposals and counter-proposals in the 54th triennial convention.

Discussions on the issue will be resumed tomorrow, when another liberalizing proposal is to be submitted to a vote.

Fashioned by compromise and amendment thruout the day, a revised marriage canon permitting first marriages without baptism, and condoning remarriage after divorce on permission from a diocesan bishop, failed by one and one-fourth vote to receive the necessary majority.

Lay Vote Is Liberal.

Lay deputies, voting by dioceses, gave the liberal canon a preponderant majority, but the clergy vote was not sufficient to concur. Missionary dioceses were credited with one-fourth vote each.

The canon was a compromise of majority and minority reports of the deputies' committee on canons.

The Rev. Donald H. Wattley of New Orleans introduced the majority report, which would have made even more strict present church marriage laws, which condone remarriage only for innocent persons in divorce actions based on adultery.

Minority Report.

A minority report of the canons committee, presented by Lispenard B. Phister of Boston, Mass., a lay delegate, recommended liberal regulation of remarriage after divorce.

The encouraging support of a more liberal canon, Jackson A. Dykman, of the diocese of Long Island, N. Y., declared "after this war there'll be many marriages which ought to be dissolved, and those young people—married in haste—should be given a chance to remarry."

Mrs. Ellen Randle's Estate Pays $126,279 in U.S. Tax

Mrs. Ellen Randle, widow of Hanson Randle, who died in 1933, left an estate of $574,275, it was disclosed in County court yesterday when a report was filed showing that the federal estate tax amounted to $126,279. The Illinois inheritance tax was $26,179. Mrs. Randle, whose home was at 4339 Drexel boulevard, left the bulk of the estate to her daughter, Mrs. Peachey Forrester, 4417 Drexel boulevard. A bequest of $2,000 was made to the Church Home for the Aged.

URGES GLAMOR PLUS SAFETY IN WORK CLOTHES

Employers should conduct fashion shows to encourage the designing of more attractive work clothes for women in industry, Mrs. Mary Rice Morrow, director of the bureau of women and children's hours and wages in Pennsylvania, said yesterday at a session of the 32d National Safety congress in the Hotel Sherman.

"The shows could display proper clothing, and make work clothes attractive as well as serviceable," she said. "Suitable clothing for the job should aid the woman worker. A well designed slack suit with safety cuffs on the trousers, hair covered to prevent it catching on machines, shoes with low heels and solid leather soles, and absence of jewelry, should always be company policy."

William G. Kearney of the B. F. Goodrich company told the commercial vehicles section of the safety council that the scheduled production of 5 million civilian tires this year and 30 million in 1944 "may not even meet rock-bottom needs." The safety congress, which opened in Chicago Tuesday, closed yesterday. It was attended by 9,000 persons.

RECALL CITY'S RECORD CROWD AT FAIR OF '93

50th Anniversary Will Be Tomorrow.

Tomorrow is the 50th anniversary of Chicago day, which was the grand climax of the World's Columbian exposition of 1893 and which drew to the fair grounds the largest crowd which ever has assembled in one place in Chicago's history—750,000.

Chicago day—Monday, Oct. 9, 1893—was a celebration of the city's triumphant recovery from the great fire which, exactly 22 years earlier, had laid virtually all of the business district and many of the residential streets in ruins. It was also a celebration of the success of the exposition, which had paid off its bonded indebtedness.

Transit Lines Burdened.

The problem of getting three-quarters of a million people from all parts of the city to the exposition grounds in and near Jackson park taxed the transit system to the breaking point. Old timers still tell of seeing people sitting on the roofs of the Cottage Grove avenue cars on the way to the fair. The Illinois Central railroad used its entire trackage for exposition trains.

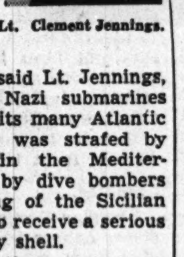
All business was suspended in the city and schools and factories closed. The fair grounds were bursting with people by 10 a. m. when a program called "Chicago Welcomes the World with Music and Song" began with a cannon "Salute to All Nations" and a "Fanfare of Universal Peace." Patriotic music was sung and played by the Apollo Musical club and by the combined exposition bands. Enthusiastic crowds sang along with the Apollo club and reached a powerful emotional climax in "America."

Parade, Pageant, Fireworks.

In the afternoon a parade called "Reunion of the States," gay with banners and emblems, wound thru the grounds. After dark illuminated floats joined in a pageant of the city's history. One of these floats commemorated the great fire. It was called Chicago Prostrate, and it showed the Fire Fiend, a giant figure with torch in hand, standing amid the ruins he had made. Toward the climax of the evening bombs and rockets turned the grounds into a fiery fairyland.

In reporting the event next day THE TRIBUNE said: "In her white tent, like Minnehaha, the arrow-maker's daughter, stood Chicago yesterday morning and gazed out on a sapphire lake under a blue and cloudless sky, and her Hiawatha—her world lover—came to her and laid at her feet the slain deer—the tribute of universal admiration and love."

BATTLE SCARRED VET OF SEA CONVOYS HERE WITH WAR FILM SHOW



Lt. Clement Jennings.

"The luckiest fighting ship afloat" is the description Lt. Clement Jennings, naval engineering officer who has seen action in the South Pacific, North Pacific, and Mediterranean fighting zones, gave yesterday of the destroyer on which he served from its commissioning until he was wounded in the Sicilian invasion.

This destroyer, said Lt. Jennings, played tag with Nazi submarines during several of its many Atlantic convoy crossings; was strafed by German planes in the Mediterranean; attacked by dive bombers during the shelling of the Sicilian coast, but has yet to receive a serious hit from an enemy shell.

It is on this ship that many scenes from Columbia's war film, "Destroyer," are laid. This action filled picture will be shown for the first time in Chicago next Monday evening at 8 o'clock in W-G-N's main audience studio as a joint presentation of the treasury department and THE TRIBUNE. Admission to this special feature of the "Back the Attack" navy exhibit in Tribune square will be thru the purchase of $500 or more in E, F or G war bonds.

$10,000 DAMAGE IN FIRE.

Damage estimated at $10,000 was caused early yesterday by a fire at Goranson's bowling alleys and three stores in a building at 3239-43 North avenue.

WLB HERE SETS ASIDE PAY RAISE FOR CARPENTERS

A wage increase of 2½ cents an hour, to $1.25, for 2,600 carpenters engaged in interior finishing and cabinetmaking was denied yesterday by the regional war labor board, Robert K. Burns, chairman, announced. The raise had been agreed upon by the Woodworkers' association of Chicagoand the Carpenters' district council. Burns said the bureau of labor statistics found that the $1.22½ rate was the prevailing wage in this area. The board approved a plan calling for one week's vacation with pay for carpenters employed a year or more.

Conserve COAL

USE THIS Fuel Saving FIRING METHOD

Right now it is more important than ever to conserve coal, for coal is power to win this war. You can have plenty of heat and still conserve coal by following a few simple rules in operating your heating plant:

Keep the smoke pipe, the radiator chamber and the heating surfaces in the fire box clean. Make all connections and seams in the furnace, smoke pipe connection with the furnace and chimney tight. Make sure all doors fit properly and that all dampers are in good working order. Replace any broken grates.

THE CONICAL METHOD of firing low volatile Fuel Satisfaction has been thoroughly tested and has proven to be most economical and efficient.

Start this method now—pile (don't throw) coal in the center of the fire box, thus creating a cone-shaped pile for round fire boxes, and a ridge-shaped pile for rectangular fire boxes. Heaping coal in the center results in the larger pieces rolling to the sides, thus permitting a freer flow of air, which makes the fire hottest next to the side heating surfaces. The slack, or fine coal, helps to build the cone; it cokes properly, and holds fire longer. Bank the fire at night with slack coal, and adjust all dampers to retard burning.

When refueling, open the smoke pipe and ash pit dampers and close the check damper. After refueling, adjust the ash pit damper and the smoke pipe and check dampers to meet heating demands.

Before refueling, occasionally it may be well to push a poker through the top of the cone-shaped pile and crack it. Never use a poker in a way that will stir up the fire. If a quick, hot fire is wanted, don't stir; but shake the grates gently, crack the cone slightly, and open the drafts. Do not shake grates violently but rock them gently until first red sparks appear in ash pit—a layer of ashes on top of grates protects them. Keep ash pit clean. Cover the entire grate area with a bed of fuel. A thin fuel bed is wasteful. A thick fuel bed lasts longer and gives more uniform heat.

When using high volatile Fuel Satisfaction, the alternate method of firing is recommended—place coal on opposite sides of fire box each time coal is added, instead of building a cone in the center.

Capital Losing Mme. Espil, a Gifted Hostess

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—The imminent departure of Felipe Espil, ambassador from Argentina, has left embassy row here wondering who will fill the place in capital society which the sauve Argentine and his wife have maintained.

Mme. Felipe Espil.

The Argentine ambassador has been "recalled to his country for conferences" and members of the embassy had no comment today except to say that he will be away on leave of absence "indefinitely." This means that Ambassador Espil will not return here and that Washington diplomacy is due to lose one of its most debonair envoys.

But even more shattering to capital society will be the departure of Mme. Espil, formerly of Chicago, who is the most gifted hostess in the diplomatic set. It is conceded here that Courtney Letts Borden Espil has been the perfect wife for an ambitious diplomat.

She has set a magnificent stage for the diplomatic dramas that have been played in the Argentine embassy. Her parties were perfection, and at her dinners one met only exactly the right people.

She married Ambassador Espil in July, 1933, three weeks after she had divorced John Borden, millionaire Chicago sportsman, in Reno.

Courtney carried off her prize in a quiet ceremony, witnessed only by her mother, Mrs. Frank C. Letts, and her sister from Chicago, Mrs. George McLaughlin Jr.

Previous to this triumph, Mme. Espil had been the much traveled wife of John Borden and had accompanied him on his big game safaris. Two books came out of this experience, "The Cruise of the Northern Lights" and "Adventures in a Man's World."

Of her first marriage to Wellesley H. Stillwell of Chicago and Wye Hall, Md., little is known. There were two children, Homer Stillwell, now in the United States army, and Miss Louise Stillwell, who made her debut here in 1940. Louise is now the wife of Lt. Randall Hagner Jr., U. S. N. R. They have two little girls, one born just two weeks ago.

Looking at Hollywood . . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 7.—Paramount bought an original about Caracao, a South American city, from Stuart Cloette, who's on his way out to do the screen play. Johnny Farrow directs. It's highly dramatic. They hope Paulette Goddard will star in it. Paulette, having made so many trips to Mexico, sure knows her Latins. She's sporting a gigantic gold wrist watch which she took off the wrist of a Mexican general. She thought it looked too feminine on him. . . . Charlie Smith, Dizzy of the Aldrichs, joins Ralph Murphy, in New York for his play, "Sleep It Off," with Ann Corio. She plays a strip teaser who gets into much difficulty when she finds herself in a fraternity house. No more Aldrichs till next summer. They're three ahead now. . . . Walter Pidgeon has had many trips to New York, but the present one will stand out in his memory—but always. . . . Greer Garson at Romanoff's with George Raft and Charlie Feldman. She'll put up at the River club in New York before pushing off to Canada.

Who's to Blame?

Spence Tracy, Marilynn Maxwell, and a lady guitarist at the airport were all set to take off for Alaska and the Aleutians to entertain our men up there when they discovered their plane priority took them only to San Francisco. I presume from there they were to hitchhike a sky ride to Alaska. Where, where was our victory committee? If Spence didn't go, or any other star of his caliber, they'd be the first to bleat about it. . . . From two different sources [I might add, the boys themselves] I learned that in Iceland, where one was stationed 16 months, the only live entertainment they got were four girls and two men in an act so bad it would have been hissed off the stage any other place. A lieutenant stationed there 10 months never saw any acts. Yes, they got films like "Of Mice and Men." The short wave radio situation was no better. They call it "the island God forgot," and would rather be in the thick of fighting on any front than go back.

Chin Up.

Lorraine Rognan, the courageous, clever dancer who lost her husband at Lisbon when they were going overseas to entertain, called to say good-by. She's going over again alone. Our producers should be mighty ashamed. What she wanted, after recovery from a broken leg, was a job. Not sympathy, pity, or charity, but a job. And if any girl deserved one, Lorraine did. Did she get it? No. Only promises. . . . Nurse Elizabeth Kenny, after speaking in New York and Chicago, arrives here for a lecture and to confer with Mary McCarthy and Rosalind Russell on her life story. . . . Anita Colby and her cover girls, being given a parting party by the Dick Smarts, may have to linger longer. No accommodations out.

Fearless.

If you've missed "The Lady and the Tigers," Olga Greenlaw's account of Gen. Claire Chennault and our boys who flew and died in vain for China, you've missed a great thrill. It's one of the most graphic things of the whole war and she doesn't pull her punches, thank heaven. . . . Joe Kennedy, after cornering the liquor market, is buying theaters. Joe feels that if a guy can't be in politics these days, he's got to be in business. Joe always was a shrewd trader. He invested a half a million in our town once. Left with profit of 5 million. . . . Schiaparelli in town selling perfume. With the shortage of alcohol, wondering where she's getting it. Her shop in Paris is still running full tilt. It has been ever since the Germans marched in.

Vote Getting.

Congressman Will Rogers Jr., in town talking to his constituents. He's still exercised over refugee Jewish situation in Palestine. Says over there planes and more planes are needed. "What about the need in the South Pacific?" said I. Young Will replied, "I presume they need 'em there too." He came thru from Washington on a priority. All congressmen get 'em.

Civic Minded.

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs starts its meeting here Sunday. They've selected Roz Russell as the typical career woman. She'll make a speech and get a right smart plaque from Mary Briggs and Grace Stoermer. Joe Besser of "Hey Rookie!" en route east to join "Sons o' Fun." . . . Jane Goerner, who became Karen Gaylord, will change her name again next month to become Mrs. Ted Knoll. Then she'll retire from the covers [magazines, silly!]. . . . Bob Benchley, sporting a too small derby in "You Tell Me," quipped to one of the musicians on the set as he stepped before the camera, "I'll say this for your trumpet, Jim. It looks better in a derby than I do."

We Call Her Eleanor.

Jane Tibbett seems to be running her own private hospital these days. First Larry had an operation for an impacted wisdom tooth in New York. Then she whipped down to Montgomery, Ala., to take her daughter-in-law, who had pneumonia and asthma, to a ranch in Arizona. Son's a flying cadet. Stopped off to see her 10 year old son who's learned to walk under Nurse Kenny. Now she's en route to New York. I asked when she expected to collapse. Jane said, "Never. I haven't time."

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Jana Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Crawford of Wilmette, to Laurence A. Harris took place on Aug. 28 in St. Matthew's cathedral in Dallas, Tex. The bride has returned to her post at Avenger field, Sweetwater, Tex., where she is stationed as a women's air force service pilot, while Mr. Harris is on duty with the army air forces at Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis. The former Miss Crawford attended Carleton college and was graduated in June from the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Harris, son of Mrs. Siebel C. Harris and the late Mr. Harris, attended Grinnel college.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Jean Faville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Faville of Wilmette, to Lt. Lyman Russell Flook Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Flook of Chicago, took place at 8 p. m. on Oct. 2 in the Wilmette Congregational church. A reception followed at the Michigan Shores club. Mr. Flook and his bride went to Estes Park, Colo., on a wedding trip and will be at home in Pueblo, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred James Hopkins of River Forest announce the marriage on Sept. 9 of their daughter, Margaret Jane, to Lt. Wirt Farley Jr., of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Farley of Evanston. The wedding took place in Fort Wayne, Ind., where Lt. Farley is stationed at Baer field.

James McCarty of West Washington boulevard announces the marriage of his daughter, Lillian Celeste, to Maurice F. Callaghan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Callaghan of Oak Park, formerly of Jackson, Mich. The wedding took place on Oct. 2 in St. Mel's church, with a wedding breakfast following for the immediate families in the Polo room of the Ambassador East hotel. The bride attended Rosary college. Mr. Callaghan was graduated from the University of Michigan.

Most Sacred Day of Judaism Opens Tonight

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Sabbath of Sabbaths for all Jews of the world, Yom Kippur, begins tonight. It is the most sacred day on the calendar of Judaism. Known also as the day of atonement, it is marked by four ceremonial acts beginning with prayer and devout meditation.

The second act is fasting as enjoined by the Bible, "Ye shall afflict your souls." Traditionally, it has been customary to abstain from all food and drink from the eve of the high holiday until sundown tomorrow night. The third is tonight's traditional lighting of the memorial taper which is sufficiently large to burn thru the 24 hour period.

Wearing a white garment also has been customary in token of purity. The use of the white shroud is said to have come down from temple days in Jerusalem when the high priest was so vested. Central to religious observances is the singing of what is often described as the holiest prayer of Judaism, the Kol Nidre. Thrice repeated at services, also, to this ancient prayer has been ascribed much of the solidarity of the Jewish people which has withstood dispersions and persecutions.

The Kol Nidre, meaning "all vows," is a formal abrogation of all vows made under emotional strain, and is intended to guard against those vows which remain unfulfilled thru negligence or oversight.

Faculty members and administrators of Lutheran colleges and universities of the country will meet today and Saturday at Valparaiso university, Valparaiso, Ind., to discuss "The Unique Function of Lutheran Education Today," with the opening address on that theme to be delivered this afternoon by Dr. O. P. Kretzmann, president of Valparaiso university. Dr. J. C. K. Preus of Minneapolis, Minn., chairman of the higher education commission of the American Lutheran conference, is president of the Lutheran Faculties association, conducting the conference.

A unity victory celebration sponsored by the United Jewish war efforts campaign for medical field units for the soviet union, will be held at the Standard club, Sunday night. Max Bressler, campaign chairman, and H. B. Ritman, executive director, will be among the speakers.

Today with Women

Jane Beckwith, Francis Crowe Will Wed Soon

BY JUDITH CASS.

ADD to the long list of speedy war time marriages that of Miss Jane Beckwith to Francis T. Crowe, which will take place next week, before he returns to his duties with the army medical corps at Brigham City, Utah. Mr. Crowe, son of Judge and Mrs. Robert E. Crowe, arrived in Chicago on Wednesday, and yesterday Miss Beckwith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Beckwith of East Cedar street, announced the engagement of their daughter to the young army man.

Miss Beckwith, one of the near north side's prettiest young women, attended the Girls' Latin school, Farmington, and the Career institute. Mr. Crowe was graduated from the Boys' Latin school and attended Georgetown university.

From their home in Burlington, Vt., Capt. and Mrs. Frederick V. Burgess have sent word of the engagement of Mrs. Burgess' daughter, Miss Catherine McIlvaine, to Ensign John H. McDonald of the navy, son of Mrs. Cecil A. McDonald of Tulsa, Okla. Miss McIlvaine, whose father is John H. McIlvaine of Bryn Mawr, Pa., lived in Lake Forest until a few years ago. She was graduated from the Masters school at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., in 1940, and now is attending the Juilliard School of Music in New York.

Ensign McDonald was graduated from the United States Naval academy in June and now is on active duty. No wedding plans have been made.

Future Events.

Art connoisseurs and friends of Dr. and Mrs. James Herbert Mitchell are being invited to a preview of water colors and lithographs by the Mitchells' talented daughter, Miss Joan Mitchell, at 4:30 p. m. on Monday at the Francis W. Parker school, where the exhibit will be hanging thru next week. Miss Mitchell, who is now back at her studies at Smith college, has been studying art for several years, and spent last summer at the summer school of the Art institute at Saugatuck, Mich., where she worked with Malcolm Hackett, Francis Chapin and George Buehr, all of the institute.

Joseph T. Ryerson, who maintains an active interest in the school at Saugatuck, and Mrs. Ryerson; the Walter Brewsters, Mrs. Walter P. Paepcke, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Adams, Mrs. Byron S. Harvey, and Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw, head of the Arts club, are some of those invited to the preview. The youthful artist sold two of her lithographs this summer. None of her oils will be shown, as the canvases are too large.

A collection of over 200 cartoons by John T. McCutcheon, dean of American cartoonists, will be opened with a preview on Sunday, Oct. 31, at the Chicago Historical society. The exhibit will be opened to the public the following day. The cartoons range from some executed at the age of 12, when Mr. McCutcheon was editor, illustrator and printer of the Elston, Ind., News, to his comments on the present war. Many of them have appeared on the front pages of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Three illustrated lectures by Betty Browning Marshall will be given at the society on Sunday afternoons, beginning this Sunday, when her subject will be the World's Fair of 1893.

Birth.

Lt. and Mrs. Wyndham Hasler [Cornelia Ranney] became the parents of their second son on Wednesday in Ithaca, N. Y., while the baby's maternal grandmother, Mrs. George A. Ranney, was in the midst of the St. Luke's Fashion show. The baby is the sixth grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ranney. The new arrival's paternal grandmother is Mrs. Edward L. Hasler. Lt. Hasler is instructing in the navy at Cornell university.

Today's Calendar.

Mrs. Adlai S. Stevenson will be among those at the speaker's table at a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations at 12:30 p. m. today in the Palmer House where her husband will speak on "One War, One Peace." Mr. Stevenson, a former president of the council, is special assistant to the secretary of the navy. Others at the speaker's table will be the president of the council, Frederic C. Woodward; the Donald F. McPhersons, Elmer Stevens, Capt. and Mrs. Benyuard B. Wygant, and the Richard Bentleys. Some of those who have taken tables for the meeting are Mrs. William Gold Hibbard, Walter R. Kirk, Mrs. Solomon A. Smith, Mrs. Henry M. Dawes, Mrs. William H. Bush Jr., Mr. and Mrs. G. Corson Ellis, the Walter Lichtensteins, Calvin Fentress, McPherson Holt, and Mrs. Byron S. Harvey. In Chicago to hear her brother speak is Mrs. Ernest L. Ives of Bloomington, Ill.

The Druce Lake camp for underprivileged children will benefit from a rummage sale to be held today and tomorrow at the corner of Deerpath and Western avenues in Lake Forest. In charge of the sale are Mrs. John Broeksmit, Mrs. Ellsworth Faris, Mrs. Francis S. North, and Mrs. Ralph E. Milman.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

Service Wife.

It really does not matter now
How long ago they wed;
Or when she last reached out and placed
Her arms around his head.

The trying truth is in the fact
His name is on her door
And he has closed it quietly
And he has gone to war.

She cannot sleep and dream in peace
While he is far away;
She cannot wake and smile her best
To greet another day.

But she must read the public print
Of fighting overseas,
And mingle hopes and prayers and tears
With happy memories.

And she must bravely face the skies
However dark or dim;
For she must do her part at home
And carry on for him.

CORP. G. P. MILLER.

The above verse came to this column with a note signed "Service Wife" asking it be printed and saying it appeared originally in the Oran daily Stars and Stripes.

First Day on the Job.

I recently began my business career with a large organization. My job is a small one, but the first day I began to work there a good looking, easy to read name plate was on my desk. My name looked well on it! Yes, I know many companies put plates like these on the desks of those in the executive and near executive class, but we beginners like to be called by name, too.

The first day the boss introduced me to the people I'd see most frequently and turned me over to a girl who works near me. She introduced me to more than I could remember in one day, then took me to lunch with four other girls in the company cafeteria where the check was paid by the company to welcome me that first day. I have met more people since then and find that every one seems to keep the friendly attitude the company emphasizes so well. Yesterday at lunch we were discussing how long each of us had worked there. I remarked I had been there one month and one of the girls said spontaneously, "Has it really been just a month? Why, I feel we've been friends a long time." THE BEGINNER.

Dis and Data.

Increased paper work during war time is bringing filing to the fore. One supervisor, quoted in the Filing Bulletin, says, "I like my file clerks to have two years of college. If college has done nothing else for them, it has given them an analytical mind." . . . Recent estimates place the cost of lipstick for the American women at $18,130,000 a year, rouge $6,720,000, and manicure preparations $13,880,000 yearly. No small fraction of this comes from the white collar girls' pocketbooks. . . . A mother, Grace Saunders, in a du Pont plant has taken over the job of her son [who enlisted in the navy]. She performs his exact tasks while her boy wears the navy blue.

Study of Aircraft Instruments Becomes New Field for Women

BY KATE MASSEE.

Women in two kinds of uniform are learning to be aircraft instrument technicians at the Chicago School of Aircraft Instruments at 2200 Lawrence avenue, Chicago. They are the WAVES, engaged in a type of training new to members of the women's reserve of the United States naval reserve, and the WAITs, who are being taught the techniques of airplane instruments by the army thru civil service.

The new WAVES school is known as the naval training school of the women's reserve of the navy, and is under the jurisdiction of Adm. Albert C. Read of the naval air technical training command. At the present time, approximately 150 navy women are enrolled in the course, which consists of three weeks of basic training in shop work, and 12 weeks in any of three different curricula: Mechanical instruments, electrical instruments, and gyroscopic instruments. Skills shown during basic training, determine which of the special courses the young women will take.

In the classes the WAVES learn aircraft instrument overhaul, which consists of disassembling aircraft instruments, repairing, reassembling, and calibrating. After successful completion of the course, the young women, who come to the school as seamen second class from the indoctrination school at Hunter college, New York City, are assigned to naval air stations thruout the United States.

Lt. R. B. Shaffer, U. S. N. R., is officer in charge of the school, which is the first of its kind for WAVES in the Chicago area. Ensigns Roberta Fancher and Marvis Halford have charge of administrative duties. WAVES enrolled in the school live in two barracks, study in two training buildings, and have a handsome recreation room.

The school for WAITs [women aircraft instrument technicians] was first instituted in November of last year. The 400th WAIT was graduated yesterday. There are approximately 23 women in each class, with a class graduating every week from the course, which consists of 12 weeks of training. The WAITs, who are accepted thru civil service, receive $120 per month while training, and upon graduation are assigned to army air force depots thruout the country.

Their civil service salaries range from $1,500 to $1,860 per year, depending upon skill, with an average monthly pay of $155 to $187.50. Women interested in WAITs training, which has a definite post-war future in the commercial aviation industry, should apply to the regional director of civil service, J. A. Connor, New Postoffice building, Chicago. Women now in war work of another type, but not employed at their highest skill, must furnish certificates of availability from their present employers before applying.

Philip A. Small is dean of students for the entire training setup at the Chicago School of Aircraft Instruments, which also has a course for civilians. The latter, however, is not tuition-free.

Girl Reserves Meet Tomorrow to Plan Ambitious Program

High school girls who are leaders in the Y. W. C. A. Girl Reserve clubs of Chicago will be in session from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m. tomorrow at the loop center Y. W. C. A. to consider ways and means of bettering their last year's ambitious record of war service projects. This is the first fall meeting of the girls' city-wide interclub council.

Miss Betty Lyle, new executive of the Y. W. C. A. girl reserve department, who will direct the meeting, believes adults pondering the problem of current juvenile delinquency might take a tip from these youthful leaders, whose war work last year included everything from war gardens and salvage drives to child nursemaid and junior hospital aid service. It is Miss Lyle's contention that not enough emphasis is placed on the present constructive accomplishments of young citizens, the large majority of whom, she believes, are intent on winning the war.

20 U. of Illinois Sorority Chapters Pledge 348 Women

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 7 [Special].—A total of 348 women have been pledged by 20 Pan-Hellenic sororities on the University of Illinois campus, following six days of rushing. Informal rushing during the following several days is expected to increase the number considerably. Included in those pledged are approximately 150 from Chicago and Cook county.

Fraternities did not hold formal rushing this year, as less than a dozen chapter houses are open this fall.

Registration will be held tomorrow and Saturday, and Monday and Tuesday and classes will open next Wednesday morning.

Thru the Looking Glass

The time is almost up for sending Christmas packages overseas and if you are still looking around for little gifts to tuck in the corners of a box before sending it on its way, perhaps the following suggestions will be helpful:

A pocket comb and a nail file. Of course he had these necessary little items when he went off to service, but chances are he will welcome them at this point. They're the used-every-day things that for all their importance have a way of disappearing in a hurry. He will be grateful for a replacement or won't mind having a spare set on hand. If he is well equipped, he probably has a buddy to whom he can make a present of them.

Dressing for his hair. Believe it or not, there is one on the market still available in tubes, packable and free of the hazard of breakage. It's an excellent product, nongreasy but a fine aid for hair that is apt to be dried out and brittle. He can massage it with great benefit into the scalp before a shampoo and use it every day to keep the hair in place. It's convenient and easy to use and has a faint, pleasant scent. He will like it, too, because it won't soil or leave an ugly stain on his hatband.

One of the most practical of all "filler" gifts is a lip pomade, medicated and a real help in relieving the pain of parched or chapped lips. There's nothing fancy about it, it's strictly utilitarian and boys in any part of the world will appreciate receiving one. Sun, wind, and extremes of weather can cause lip irritations that are highly uncomfortable and this little medicated stick will heal and soothe and form a protective shield against further damage.

Woman's Club Ready to Yield Last 2 Floors of Its Building to U. S.

"Chicago Woman's club members consider it part of their war time service to coöperate in every way possible with the war department," Mrs. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, president, said yesterday in discussing plans of the war department to take over the balance of the club's building at 72 East 11th street. Last November the four upper floors of the building were leased, leaving only two for the club's meetings. The four floors have been used to house personnel and classes for a war department school.

Among the locations being considered by the club, the favored is the Fine Arts building, which housed the organization until the present club building was erected in the 1920s.

Another meeting of the club board is being held this morning in the club building to complete negotiations with the war department.

Short Evening Gowns Bright at Necklines

BY REA SEEGER.

There has been a definite approval of the short evening gown, even tho most women have decided to wear such abbreviated glory for Sunday night suppers or for informal war time dinner and evening parties. Since most of these short affairs are plain and simple as to skirt and silhouette, it must be the top frosting of ribbon, net lace, sequins, beads, and embroidery that has clicked.

Necklines are flatteringly low and decorative. Some of the most effective are those with pastel colored ribbon used for garniture, while others have what is modestly known as illusion covering, which is a mere film of net or chiffon as thin as nothing at all from a distance.

The black chiffon yokes are devastating, and when they twinkle with thousands of jet beads or sequins, you have something breath taking. Artificial flowers have come back, especially huge cabbage roses of silk and chiffon, and these handmade flowers make the smartest neck lines of these short gowns.

Fringe is another revival, used profusely on skirt, sleeves as well as bodice. There's an undated effectiveness to this animated trim detail that is difficult to achieve with any other trimming devices.

The Victorian bauble fringe and tassels do a handsome job of decorating slim sheaths of dull crepe or satin. You can find these newest short evening gowns in every fall and winter collection, featured in daringly low decolletage, or a modified version of the halter neck line, or the shallow bateau neck lines, and variations of each. Sleeves are in all lengths, from the merest bands of ribbon over the shoulders to the long, full, airy affairs of chiffon or lace spangled with sequins.

Point Saving Cakes Gain in Popularity

Extravagant cake recipes have been filed away to be used only on special occasions, and point saving cakes are gaining in popularity. The cake made with graham crackers has a delicate, sweet flavor which doesn't depend on generous amounts of shortening and sugar for its success, and the one egg cake is always in style, for it's comparatively inexpensive to make and its size is just about right for the average family.

Graham Cracker Cake.

[Two 8 inch layers.]

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ⅛ cup vegetable shortening
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ¾ cup sugar
- 2 eggs, separated
- ⅞ cup sifted flour
- 2½ teaspoons baking powder
- 1⅛ cups graham cracker crumbs
- ¾ cup milk

Blend butter, shortening, salt, and vanilla. Add sugar gradually, mixing until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks one at a time, mixing thoroly. Sift together flour and baking powder and mix with cracker crumbs. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk to the egg mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in 8 inch greased layer cake pans at 375 degrees for about 25 minutes.

One Egg Cake.

[Two 8 inch layers.]

- ¼ cup shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 2 cups sifted flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ¾ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream shortening; adding sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Beat egg well and add. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with the milk and vanilla. Beat until smooth. Turn into greased layer cake pans and bake in moderately hot oven [375 degrees] for 25 minutes. Frost as desired.

"The Chimney Crashed"

By Alice Ormond Campbell

Copyright: 1943: by Alice Ormond Campbell

SYNOPSIS: Lady Hyacinth calls at the office of her husband, Peter Gloam, and demands money for a venture in shipping antiques to America. With her are her two cousins, Joanna Fripp and Cyril Brockett. Wren Dancey is Peter's secretary; Sam Molesey, the bookkeeper, and Harold the office boy. The office has been bombed. Ronald, now Capt. Warre, calls to see his uncle. Sound of falling bricks is heard in the inner office where Lady Hyacinth and Peter are quarreling. After a loud thud Lady Hyacinth calls for help. Peter has suffered a stroke. Before he is buried and during a violent air raid, Lady Hyacinth arranges for removal of their furniture, by van, to a Dorset cottage. Parker, the cook, tries to tell Wren of the amazing things Lady Hyacinth has been doing, but, interrupted, she runs to an air raid shelter, and on the way is murdered. One of the van drivers, Mike Riley, is the next victim of foul play. A bomb has sent Lady Hyacinth to the hospital with a broken leg. She sends Wren to Dorset to look after the furniture. Wren is happy to be alone, but her rejoicing is cut short, for Joanna descends upon her. There are strange noises in the cottage, and the local constable warns Wren of a light showing, but on investigation she finds nothing. The body of the constable is found near a brush. Cyril, his arm in a sling, arrives with Lady Hyacinth's cat, as an excuse. Sam Molesey drives him down. Groucho, the cat, leads Wren and Cyril to a grewsome discovery—blood and a tuft of the constable's hair under Lady Hyacinth's antique bed. Cyril persuades Wren it would be unwise to disclose this piece of evidence, and tells her a service man's button was found in the constable's hand. Ronald arrives. He is sure Lady Hyacinth hid something she plans to dispose of illegally, and that Cyril and Joanna are after it, too. Police call at Foxgloves cottage and talk to Wren, Joanna, and Capt. Warre, from whose coat a button is missing. They search Ronald's car.

INSTALMENT XVII.

LEM SUSPECTED.

Wren's spirits lifted. This was the Ronald she knew—candid, feckless, wholly disarming. The Ronald who had rough-and-tumbled all over North America, landing back at Southampton with just enough cash to stand her a parting drink.

"Last night," Wren harped, walking on slowly toward the white gate. "Can you look me in the eye and swear you did honestly see some man out front?"

"A two-legged imitation of one unless bushes go diving into hip pockets! This one did just that. And I'm not kidding you either when I repeat that he slid round toward the back, only I made my entrance first—and fell over a can.

"It was too dark for me to see more than a moving shape, it's a dead cert he couldn't identify me. I'd say your reputation's safe enough. Glad?"

She shook off the encircling arm. "That's a thing to lose sleep over," she snapped, angry over her flush. "And you may as well know I haven't entirely fallen for your handout. I still fail to see why you couldn't make this place before 2 a. m."

"Have you done any black-out driving along corkscrew, uncharted lanes?" Ronald hesitated. "I didn't park here, incidentally. I doused my lights and ran the Morris into a cart track farther afield."

Her step lagged. "Why did you do that?" she blurted; and then, as he said nothing at all. "I'm getting it," she whispered swiftly. "You intended to sneak into your aunt's cottage and out again all on the q. t. You made it late on purpose. It was just rotten luck for you that I happened to be awake. You scared the life out of me and had to string me a tale. No, don't cut in! You were there, you wanted to finish. You just did your deep breathing stunt till I'd dropped off, then you hiked right along to the small room and went thru the carved chest."

"It was you, then! And I'd have lumped it on Jo. Look, Ronald Warre, I'm planted here to see nothing's taken out of this house."

"You won't be. Calm down. For your comfort, not a saltspoon's been taken. That chest is full of junk. I'd have excavated the big boxes up above if it hadn't been for Joanna and—"

"So," she said skeptically, "you're just backing some hunch. I'll admit I've been doing that, too. In fact,"—her cheeks burned—"it's what I'm here for. Minding your interests. Or trying to.—Have you seen your uncle's will?"

"Not yet," he answered evasively. "The formal reading is being postponed till Hyacinth's able to attend. Old Stump, the solicitor, has written me, tho, not going into details. Come close. When you heard about the Monday night killing in Bexminster did it—well, start any ideas?"

Her gaze met him. "In a way," she muttered. "Particularly when I heard how it was done—and where. It's probably the purest coincidence that both these murders took place bang up against Lady Hyacinth's antiques; and yet—well, I can make a fair sized guess as to who our last night's burglar must have been."

"Who?" he fired swiftly.

"Why, the other van driver, Lem Gallus! It stands out a mile. It just fits in with his haunting this cottage as he did all yesterday."

"You mean what can he be hoping to pinch? Something portable," Ronald said measuringly.

"Your aunt did most of the actual packing. She was at some such job when the big wallop knocked us flat. And did it stop her? I'll say it didn't. By the time I'd managed to stagger to the drawing room door she was pulled together somehow and struggling to carry on. Leg crumpled under her, blood trickling down her face, there she was, stuffing away with her old newspapers—yes, what?"

"Stuffing newspapers into what?" Ronald asked sharply.

Wren frowned. "Not a packing case," she mused. "It must have been a hat box or a bag, tho I can't remember noticing. . . . I do know this, she was all alone. Sam got pinned in the linen closet, didn't he? Joanna? In the study, I think. Cyril was where?"

"In the dining room, with me. That's so, for some considerable time Hyacinth did have the drawing room to herself, didn't she?"

His strayed eyes came back to her face. "You loathe Hyacinth, don't you?" he asked queerly. "Thinking like me, I suppose, that it's thru her deviltry poor old Peter pegged out?"

"Ronald! Stop playing the fool."

"Maybe not," he said coolly. "Still I've seen some of her real tantrums. . . . There's madness in her family, did you know?"

"What I do know," she said carefully, "is that after the chimney tumbled down and your uncle got slightly hurt, human decency would have made him rest, simmer down, not locked the door and gone on nagging till—till—"

"No," Ronald made deliberate answer. "Just repetitions. Hyacinth wanted to sell something or other in America but couldn't wangle it without Peter's consent."

"If your uncle objected, it means she'd no legal right."

"Or moral. With Peter it would come to the same thing. You assumed it was my books, but dash it all, Wren, two throats have been slashed. Besides, if the books are still intact?"

"They are," Wren confirmed. "And then, Ronald, the light!"

"Lights?" He turned. "What lights?"

"Coming from this cottage on Tuesday night and again on Thursday. A home guard knocked to warn me about fines."

As she gave the whole incident, his eyes regained their strained uneasiness—watching her, as tho she might be keeping some item back.

"Thursday night too! You say Joanna had arrived. That fact mayn't have been realized, of course. . . . See who's coming?" Ronald motioned to the main road, then gave a chuckle. "All boys together. Cyril—and Sam!"

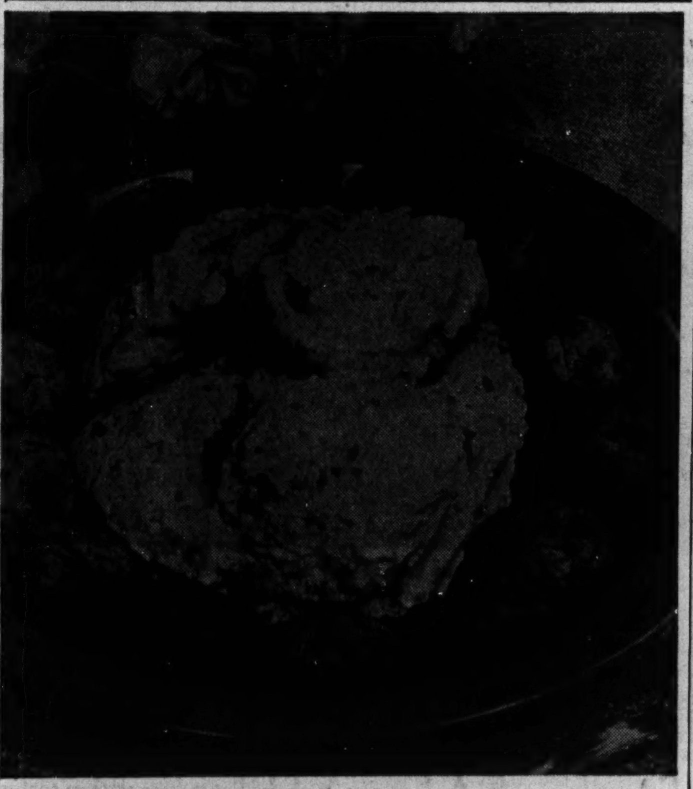
Honey Krisp Ice Cream



Here's a homemade ice cream which is economical yet rich in flavor: Crush 3 cups oven popped rice cereal, mix in heavy frying pan with 3 tablespoons margarine, ⅓ cup brown sugar, and ½ cup chopped, toasted nutmeats. Cook until sugar caramelizes slightly. Cool and crumble. Chill 1⅔ cups evaporated milk thoroly and whip until stiff. Beat two eggs with ⅓ cup honey, add 1 teaspoon vanilla, and fold into whipped milk. Partially freeze, then mix with ¾ of crumb mixture. Pack into freezing trays and sprinkle with rest of crumbs. Mary Meade Prizes for Recipes Lead to Printing of Booklet

Prize winning recipes seem to have a great deal of appeal for recipe collectors. Not many months after the opening of the Mary Meade Recipe contest, readers were querying, "Why don't you make a collection of these recipes and print them in booklet form?" Accordingly, when the contest had been running for six months, such a collection of recipes was made, covering 11 classifications: appetizers and soups, breads, cakes and cookies, casserole dishes, confections, desserts, fish and meats, pies, salads and dressings, vegetable dishes, and miscellaneous recipes.

This handsome little booklet, with stiff blue cover and bold, legible type, contains nearly 200 recipes, all of which have been carefully tested by members of the Tribune cooking department staff and awarded $5 prizes.

To obtain "Prize Winning Recipes," send 30 cents in stamps to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune, or you may pick up a copy at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower, for 25 cents.

LEA & PERRINS SAUCE THE ORIGINAL WORCESTERSHIRE

Fine Desserts Can Be Made Using Plums

Orchards are yielding an abundance of plump, juicy plums this autumn so you'll have ample opportunity to enjoy the fresh fruit as it comes from the market basket, to can and preserve it, and turn it into some good old fashioned desserts.

Choose the large wine colored, royal purple or yellow plums for eating out of hand but save the small dark blue Damson plums for cooking. As a general rule, they are generally too astringent to be appreciated in the raw state.

Firm fleshed, well ripened plums are the most satisfactory for canning. As a general rule, they are canned with skins on. Prick with a needle to prevent bursting, dip in hot water and cool immediately. To shrink the fruit, simmer for five minutes in a medium sirup [one cup sugar to two cups water] if tart, or a thinner sirup if sweeter plums are used. Pack into hot, sterilized jars and fill to within ½ inch of top of jar with sirup in which plums were cooked. Process for 20 minutes in hot water bath.

Damson or other small, tart plums, the larger green gage, red or purple plums may be used for pie making. If the large, sweet plums are chosen, a cup of sugar will be sufficient for the filling. Use 1½ cups sugar for tart plums.

Fresh Plum Pie.

[9 inch pie.]

- 3 cups seeded plums
- 1 to 1⅓ cups sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
- Pastry

Seed plums and cut them into pieces if they are large. Mix flour, sugar, and salt with plums and let stand while pastry is being mixed. Beat the egg and add to the filling with the melted butter. Pour the mixture into a pastry lined pan and cover with lattice strips. Bake in a 450 degree oven for 10 minutes. Reduce heat and continue baking for about 30 minutes longer at moderate temperature, 350 degrees.

Quick Plum Cake.

- 2 cups sifted flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 2½ teaspoons baking powder
- 4 tablespoons shortening
- 1 egg, beaten
- ¾ cup milk
- 8 plums, halved
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Sift flour, salt, sugar, and baking powder together. Cut in shortening with pastry blender or two knives. Add beaten egg and milk, mixing well. Spread mixture in greased square pan. Top with plums, cut side down, and sprinkle with mixture of sugar and cinnamon. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 45 minutes.

Stretch Butter by Using Fruit Spread Over It

A little butter will go a long way at the table if a fruity spread is served along with everyday meals. And sliced enriched or whole grain bread, hot baking powder biscuits, tender yeast rolls and muffins will all seem equally delectable when they're topped with a spoonful of some luscious fruit butter.

Any fleshy fruit may be used to make the "butter," or the pulp leftover from jelly making may go into the spread if you like. In the latter case, add a small amount of water to the pulp and boil for 3 to 5 minutes before proceeding with the recipe.

While not absolutely necessary, it is advisable to process fruit butters in the hot water bath for a short time to safeguard their keeping qualities.

Old-Fashioned Apple Butter.

- 1 peck apples
- 1 gallon sweet cider
- 6 cups sugar
- 1 tablespoon cinnamon
- ½ tablespoon cloves

Wash and slice apples. Add cider and cook until soft, then press thru a sieve. Boil the strained pulp until it is thick enough to heap on a spoon, then add sugar mixed with spices and continue boiling until so thick that no liquid runs from the butter when tested on a cold plate. Pour white hot into hot jars. Process for 10 minutes in hot water bath.

Oven Baked Spiced Apple Butter.

- 1 gallon cooked, sieved apples
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- 2 teaspoons allspice
- 6 cups sugar
- 3 cups cider vinegar

Mix apple pulp with the 2 cups sugar and spices. Spread in a shallow baking pan and bake in a 350 degree oven until thick. Add remaining sugar and vinegar and cook until thick, stirring occasionally to prevent sticking.

Cantaloupe Butter.

Remove rind and seed from ripe melons. Cut melon into small pieces. Add just enough water to prevent fruit from sticking. Boil until soft, then press thru a sieve. Measure pulp. Add from 1 to 1½ cups sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, and 1 teaspoon cinnamon or other spices to each quart of pulp. Boil until thick. Pour while hot into sterilized jars. Process for 10 minutes in hot water bath.

Peach Butter.

Wash peaches. Pare or rub with cloth to remove fuzz. Discard seed. Cook peaches until soft in their own juice or in just enough water to prevent sticking. Press thru sieve. Add from ½ to ¾ cup sugar for each cup of pulp. Boil rapidly until thick. Pour into sterilized jars. Process for 10 minutes in hot water bath.

Grape Butter.

- 4 quarts stemmed grapes
- 8 cups sugar
- ½ cup vinegar
- 1 tablespoon ground spices

Wash, stem and squeeze grapes to separate pulp from skins. Put skins thru food chopper. Boil the skins 20 minutes with just enough water to prevent sticking. Cook the pulp, without water, until soft. Rub thru colander to remove seeds. Combine pulp and skins. Add sugar, vinegar, cinnamon, cloves, or other spices to suit taste. Boil until thick. Pour into hot jars and process for 10 minutes in hot water bath.

Pear Butter.

Wash, pare, and core ripe pears. Add just enough water to prevent sticking. Cook until soft, then press thru a sieve. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg [or other spices] and from 1 to 1½ cups sugar to each quart of pulp. Boil rapidly until thick. Pour into hot jars and process for 10 minutes in hot water bath.

Plum Butter.

Wash plums. Cook until soft with water to cover. Rub thru colander to remove seed. Add from ½ to ¾ cup sugar for each cup of pulp. Boil rapidly until thick. Pour into hot jars and process 10 minutes in hot water bath.

Tomato Butter.

Wash and chop firm, ripe tomatoes. Cook until soft, then press thru sieve to remove skins and seeds. Drain off excess juice. Measure pulp and add 1 tablespoon lemon juice and from 1 to 1½ cups sugar to each pint of pulp. Boil rapidly until thick. Pour into hot jars and process 10 minutes in hot water bath.

Quick and Thrifty—Star Lamb Grill!

Nearly everyone likes lamb, so there's no reason why you shouldn't have it often these days. For even though loin chops are harder to get, you can make a grand meal with lamb shoulder chops! They're thriftier, too . . . in price and in points!

Star Lamb Grill is an easy-to-fix lamb feast that's sure to click. It's a big plate of tasty, juicy Star Lamb Shoulder Chops flanked by tender whole cooked carrots and colorful broiled tomato halves.

You place 4 Star Lamb Shoulder Chops on your broiler rack with 2 halved tomatoes that have been topped with bread crumbs mixed with melted butter and seasoned. We recommend Armour's Star Lamb Shoulder Chops because it's young lamb . . . tender and mildly flavored.

Put the rack 4 inches under heating unit and broil 6-7 minutes. Season chops and turn. At the same time add 8 small whole carrots, already cooked. Brush with melted drippings. Broil chops, carrots and tomatoes another 6-7 minutes. Remove from broiler . . . it's a savory lamb feast for 4 persons.

These Sandwich Loaves Make an Attractive Dish

Surprise sandwich loaves make a lovely picture on the serving platter. Cut fresh bread slices, ⅜ inch thick, into rounds. Make 3-decker sandwiches; olive, pecan, and egg salad for one layer; tomato slices and mayonnaise for the second, and chicken salad for the third. Press sandwiches under bread board covered with waxed paper. Frost with softened cream cheese and roll sides in chopped pecan meats. Decorate with flower patterns made with green pepper stems and leaves, ripe olives, pimiento, cheese, hard cooked egg white, and anchovy paste for petals. Ripe olives make attractive grapes.

Upside-Down Cakes Can Be Prepared in Individual Sizes, Too

A dozen of these little fruit-topped cakes won't last long when the children discover them. They'll emerge from the lunch box, too, moist and fresh and good to the last bite.

Individual Upside-Down Cakes.
[One dozen.]

- ¼ cup shortening
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1 egg, beaten
- ½ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1¼ cups flour
- 1¼ teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup margarine
- ½ cup brown sugar
- 2 cups fresh or cooked fruit, drained

Cream together the ¼ cup shortening and granulated sugar. Beat egg, add milk and vanilla. Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt; add alternately with egg mixture to creamed mixture. Mix until smooth. Melt margarine and add brown sugar. Put equal amounts into greased muffin pans; place fruit in muffin pans and top with batter, filling ⅔ full. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 30 to 40 minutes. Cool, carefully remove from pans, and invert on cake plate.

Good Morning!

Sometimes, as I leave a theater, I find myself wondering as to what episode of the picture I've just seen will stick the longest in your minds. My guess as to "No Escape" is the sequence in which the young Nazi soldier goes Lady MacBeth. Not "all the perfumes of Araby" could "sweeten her little hands"—and there comes a horrible moment when faces of the helpless he has butchered arise to haunt the young Hitlerite . . . and refuse to let him say them nay. . . . You won't forget the incident in a hurry. . . .

"No Escape" starts excitingly and maintains suspense. A clever counterfeiter is helped to escape from the penitentiary for reasons unknown to him. Outside the prison grounds he is picked up by supposed guards and conveyed to safety in a car ostensibly belonging to the state police. . . . He learns that he is to work for the Nazis, counterfeiting various currencies, steamship passes and the like.

His "office" is in the administration building of a penny arcade and his boss is Mr. Martin, whose ostensible business is running the amusement center, various concessions of which he uses in his real activities which consist of sabotage.

Now clever, handsome, casual Torgut Lane has been a crook, but he's no Benedict Arnold. . . . The manner in which he manages to outwit the Nazis is one for the books and you'll enjoy knowing about it. . . . His guard is the Lady MacBethian German soldier. . . .

Dean Jagger is forceful and colorful as Torgut Lane. For the life of me I don't understand why he isn't in more movies! Then, you have John Carradine as the saboteur chief. He's an ace too—as you know. . . . An unknown plays the guard convincingly and Mary Brian is nice as the Arcade girl who finds herself suddenly swimming around in intrigue. Excellent direction.

See you tomorrow.

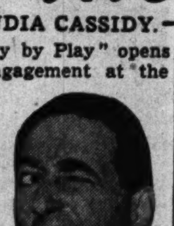
on the Aisle

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.



Pvt. Jules Munshin

"The Army Play by Play" opens a three week engagement at the Studebaker Monday night, Oct. 18, to benefit army emergency relief. This is the soldier show of five prize winning, one act plays punctuated by such soldier specialties as the interlude by Pvt. Jules Munshin, who pungently illustrates what would happen if Maurice Evans and John Gielgud were reduced to being Shakespearean train announcers. Considering that this very show coaxed $133,000 from New York last June 14 when its first performance came to the financial rescue of the Soldiers and Sailors club, you may anticipate some fancy prices. Not at all. The box office scale ranges from 75 cents to $2.50, and after the first week there will be Sunday night performances. Mail orders are being filled now, and the box office opens next Tuesday.

Despite the presence of 83 men in khaki, "The Army Play by Play" is not to be confused with "This Is the Army," which was the beloved brainchild of one remarkable man, Irving Berlin. "The Army Play by Play" is the soldiers' own show. They wrote it, they act in it, and civilians as well as soldiers like it. This is, briefly, how it happened:

John Golden, the New York producer known in two world wars for the generosity of his work in entertainment for morale, decided that to give soldiers a wealth of professional entertainment is necessary, but not enough. "Let the boys write their own shows," he said, and started that very thing by organizing the John Golden Second Service Command One Act Prize Play contest for enlisted men. I hope you don't mind if I refer to this from now on as Mr. Golden's contest.

He put up the money and snagged as additional judges such celebrated playwrights as Frederick Lonsdale, Russel Crouse, Elmer Rice, and Kenyon Nicholson, and he thought perhaps a dozen stage struck soldiers would send in plays. He got 115, and the quality was so high 50 of them now are being prepared for distribution to soldier theaters all over the world. The prize winning five, to be shown here, are "Where E'er We Go," by Pvt. John B. O'Dea; "First Cousins," by Corp. Kurt S. Kaszner; "Button Your Lip," by Corp. Irving Gaynor Neiman; "Mail Call," by former Air Cadet, now Lt. Ralph Nelson, and "Pack Up Your Troubles," by Pvt. Alfred D. Geto.

These salty soldier plays turned out to be too good for a one night stand, even a night that set a new box office record for a nonmusical, nonstar show. So "The Army Play By Play" was turned over to army emergency relief, and has been playing at regular prices ever since.

Altho there were only four professional actors in "The Army Play by Play" the night it opened, it now holds a handful of discoveries who possess handsome post-war offers from Broadway and Hollywood. Typical of how material was recruited is the tale of Pvt. Max Lanner who leads the orchestra. Someone saw him waving a stick on the sidelines during rehearsals and glimpsed a professional pulse in those gyrations. "Are you a conductor?" he demanded. "Well, yes," admitted Pvt. Max, "I was a conductor in Vienna." So Pvt. Max conducts, and I want to know if he comes from the famous Lanners of Vienna. Joseph Lanner was Johann Strauss' major rival, and Kathie Lanner was so celebrated a dancer she became a character in "The Great Waltz." However, if true, this artistic background sets no precedent. Pvt. Munshin of the Shakespearean train noises, used to be a state official in New Jersey.

"Janie" has made up its mind to open at the Civic theater Sunday night, Oct. 17.

Spanking Child May Not Gain His Obedience

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Is the little fellow next door ill or is it just temper?" asked a woman of her hostess. "I've been here three days and it seems to me he's been crying most of the time."

"I know," came the answer. "He's a dear little chap and quite healthy, but his parents don't believe in sparing the rod. He's always been slapped or spanked. He fares worse at the hands of his mother than he does when his father is at home. They seem to love the child, but they certainly don't understand him."

Because the motives for spanking a child vary, this problem isn't as simple as it might seem on the surface. There are people who believe that sparing the rod actually does spoil the child. They spank when their cool judgment would tell them it is unnecessary to do so. And there are some parents who spank or slap in a moment of anger, but who are usually sorry they did it afterward. These are all fairly simple, direct motives for spanking a child.

But there are other motives which quite often manifest themselves in more frequent and more severe physical chastising, such as whipping and beating. These are more complex and can often be traced to a buried personality-difficulty in the grown person dealing with the child.

Those who fall into the first group of spankers, those with the simple motives, usually can be reasoned out of this form of management by convincing them of two things: One, the tendency to destroy a nice relationship; two, the utter futility.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 diamond [!]	Pass
3 no trump	Double	Pass	Pass
Redouble	Pass	Pass	Pass

The contract of three no trump redoubled had a most unhappy ending. West opened the heart queen, declarer won and laid down the diamond king. Naturally, West allowed this to hold, and looked closely for his partner's follow-suit card. There is a conventional signal to be used in situations of this type. When dummy has a suit without an outside entry, one defender is supposed to "tell" the other precisely how many cards he holds in dummy's suit. This is done by means of playing the lowest card from precisely three, or a higher card from any other holding. Thus, when East followed to the diamond king with the deuce, West knew that declarer had started with either two or four diamonds. Hence, when the second diamond was led, West went right up with the ace. If declarer had two diamonds, there was no need to hold off; if declarer had four diamonds, it would do no good to hold off. It may be seen that the use of the convention kept dummy from taking even one trick.

To make a sad story short, the defenders collected two hearts, one spade, one diamond, and two clubs for a total of 1,000 points.

Mrs. Bill W., Racine, Wis.—This is my method of removing those annoying lipstick stains from table napkins. I rub some cold cream on the spot and let it stay for a short while. Then I make a mixture of washing soda, soap and water, and soak again for a few minutes. After this I wash as usual, and the spot is gone.

Mrs. Fred S., Chicago—I wonder why some tasteless liquid hasn't been concocted which will insure fresh fruit from turning brown when the air gets to it?

Elinor G., Waterloo, Ia.—If I use a wax crayon and label my canning jars while they are hot, I've found the crayon labels won't rub off.

afternoon for a card party given by the women's guild of the Presbyterian church of Lake Forest.

The woman's board of the Travelers Aid society is entertaining at tea from 4 to 7 p. m. today for the 600 volunteer workers of the society and for Mrs. Alice Stibb Peterson, who recently joined the staff of the agency as administrative supervisor of volunteers. Mrs. Edward Benninghoven is chairman of arrangements for the tea. Some of those assisting her are Miss Lillian and Miss Myrtle Lampert, Mrs. John L. Haverkampf III., and Mrs. Paul Holinger. Mrs. Edwin W. Sims Jr. is president of the board. Miss Marjorie Kimball heads the volunteers.

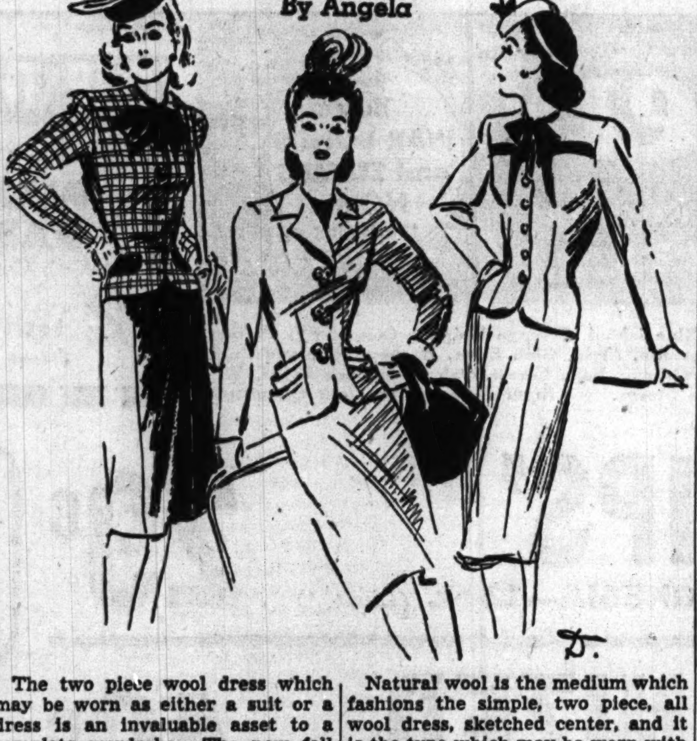
Engagements.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers A. Fiske of Wilmette have announced the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Lee, to Lt. Donald Dirck Brinckerhoff, U. S. N. R., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Brinckerhoff of Larchmont, N. Y. The wedding will take place on Oct. 16 in the John Timothy Stone chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church. Miss Fiske was graduated from Mary Washington college in Fredericksburg, Va. Her fiance was graduated from Nichols college in Webster, Mass. He is stationed at Navy pier following patrol duty off Newfoundland and Iceland and 18 months of service in the South Pacific, including the battles of the Coral sea, Midway Island, and Guadalcanal.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Norma Mitchell, daughter of Mrs. Lydia H. Mitchell of Detroit Lakes, Minn., to Capt. Ambrose J. O'Callaghan of the army air forces, son of Mrs. John F. O'Callaghan of Greenview avenue. Miss Mitchell, a graduate of the American Academy of Art in Chicago, is with the special services unit, accessories branch, of the air service command headquarters at Patterson field, Fairfield, O. Capt. O'Callaghan who is stationed at the army air forces school of applied tactics at Orlando, Fla., was one of the original members of Chicago's Black Horse trop. Both families will go to Orlando for the wedding on Oct. 18.

FASHIONS

By Angela



The two piece wool dress which may be worn as either a suit or a dress is an invaluable asset to a complete wardrobe. The new fall models have soft, curved lines and attractively feminine detailing, yet are modest in price.

A combination of material creates effective interest in a simply tailored two piecer. Brown and white checks serve the slightly fitted jacket, which is trimmed with two brown flaps, simulating pockets, and a brown wool tie of the same material as the skirt slides thru a couple of slots and ties in a soft bow at the neckline. The slim skirt has a buttoned side closing and a smooth fitting waistband. The dress is available in sizes 10 to 18.

Natural wool is the medium which fashions the simple, two piece, all wool dress, sketched center, and it is the type which may be worn with or without a blouse. The jacket is slightly fitted at the waistline and has two softly draped pockets, a tailored notch lapel, and brief collar. Three gold buttons parade up the front closing and provide a most decorative accent against a richly surfaced material. This suit is available in sizes 10 to 18 and in various light shades.

Dressiest of this trio of two piecers is the suit sketched third. It is made of that beautiful new shade, woodland violet, combined with fuchsia. The tailoring of the jacket and skirt is masterful. Fuchsia insets create a yoke effect and carry out the color scheme of the blouse and jacket lining. The blouse is plain, with short sleeves and a high neckline tied with a soft tailored bow.

Girl Need Not Be Beautiful to Win Friends

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

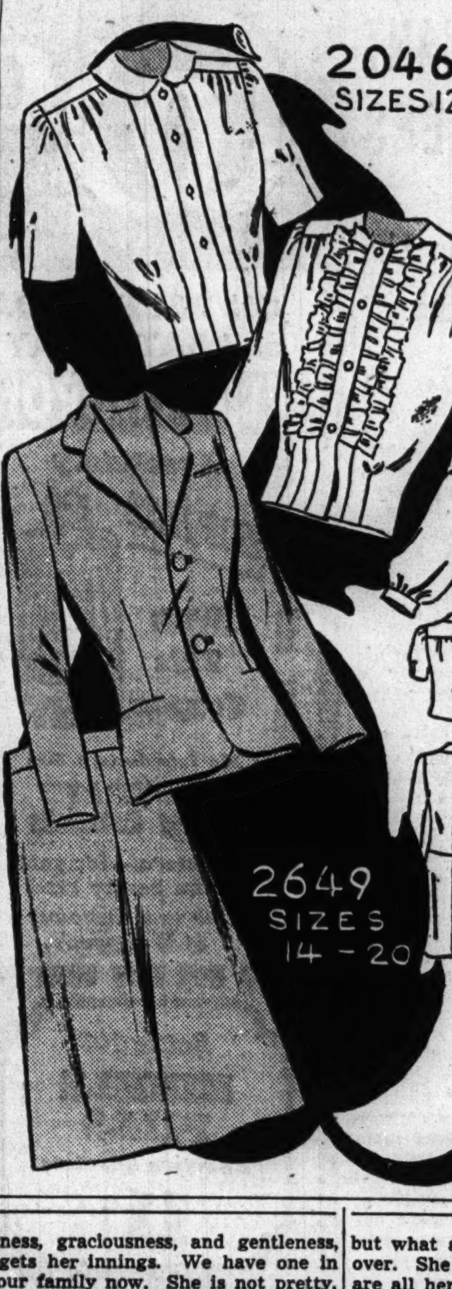
"I have knocked around the country for a good many years. Wherever I've hung my hat has been home," writes M. I. "My work has brought me among many types of girls, and those who linger in my memory across the years had several things in common. I should like to pass the word on to help, if I may, those young women who write you that they are unpopular because they're homely.

"I think of one woman first. On first impression, she was the homeliest woman I have ever seen, but before you were in her presence 10 minutes, you asked yourself if you were crazy thinking her homely. She had almost overwhelming charm and grace. She had a beautiful voice and the complete gracious attention she gave you, won you forever. Another homely woman suffered an inferiority complex that was painful. She, too, had a beautiful voice. She had great tenderness. This woman did not realize her charm and mourned foolishly.

"I remember another for her complete daintiness and because she used violet perfume. The sight and smell of violets remind me of her always. Another woman memory recalls had a smile that came suddenly and exploded into light. Her whole face was transfixed with light. She wasn't pretty nor was she homely. Another smile I recall, that of an elderly woman who proved a rare sunbeam wherever she was. Her object in life was doing nice things for others.

"Right now is when the young girl with plain old fashioned tenderness, graciousness, and gentleness, gets her innings. We have one in our family now. She is not pretty, but what a gift for winning people over. She is my son's wife and we are all her slaves."

Suit and Blouse Designs



These two patterns create a suit ensemble complete with blouses. The suit itself is an attractive, two button affair with lapel collarline and simple, pencil-slim skirt. The blouses may be either tailored or dressy.

Style No. 2046 is designed for sizes 12 to 20, 36 to 48. Size 36 requires for blouse with collar, 1¾ yards of 35 inch fabric; for long-sleeved version, 2⅛ yards of 39 inch material.

Style No. 2649 is designed for sizes 14 to 20. Size 16 requires 2¾ yards of 54 inch material.

Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The pattern book is 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with pattern.

Women's Activities Head of Radio Chain Will Address D. A. R.

Miss Judith Waller, director of public service for the central division of the National Broadcasting company, will appear as guest speaker today before members of the 4th division of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who will be gathering at 10 a. m. in the Carson Pirie Scott tearoom for their season's opening meeting. Miss Waller directs all women's activities and all children's programs for NBC in this area. "How Radio Ties in with National Defense" will be her subject this morning.

Mrs. Dan Pagenta, new Americanism chairman for the division, and Mrs. Robert R. Beak, recently appointed national defense chairman, will preside.

MACHINE UNION, 625,000 STRONG, RETURNS TO AFL Ends Its Long Squabble with Carpenters.

BY GEORGE HARTMANN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Oct. 7.—Amid the cheers of a packed convention hall, the American Federation of Labor today welcomed back the International Association of Machinists as the largest of its affiliated unions.

Following the news of the reconciliation, Secretary George Meany announced the AFL's total paid membership now was 6,654,141.

The machinists' membership as of Aug. 31 was officially 625,000, making it the No. 1 AFL union in size. This rank previously had been held by the brotherhood of teamsters, which had a membership of 602,900 last year.

Clashed with Carpenters.

The machinists quit the federation May 27 as a result of the AFL executive board's refusal to settle a long standing squabble between the IAM and the carpenters' union over which union was entitled to install, erect, and repair machinery. The millwrights of the carpenters for many years have ignored an AFL rule giving the work of installing machinery to the machinists.

In 1938 William L. Hutcheson, president of the carpenters' union, threatened to leave the AFL if the board interfered. He is still a member of the board and has refused to yield to the machinists. Harvey Brown, IAM president, had informed the board that something must be offered the machinists before they would rejoin. Such terms as may have been decided upon were not disclosed.

Reunion Is Applauded.

Morris Hutcheson, son of William L. Hutcheson, moved for the acceptance of the executive board's report announcing the machinists' return. It was carried unanimously amid applause.

Return of IAM assured the reelection of Brown to the vice presidency of AFL.

One board member said that IAM's action will pave the way for the return of John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers union to the AFL. Lewis' letter of application is being considered by the resolutions committee. He is said to have offered to give up a large part of the membership of district 50 of the UMW to the AFL unions that claim jurisdiction over them. District 50 was formed several years ago as a catch all union.

Majority Favors Return.

A majority of the committee, it was learned, favors the return of Lewis. They have cited the oft-repeated statement of William Green, AFL president, that "all the unions that have strayed from the AFL will be welcome back with open arms when they are ready to come back."

Matthew Woll, chairman of the resolutions committee, and John P. Frey, secretary, have been ordered by the committee to draft a report suggesting a plan for the return of Lewis. It will be submitted to the convention Monday.

Many of the delegates suggested that district 50 is too big an obstacle to be disposed of on Lewis' terms. They said Lewis would not be turned down flatly.

Issue over District 50.

David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union and a member of the resolutions committee, said the district 50 issue would have to be disposed of first.

The AFL council's report to the convention expressed the federation's view that the soviet trade unions are not "free" and therefore the AFL refuses to take part in a Russian-Anglo-American coördination of activities.

A resolution introduced by the metal trades and the building and construction trades departments proposed that "action be taken to centralize responsibility for the making of government policy dealing with labor within the department of labor."

President Green spoke to the noon meeting of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, asking for teamwork of labor and industry to prevent "federal control and regimentation" after the war.

Old 1st Infantry Vets to Meet Monday Night

The Veteran Corps of the old 1st infantry, now the 131st infantry, will hold old timers night Monday evening at Northwest armory, Kedzie and North avenue, it was announced yesterday by Ralph J. Sherman, corps commander. Movies of the war will be shown by Maj. C. B. Cannon.

THE QUESTION.

What early training that seemed unessential at first has proved valuable? [Asked of service men.]

WHERE ASKED.

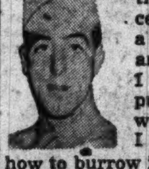
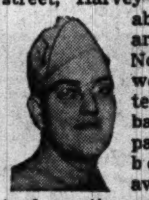
THE ANSWERS.

Sgt. Eugene Lawler, marine air corps, Phoenix, Ariz. — Three years ago, I thought it was a waste of ammunition to practice firing three shots as a distress signal. A few weeks ago I floated around all alone in the Atlantic for six hours until I saw a PT boat. The three shots I fired then saved me.



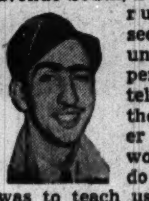
Sgt. Frank T. Hanlon, parachute infantry, San Francisco, Cal. — It burned me up every time my superior officer ordered me to dig a six by six foot hole and fill it up again. I thought he was just pulling his rank. When we were on maneuvers I was glad to know how to burrow into the ground away from tanks and gunfire.

Pvt. Joe A. Farley, Chickasha, Okla.—I've spent most of my life riding a horse on a ranch. Imagine my disgust when I joined the cavalry and they wanted to teach me how to ride. But they were right. Riding their style, we were able to make a seven day cross-country trip. That's more than I could have done my way.



Pvt. Walter L. Jones, 15136 Main street, Harvey — Our instructions about disposing of cigarets seemed trivial. Now I understand why we were told to scatter the remaining tobacco and roll the paper into a tight wad before throwing it away. The purpose is to keep the enemy from knowing where we have been.

Seaman Roy Howard Monroe, carpenter's mate 3d class, Villa Park—In our boot training it seemed that we were spending too much time on details like folding a kerchief and rolling up a shirt. Now, after a few trips overseas, I know why we have to get it exactly right. It's important so we will have more room on the ship.



Pvt. James I. Cornell, 210 28th avenue South, Seattle, Wash.—Many rules of discipline seemed to me to be unnecessary. One superior officer would tell me to wash all of the windows and, after I complied, another would instruct me to do the same thing. It was to teach us the importance of never questioning a command.

F. D. R. INDORSED WITH A LARGE 'IF' AT UAW PARLEY

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 7 (AP).—The CIO United Automobile Workers in convention here today conditionally indorsed a fourth term for President Roosevelt and the reëlection of Vice President Wallace after a minority report of the constitution committee recommending unqualified support of the nation's chief executive was withdrawn.

A majority report was adopted which conditioned the indorsement on "the basis of an aggressive effort" by President Roosevelt and his administration to achieve a "sound and progressive" program.

R. J. Thomas, head of the UAW since 1938, was reëlected president.

Mrs. Peele Pays $550 Fines on Home Charges

Mrs. Agnes Peele, operator of the now defunct Aristocrat Home for the Aged at 566 Stratford place, paid fines and costs totaling $550 thru her attorney, James P. Byrnes, yesterday. The fines were assessed by Judge Stephen Adamowski in License court last month on five separate charges of failure to permit inspectors to enter the building and for operating a convalescent home without a license.

HOME ROBBED OF WAR STAMPS.

FATHER OF SLAIN WAC LIEUTENANT JOINS SEABEES

Hunt Romances in Life of Murder Victim.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 7 (AP).—Frank E. Cheney Sr., Jasper, Ala., postal clerk and father of WAC 2d Lt. Naomi Kathleen Cheney, found slain last Tuesday in Sioux Falls, S. D., was sworn in as a member of the navy Seabees here today.

Cheney, a captain in World War I, said "I am going to do my best to fill a niche in the armed services—a niche that Kathleen filled while she lived. She would want it that way."

Cheney asked reporters to list his age as on the "long side of 38." A son, Frank Jr., is a sergeant in the army.

Cheney said he hoped for a foreign-duty assignment. Funeral services for Lt. Cheney will be held at Jasper tomorrow.

Hunt for Romances.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Oct. 7 [Special].—Information of possible romances in the life of Lt. Naomi Kathleen Cheney, 25 year old WAC, was sought by army and civilian authorities tonight as they concluded the second day of their investigations without a solution of her brickbat slaying in an underbrush thicket here.

Reports that the young officer had been married a short time ago and had quarreled with her husband were discredited by army authorities at the army air forces radio school where she was an assistant personnel director.

"The army has no knowledge of a marriage or an engagement but she had a boy friend who is overseas," said Capt. E. E. Sieler, public relations officer.

"She had no dates since coming to Sioux Falls a month ago," supplemented Chief of Police Fred J. Searls.

An autopsy report that the girl had eaten between the time she left the school at 9 p. m. Monday and the time of her death about two hours later promoted a hunt for the restaurant in which she might have stopped but no success in that effort was disclosed.

TWO DIE IN FIRE.

Mrs. Corine Davis, Negro, 65 years old, and her granddaughter, Pauline Carroll, 2, were suffocated early yesterday when fire started in their home at 167 East 17th street, Chicago Heights.

WANT A $2,000,000 MANHATTAN?

Here's the recipe below! We call it a $2,000,000 "dream of a drink"—because that's what Fleischmann invested in grains, skill and research before we released one golden bottle of this rich, luxurious, straight bourbon whiskey. We make it in limited amounts. We have to—it's so smooth and delicious!

FIRST, GET

FLEISCHMANN'S BOND

THEN DO THIS!

1. In a mixing glass containing ice cubes put one dash of Angostura bitters.
2. Add ¾ oz. of sweet vermouth and 1½ oz. of delicious Fleischmann's BOND.
3. Stir. Strain into chilled 4-oz. glass. Garnish with Maraschino cherry. Then close your eyes—and drink!

LEG INJURY TO PREVENT STAR FROM STARTING

2 Substitute Backs Also Are Out.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on page 27.)

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 7.—Elroy Hirsch, the former Wisconsin star runner who has paired with Capt. Paul White at half back in the Michigan back field, is not expected to start Saturday's game against Notre Dame. Fritz Crisler, head coach of the Wolverines, made the announcement today, but also admitted that Trainer Ray Roberts still believes there is a chance for Hirsch to recover from the leg injury he received in the Northwestern game.

Don Lund, who has understudied Bill Daley at full back, has been shifted to left half. Crisler likewise did not say that Hirsch might not be called upon despite his injury, but he was emphatic in his declaration that Hirsch is not in condition. Hirsch was injured late in the first period of the Northwestern game shortly after scoring Michigan's second touchdown. He returned to the game later, however.

Complicates Michigan Problems.

Hirsch's loss complicates the problems of the Michigan coaches since the Wolverine back field was thought to be set for the Irish invasion. Michigan presumably has been concentrating on a line defense against the smooth Notre Dame rushing attack which a week ago scored eight times against Georgia Tech.

In addition to the possible loss of Hirsch, Michigan definitely will be without the services of Bob Nussbaumer, substitute left half back, and Walter Dreyer, substitute right half back. Bob Stenberg, reserve full back last season, now is the No. 1 replacement for White at right half.

Other shifts may be made in the Michigan back field, but these are problematical. Jack Wink, Wisconsin's 1942 quarter back, is available and when he is sent into the game Bob Wiese could relieve Daley at full back. Wink admittedly is the best forward passer on the Michigan squad.

Notre Dame Quoted at 6 to 5.

"Michigan is from 20 to 25 per cent less effective than last season," Crisler told reporters today. "Our scouts report that Notre Dame now is 25 per cent better than when we defeated the Irish a year ago."

Crisler's appraisal is reflected in the current odds which are quoted as 6 to 5 on a Notre Dame victory. There have been wagers at even money with seven points alloted the Wolverines.

In support of his statement that Michigan is not as strong as a year ago, Crisler pointed out that the line has lost such stars as Al Wistert, tackle, and Julie Franks and Bob Kolesar, guards. Five Michigan ends are not as fast as the men who played the positions last season.

Saturday's game is a red hot topic of discussion. Our taxi driver this morning, for example, admitted he expected to turn in his cab at noon and join the thousands in the stadium Saturday. A record attendance of approximately 86,000 is expected by officials.

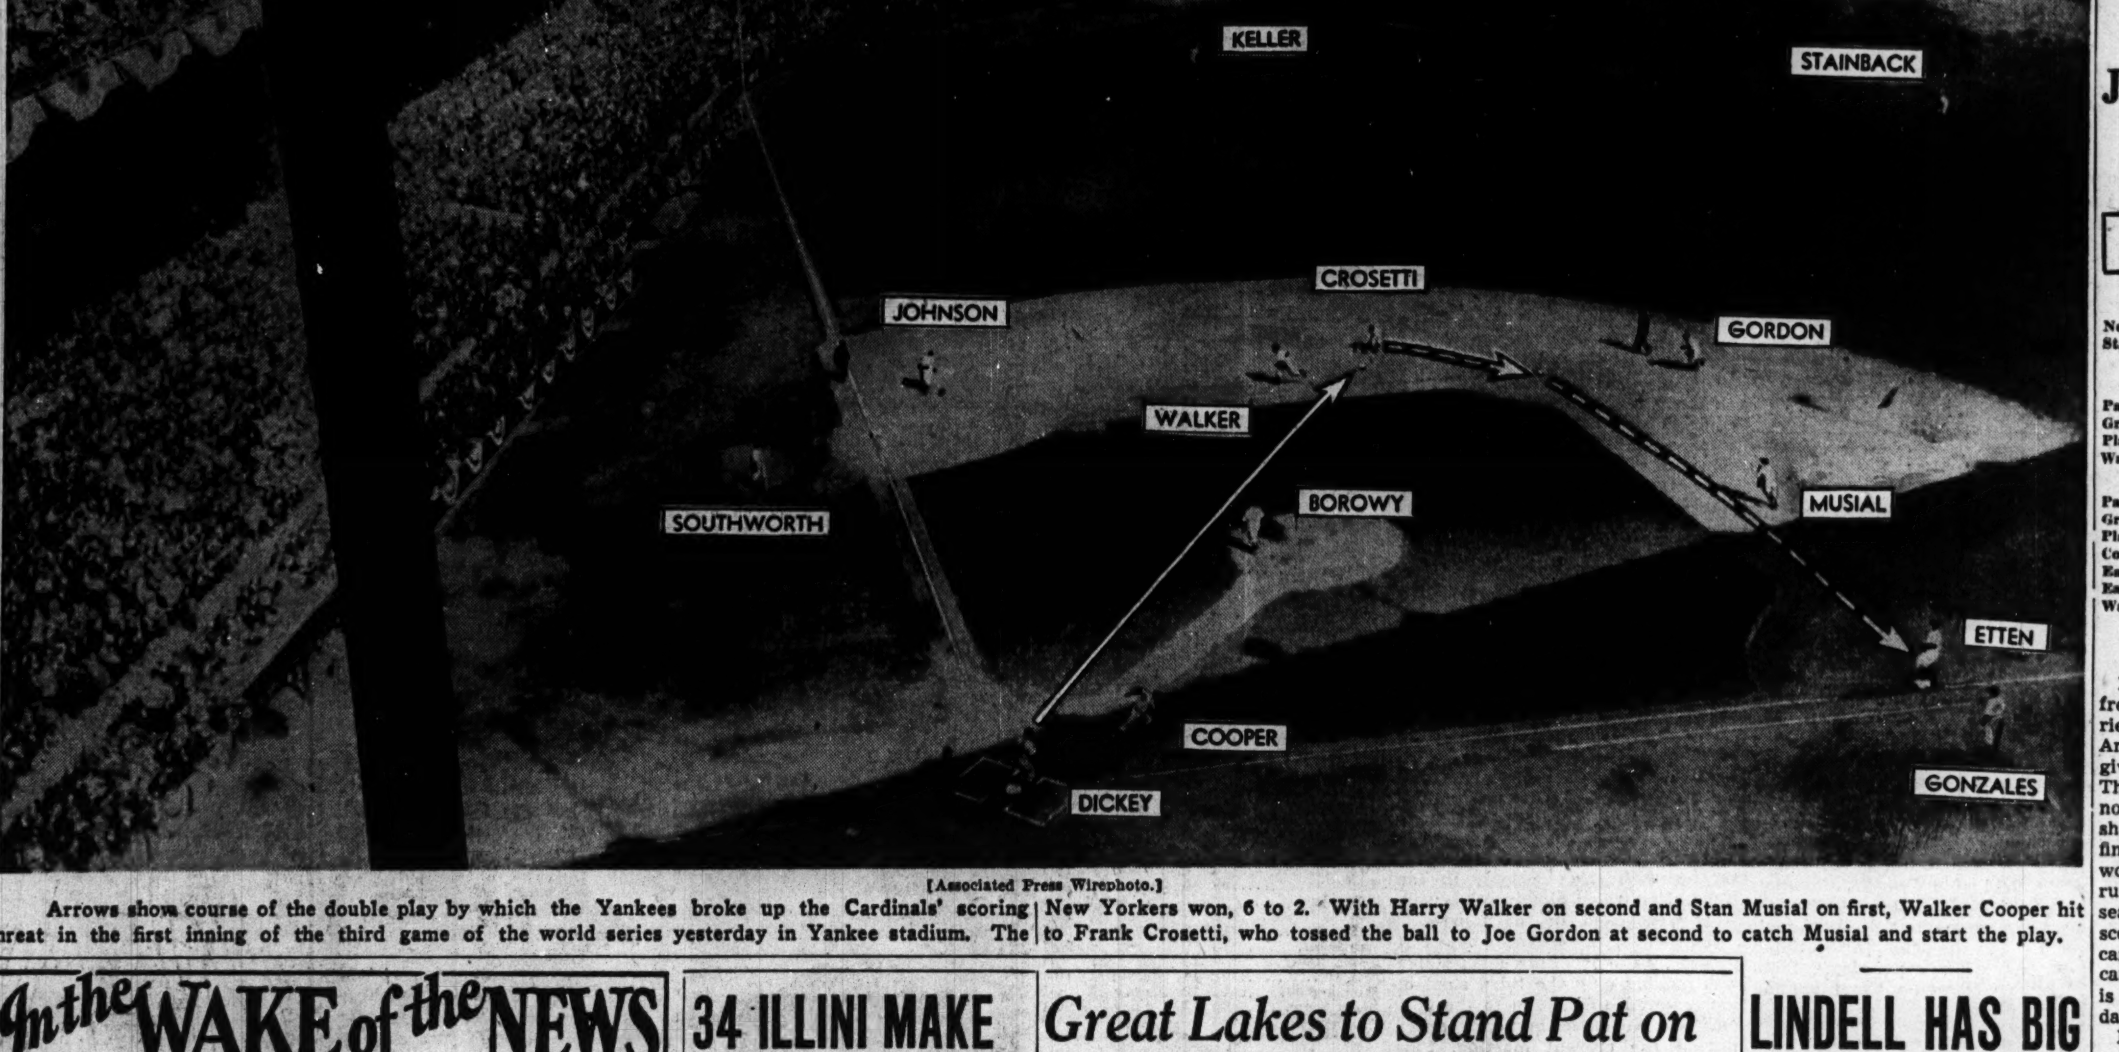
NOTRE DAME TAPERS OFF.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 7 [Special].—Notre Dame tapered off today in preparation for the Michigan game on Saturday in Ann Arbor, combining a brief dummy scrimmage with a long offensive drill.

Coach Frank Leahy announced the traveling squad today. Players will leave late tomorrow afternoon for Jackson, Mich., where they will spend the night, going on to Ann Arbor Saturday morning. The squad named for the game follows:

ENDS—Limont, Kuffel, Flanagan, Yonakor, Todorovich, Zilly, Trumper.
TACKLES — White, Sullivan, Beresney, Czarobski, Adams, Curley.
GUARDS—Signaigo, Perko, Filley, Meter, Snyder, Urban.
CENTERS — Cokeman, Szymanski, Statuto.
QUARTER BACKS—Bertelli, Terkep, Dancewicz, Skat.
HALF BACKS — Miller, Lujack, Davis, Rykovich, Palladino, Krupe, Earley.
FULL BACKS—Mello, Kulbitski, Hanlon.

YANKEE DOUBLE PLAY BREAKS UP CARDINAL THREAT



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Arrows show course of the double play by which the Yankees broke up the Cardinals' scoring threat in the first inning of the third game of the world series yesterday in Yankee stadium. The New Yorkers won, 6 to 2. With Harry Walker on second and Stan Musial on first, Walker Cooper hit to Frank Crosetti, who tossed the ball to Joe Gordon at second to catch Musial and start the play.

Never thought I would see a Minnesota boy make a Michigan team click, but since Bill Daley has been doing this, I figure I have seen everything. Anyway, when Minnesota turns over the Little Brown Jug it will have taken a war, plus a good Wisconsin team to turn the trick. Doc Richards, Minn., '25.

He Who Would Be Great.

In little things he must be big.
The man who would be great—
Love should sow kindness in his heart
And leave no room for hate.

He must have wisdom; tolerance
Toward his fellow men;
He must not shirk a waiting task,
In failure—strive again.

He must not whine when things go wrong
Nor shift the blame on others—
He must love God with heart and soul,
As well all men—his brothers.

Everybody's Friend.
[To C. H.]

I went last night to bid a mute farewell
Unto a friend, loyal thru all the years,
And in that quiet room a thing was said
That seemed to banish any thought of tears;
Old neighbors sat about as neighbors will
Whenever death shall make an earthly end,
And then it was I heard somebody say,
"Charlie—he was everybody's friend."

"Charlie — he was everybody's friend,"
In that, I thought, lay full, rich recompense,
No need for eulogy of florid words,
Impassioned thought and phrases all intense;
To be a friend to all meant he was kind,
Thoughtful of others right up to the end.
I've never heard a fuller tribute paid
Than "Charlie—he was everybody's friend!"

34 ILLINI MAKE WISCONSIN TRIP

Forst, Former Leo Star, Chosen Captain.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 7 [Special].—Illinois today named a traveling squad of 34 for its game with Wisconsin Saturday in Madison. Larry Forst, sophomore tackle from Leo High, Chicago, has been elected acting captain for the contest.

The squad today lost the services of John Zabel, East St. Louis freshman tackle, ordered to report for induction into the army.

BADGERS SPEED UP.

The lineup is just about set and probably will feature three more changes over last week. Bernard [Pat] Weber will get the call at left end this week with John Eulberg at right. Fred Doar and Don Lee will be the tackles with Sid Fisher and John Davey at the guards. Bob Letz probably will be at Davey's guard when the Badgers are on defense.

In the back field, two newcomers will start, the Badger coach said, with Doug Hodges taking over the signal calling and Harry Hildreth going to full back.

LAST RITES FOR COOPER ARE SET FOR TOMORROW

Independence, Mo., Oct. 7 (AP).—Funeral services for Robert J. Cooper, 58 year old father of Morton and Walker Cooper, stars on the St. Louis Cardinal baseball club, will be held Saturday.

Great Lakes to Stand Pat on Lineup for Ohio State Game

The starting back field will consist of Quarter Back Paul Anderson of Western Reserve, Half Backs Steve Lach of Duke and Steve Juzwik of Notre Dame and Full Back Dewey Proctor. Linemen are Ends Joe Schwarting, Texas, and Cecil Pirkey, East Texas State; Tackles George Perpich, Georgetown, and John Badaczewski, Western Reserve; Guards Russ Letlow, San Francisco, and Libero Bertagnolli, Washington U., with Saban at center.

BUCKEYES IN SHAPE.

Columbus, O., Oct. 7 [Special].—The Ohio State football squad of 36 men will leave here tomorrow morning for Great Lakes, Ill., where they will engage the Bluejacket eleven Saturday. The team, which is in excellent physical condition, will work out at Great Lakes tomorrow afternoon.

The following players will make the trip:

SPEED UP PURDUE ATTACK.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 7 [Special].—Gearing up Purdue's running attack, which has been averaging nearly 6 yards a try so far this season, occupied the attention of the Boilermakers coaching staff this afternoon in the last hard workout for Saturday's Dads' day battle with Camp Grant's Warriors here.

IOWA WORKS ON DEFENSE.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 7 [Special].—Determined not to be caught unawares by the Seahawks Saturday, Coach Slip Madigan again made defense the chief item of the University of Iowa's practice session today.

Madigan said he is confident he can slow the Seahawks' T formation, but he is afraid that they may spring a new kind of attack. A thoro defensive scrimmage was the order of the day.

FAUROT TO START KIEPPE.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 7 (AP).—Lt. Don Faurot today said that Dick Kieppe, former Michigan State star, is slated to start at left half when the Pre-Flight Seahawks meet the Iowa Hawkeyes Saturday.

The Pre-Flight coach also disclosed that eight new cadets, including Emil Klosinski, Notre Dame letter man quarter back, and Charles Connor, who lettered as end at Holy Cross, have joined the squad. The Seahawks held another secret workout today.

HOOSIERS EN ROUTE.

The Hoosiers will go straight thru to Lincoln where they plan to hold a lengthy practice session tomorrow afternoon. Coach Alvin [Bo] McMillin took 29 players on the trip.

James Brinton, substitute center, whose shoulder was injured in practice Wednesday, did not make the trip. Bob Ravensburg, a guard, and Capt. John Tavener, center, made the trip but injuries may keep them on the sidelines.

Parents Object; Orlando Quits Warrior Squad

Camp Grant, Ill., Oct. 7 [Special].—Camp Grant's football hopes for a victory over Purdue Saturday received a setback this afternoon when Bob Orlando, regular right guard and place kicker, revealed he would no longer play football because of parental objection.

Orlando, who starred for the Warriors in every game this season was an All-Eastern guard at Colgate last season and was elected captain of this year's Red Raider eleven.

VOCATIONAL IS 6 TO 0 VICTIM OF BLOOM TOWNSHIP

Ralph H. Burdick, Former Tennis Player, Dies at 58

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 7 (AP).—Ralph Howard Burdick, 58 years old, former tennis player, died today at Methodist hospital. He had lived in Indianapolis 23 years. Burdick's tennis career began in 1910 when he won the Chicago park championship. Subsequently he won numerous titles in Illinois state meets and Missouri valley tournaments.

LINDELL HAS BIG PART IN VICTORY

Plays Dual Role in Cards' Eighth Inning Collapse.

New York, Oct. 7 (AP).—Johnny Lindell, who fanned twice in the opening game and watched the second from the bench, started the Yanks' big eighth by hitting a single and reaching second on Harry Walker's error. Lindell is a big, husky chap and the way he tore into Whitey Kurowski at third, after George Stirnweiss' bunt, was the reason why the Reading, Pa., boy failed to hold onto the ball. It was the big break of the game.

The Cardinals' four errors added to two on opening day and two yesterday, gives them a total of eight for the series to date.

The record crowd of 69,990 was 88 larger than the previous record of 69,902 set a year ago.

They said Danny Litwhiler couldn't hit and couldn't field. He made his critics eat their words today, singling home the Cards' two runs and making a spectacular shoestring catch of Joe Gordon's drive in the second.

Nick Etten, who banged home 108 runs for the Yanks during the regular season, finally got his first hit of the series, singling to right in the eighth to score Charley Keller with the last run in the big eighth.

Bill Dickey tied Babe Ruth's series record by playing in his 36th series game for one club. The Babe, however, played 41 games in all, getting in five with the Boston Red Sox.

Who said the Yankees couldn't beat southpaws? The two games they have won were both against lefties, Max Lanier and Brazle. During the regular season they beat portsiders 22 times and lost 13.

Borowy's victory kept alive his seven game winning streak that finished the regular season. He now has won 12 of his last 13 games.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 7.—A Yankee freshman, Bill Johnson, today carried on the tradition that if the American league monarchs are given an inch they will take a mile. The St. Louis Cardinals gave them not an inch but several in the shape of four errors and the Yanks finally blew the lid off the third world series battle with a wild five run eighth inning before a post-season record crowd of 69,990. The score was 6 to 2, giving the American leaguers a 2 to 1 edge which can't be disturbed until the event is resumed in St. Louis next Sunday.

Despite some of their unwholesome conduct as fielders, the Cards seemed well along the way toward victory when the crash came. For seven innings the left handed rookie with the quaint name of Alpha Brazle had stopped them on three hits, one of them mixed with an amateurish blunder for a run. Against this the National leaguers owned two runs, both going across because of a three hit assault in the fourth against Hank Borowy, who otherwise was a near perfect workman. But there were more Cardinal errors to come and that was all the Yanks needed.

Nine Yanks Go to Bat.

Nine Yankees went to bat during that turbulent eighth, in which Howard Krist and Harry Brecheen followed the luckless Brazle. But there would not have been nine batters if George Kurowski, with one run-producing error already charged against him, had not dropped a throw that should have been the first out. The mistake, following Harry Walker's fumble of Johnny Lindell's single that precipitated the uprising, put two Yanks on base with none out. It wasn't long before Johnson poured forth a triple with the bases filled and not much longer before Joe Gordon, Bill Dickey, and Nick Etten had completed the debacle with singles.

Borowy, who went into the affair with a record of having won 11 of his last 12 games during the season, just about toyed with his enemies until the eighth. He gave up only two hits in the first three innings altho he needed the aid of a double play to emerge unscathed from a troublesome opener. And after the third, in which Stan Musial, the wabbly Kurowski, and Dan Litwhiler figured, he gave up only one single. Johnny Murphy finished for the second time.

Walker Gets a Double.

Altho scoring didn't get under way until the fourth, the battling up to that point wasn't without its thrills. The Cards started off menacingly with a double by Walker and a pass to Musial with one out, but Crosetti charged in to get W. Cooper's grounder on the short hop and turn it into a double play. In the Yanks' half, Stainback singled to left on Brazle's first pitch, but nothing developed, the third out coming in the form of three strikes for Keller.

The second inning unfurled a

EX-MARQUETTE PLAYER TO LEAD LAWRENCE TEAM

Dennis Shanahan Picked to Oppose Hilltoppers.

PRACTICE UNDER LIGHTS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 7 [Special].—Floodlights spotted Marquette university's football drill tonight as the Hilltoppers reached their peak for the game here Saturday night with Lawrence college.

The varsity, using a black-striped yellow ball, reviewed its repertoire of plays and also worked briefly on defense on dummy scrimmage.

WALDORF MAKES SHIFT.

In an effort to bolster the secondary defenses of Northwestern's football squad, Coach Lynn Waldorf yesterday shifted Ed Nyden, strapping end from Nebraska, to blocking quarter back, where he will be used as a line backer on defense.

Altho the Wildcats turned in a creditable defensive game against Michigan, Waldorf is far from satisfied with the back field tackling which proved vulnerable to Bill Daley's two touchdown sprints.

Lengthy offensive scrimmages of the last week will be put to a test in an intrasquad game tomorrow afternoon. Waldorf plans to use the game to determine the ability of a number of new men.

Calumet and Harper Clash in Headliner

Five City league games, one in the Catholic league, and two in the South Suburban offer the Chicago high school football fan a varied program this afternoon and evening.

Two undefeated south section teams in the City league, Calumet and Harper, clash in the second portion of a double header at Shewbridge field at 8 o'clock. Calumet, with two straight league victories, one of which was a 6 to 0 triumph over Fenger, the defending sectional champion, last Saturday, faces Harper, which won one and tied one in league play.

Lane Meets Sullivan.

In the first part of the double header two other south section teams, Hirsch and Parker, each will be seeking its first sectional victory. Hirsch has lost two and Parker one.

The only north section game sends undefeated Lane Tech against twice beaten Sullivan in Lane Tech stadium. This game will begin at 3:30 and should be the third straight for Lane, which has piled up 52 points in two games.

Steinmetz, winner of its first sectional start, engages Marshall in a west section game in Hanson park. Marshall lost its only league start to Crane and Steinmetz is rated a slight favorite. In the only central section game, Englewood and Farragut each will be seeking its first league victory. Each has lost one.

Weber makes its league debut in the north section of the Catholic league when it invades Loyola academy tonight. Loyola will be attempting to bounce back from its 20 to 0 defeat at the hands of St. Philip a week ago.

New Trier Plays Morton.

In the South Suburban league, Thornton and Argo each will attempt to rack up its second straight conference victory. Thornton will be host to Calumet City in Harvey and Argo travels to Kankakee in a pair of night games. Calumet City has divided two league games and Kankakee lost its only start.

Tomorrow's Suburban league game between Morton of Cicero and New Trier of Winnetka on the latter's field will mark Parents' day in Winnetka.

RICHARDSON AND ZIVIC TO FIGHT IN STADIUM OCT. 29

Fritzie Zivic, former welterweight champion, has been matched to meet Bobby Richardson of Cleveland in a 10 round bout in the opening show of the 1943-'44 indoor season in Chicago stadium Oct. 29, it was announced yesterday by Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun.

Zivic's agreement to appear will clear the way for his reinstatement in Illinois and all National Boxing association territory.

He was suspended by the state athletic commission for failing to go thru with a scheduled match against Tommy James in Marigold outdoor arena last June.

Kirby Higbe, Dodger Star, Passes Army Examination

Fort Jackson, S. C., Oct. 7 (AP).—Kirby Higbe, Brooklyn Dodger pitcher who had a 1943 record of 13 won and 10 lost, passed physical examinations for military service here today, officials of the post induction station said.

Oak Park Girl Loses in DePauw Tennis Final

Greencastle, Ind., Oct. 7 (AP).—Marion Rust of Yonkers, N. Y., won the DePauw university women's tennis singles championship today by defeating Jean Woodruff of Oak Park, Ill., 6-2, 6-2, in the finals. Miss Rust is a freshman.

Babe Pratt, Hockey Star, Joins Canadian Army

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 7 (AP).—Walter [Babe] Pratt, 27 year old defenseman with Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey league last season, enlisted in the army today.

HAWTHORNE'S 2 FEATURES WON BY SKORONSKI

Pilots Navy Cross and Say Sandy to Victories.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Tony Skoronski, leading jockey of the current Hawthorne meeting, brought in the winners of two co-features of yesterday's program. After driving Navy Cross over the finish line two lengths ahead of Liberty Pan in a six furlong dash for 3 year olds of the $3,500 class, he scored again on Say Sandy in a sprint for juveniles.

Say Sandy accomplished his victory at the expense of a 1 to 2 shot, Brief Sigh. The odds-on favorite got away so slowly that he was no better than fifth until they reached the stretch. Then he closed considerable ground but Say Sandy still was three lengths out in front as they went over the line.

Say Sandy was a 6 to 1 shot, returning $14, $3.20, and $2.80 across the board. Navy Cross was quoted at a little better than even money.

These two victories brought Skoronski's total for the meeting to date to 27 winners.

Form Players Made Happy.

The combination of Tony Skoronski's riding and Navy Cross' running gave the form players some happy moments in the Bellwood purse, one of the co-features on yesterday's program.

Navy Cross opened up so big an advantage by the time they had reached midstretch that he had plenty of margin left after he began to weaken steadily in the latter stages. He finished two lengths ahead of Liberty Pan, while Sunny Portress was taking third place. The winner was backed down to a little better than even money, returning $4.20, $3.40, and $2.80 across the board.

Jockeys Willie Morrisey and C. L. Martin split the first four races between them. After Morrisey had brought in Basileus by three lengths in the first race, Martin followed up with Bolo Servant by a nose at nearly 13 to 1 in the second to complete a $75.20 daily double.

Morrisey Wins a Pair.

Morrisey resumed his winning activities with Leo's Brandy in the third after which Martin came back with Reconciled in the fourth.

Reconciled, a 4 year old colt owned by the Woolford farm stable was making only the third start of his career. He had been to the post once last November and once earlier during the current meeting. This son of Insco was the favorite yesterday in a mile and a sixteenth gallop for 3 and 4 year old maidens.

27 NAMED FOR STATE PHYSICAL ADVISORY GROUP

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 7 (AP).—Names of 27 members of a newly formed state health and physical education advisory committee were announced today by Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction.

The committee, he said, will aid in developing an expanded health and physical fitness program in Illinois. Members include:

Richard L. Baxter, Peoria; Miss Iris Boulton, Winnetka; Miss Martha Carr, Harvey; R. D. Brown and Harry Hall, Waukegan; Wirt Downing, East St. Louis; Dr. Richard Boyd and Dr. Moreland Emerson, Springfield; George Evans, De Kalb; Paul A. Grigsby, Granite City; A. E. Smith, Robinson, and Dr. Hal Hall, Carbondale.

A. G. Haussler, Pekin; Dr. Clifford E. Horton, Normal; Miss Ruth Lins, Rockford; Lewis Morgan, Wheaton; Paul Houghton, Anna; Norman Ziebell, Cicero; C. O. Jackson, Miss Louise Freer, Dr. George T. Stafford, and Dr. S. C. Staley, Urbana; John L. Griffith, Arch Ward, A. H. Pritzlaff, Albert Willis, and Dr. Lessie Irwin, Chicago.

NAME COACHES FOR FOOTBALL CLASSES TODAY

Heading the list of instructors for today's sessions of the Chicago Sports association's six football schools for boys from 12 to 15 years of age will be Red Grange, John Schommer, veteran football official, Sid Luckman of the Bears, and Coach Phil Handler of the Chicago Cardinals. They will be assisted by other members of the Bears and Cards as well as high school coaches and park directors.

LANE TECH WINS THIRD STRAIGHT SOCCER MATCH

Lane Tech won its third straight north section game in the Chicago Public High School league soccer race by defeating Von Steuben 4 to 2 yesterday in Lane stadium. Ronald Buckland, center forward, scored two Lane goals to lead them to a 4 to 0 margin at half time, and the losers' goal was chalked up by Stanley Simon, outside right.

In a south section encounter played in Jackson park, Manley and Hyde Park battled to a scoreless tie.

BEARS GROWING INDIGNANT; DENY THEY'RE SISSIES

Not Substituting Passing for Running.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Indignation of the Chicago Bear coaches after reading that the team has turned sissy, forward passing instead of getting yardage the hard way by smashing, easily can be imagined as preparation continues on both sides of town for Sunday's battle with the Cardinals in Wrigley field.

Sure, the Bears have their fancy moments, but the western champions are particularly proud of two distinguishing marks — a crushing ground game, and a weekly accumulation of sizable penalties. They play football the hard way. If you don't draw penalties, well, you're not bearing down. Anyway, that's their philosophy and a ruthless one it is.

Penalized 80 Yards.

A running game is the basis of the modern T formation man in motion, first popularized by the Bears a few years ago and now perhaps the most used of all systems. It's based on precision blocking, the quick spreading of opposing linemen to allow the Bear runner to speed thru a hole. This quick opening play perhaps is the most spectacular in their repertoire, resembling as it does a man shot out of a cannon.

Sid Luckman, the Bears' No. 1 quarter back, emphatically denies that the Bears are subordinating their running game to an aerial attack this season. Against the Lions last Sunday, the Bears drew 80 yards in penalties, four of 15 yards and four of five yards.

"When you find yourself with 15 or 25 yards to go for a first down," said Sid, "you know your best chance is in the air. But we've put on some fine rushing drives this season and I think the fans and the Cards will see some running Sunday."

Averaged 18 Per Game.

The Bears averaged throwing 18 passes a game in 11 league games last year. In the two contests this season, they've thrown 38, or 19 each game, an indication they are passing and running at a normal ratio. In 1942, Sid completed 57 of 105 passes for 1,023 yards. This season he's had 17 bulls-eyes in 33 pitches for 339 yards, the average gain per pass being 19 plus this year as against 17 plus in '42.

By now, the Cardinals probably are wondering where they come in. What about their fine passer, Ronnie Cahill? Ronnie, the little Irishman from Holy Cross, shades Luckman in the National league passing statistics. He's completed 19 of 36 for 211 yards, but he's more than 100 yards shy of Luckman's total.

The Cardinals aren't making any success claims for Sunday. But one of these afternoons they're going to deal out some misery. They'd gladly settle for an even break in luck. They scored 17 points against the Lions, seven against the Packers, and 21 in an exhibition game with the Redskins in losing all three.

Madison A. C., Peorians Will Box Tonight

Boxers from Peoria will meet Madison Athletic club representatives in a series of amateur bouts tonight in the Madison A. C., 4711 Madison street. The invaders will be seeking revenge for two defeats at the hands of the Madison team. Tim Dalton, 1943 city Golden Glove lightweight winner, and Charley Kucharz, light heavyweight puncher, who has won seven of his eight starts, will lead the west siders. Dalton is paired with Charley Betson, Peoria junior welterweight, and Kucharz with Bob Baugh, Peoria 175 pounder. Other bouts:

Charles Purple, Peoria vs. James Wilson, Madison A. C. [3], 126.

PRELIMINARY BOUTS.

Bob Weatherly vs. Tommy Reed [5], 132.
James Collins vs. William Danzy [3], 118.

Eddie Sears, former manager of Mushy Callahan, the old junior welterweight champion, is in town to beat the ballyhoo drums for a 10 round bout between Buddy Scott, Texas heavyweight champion, and Dan Merritt of Cleveland in Marigold Gardens Oct. 18. Sears has an interest in Scott. The next show in the Marigold arena on Monday is topped by a 12 round rematch between Jimmy Joyce, Gary lightweight, and Alvin Gomez.

RED BIRDS BEAT SYRACUSE, 7 TO 6; LEAD SERIES, 3-1;

Columbus, O., Oct. 7 (AP).—The Columbus Red Birds came from behind twice tonight to defeat the Syracuse Chiefs, 7 to 6, for their third victory in four starts in the little world series. The defending champions need only one more win to become the first team in history to take the title three years in a row.

Hammond Tech Defeats Gary Tolleston High, 18-6

Hammond Tech defeated Tolleston of Gary, 18 to 6, last night in Gary in a western division football game in the Northern Indiana conference. It was first league victory in three games for Hammond Tech and the third straight conference loss for Tolleston.

KANSAS PLAYERS RETURN.

Lawrence, Kas., Oct. 7 (AP).—Two injured players, John Bergin and Bill Mowery, were back with the Kansas varsity today.

May Not Play

Elroy Hirsch, former Wisconsin star, now a regular Michigan half back, may not be able to start against Notre Dame Saturday because of injury, Coach Fritz Crisler of the Wolverines said yesterday.

Hawks' Staff Off Tonight to Open Camp

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Manager Paul Thompson, Coach-Wing Johnny Gottselig and Press Agent Joe C. Farrell of the Chicago Blackhawks will leave tonight for the team's training camp in Minneapolis and will be joined by 18 or 20 hockey players who will go into training tomorrow in Minneapolis arena.

The squad, it is reported, is made up of players under Canadian military ages, oldsters who have been working in armament plants and others who have complied with United States-Canadian military restrictions and requirements.

At a farewell luncheon given yesterday by Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the Hawks, Thompson expressed hopes that the Hawks will be able to put forth one of the best teams in the National league here opening night on Oct. 31, when the Chicagoans will push off against the Toronto Maple Leafs, in Chicago Stadium.

All Affected by War.

Said Skipper Thompson: "All the teams of the league have been affected by war time demands. We have not been hit any harder than the other teams, and 53 players on our reserve list now are in the war. The greatest strength was at goal on some of the teams, but virtually all the outfits will have new fellows in the nets. I believe our 19 year old Hector Highton, from the Vancouver amateur ranks will be as sharp as anybody in the league, and possibly an improvement over any of the goal tending the Hawks have had since Sammy Lo Presti became a sea faring hero.

"I am confident we will have the best crew of defensemen in the league in the veterans Earl Seibert and Art Wiebe and the experienced Red Mitchel and George Allen.

Still Have Doug Bentley.

"We have lost the brilliant Max Bentley and Red Hamill, but we still have Doug Bentley. I think Doug will like the rule changes, which favor the fast breaking rather than the power game. Many of our scoring plays will be built around Doug.

"We have encountered some hitches about the return of Bill Mosienko, but still have hopes he will be able to cross the border, a privilege not granted him last season, tho he was a great help to us in some of the games played in Canada. Bill Thoms will be back, which, of course, is good news to our scoring department. The same may be said of Mush March, Fido Purpur, and Joe Papike. We had hoped to have Cully Dahlstrom in our training camp, but his status now is uncertain."

CARDS CRUMBLE IN EIGHTH INNING; YANKEES WIN, 6-2

Five Hits and Two Errors Bring in Five Runs.

couple of super-duper defensive plays. Keller closed the inning for the Cards by reaching over the low wall to make a grab of Martin Marion's foul after Litwhiler had caromed a single off Borowy's leg. Gordon led off in the Yanks' second with a low liner to left and it carried the label of a hit until Litwhiler, going at full speed, accomplished a shoe string catch. Brazle got another lift at the start of the third, Walker tearing back to the vicinity of the 457 foot marker to capture Lindell's fly.

Borowy Gets Into Trouble.

Musial pasted Borowy's first fourth inning pitch foul into the upper left field deck and this was just enough to whet his appetite. He rammed the next pitch into left for a single and the rush got under way altho there was a brief pause while Cooper was popping to Crosetti. Kurowski put Borowy on the spot for sure with a double that dropped inches inside the left field foul line, Musial stopping at third. Sanders was passed, the first intentional walk of the series and also the first time the bases had been filled. Litwhiler then got action by singling between Crosetti and Johnson, the blow sending Musial and Kurowski across the plate. Keller heaved the ball homeward altho there wasn't a chance for a play and the Cards used this as a means of getting Sanders to third and Litwhiler to second. The bags were reloaded with a gift pass to Marion, after which Brazle fouled to Etten and Klein grounded to Crosetti.

Marion Boots One.

The Yanks' second survivor of the afternoon was so late that he didn't show up until the start of the fourth. It was Crosetti, whose ordinary grounder seeped thru Marion's hands but it resulted only in the setting up of a double play for Johnson's roller which also went to Marion. Dickey was the next to locate first base. He singled to right with one out in the fifth for the American leaguers' second hit.

The drive by which Borowy started his excursion around the bases at the start of the sixth sailed well over Litwhiler's head and might have been a triple instead of an automatic double if it hadn't bounced into the seats, more than 400 feet from home plate. Musial reached into the seats for Stainback's foul fly, but couldn't prevent Borowy from scooting to third. Crosetti flied to Litwhiler, but not deep enough to induce Borowy to head for home and Kurowski promptly followed with his first blunder. He booted Johnson's easy roller and Borowy scored.

Then the Fruitful Eighth.

The tumult in the eighth began with Lindell singling on Brazle's second pitch. Walker obligingly fumbled momentarily and that was all Lindell needed to reach second. The next crack in the Cards' paper shell pecan defense came quickly. George Stirnweiss bunted in Borowy's place and Sanders heaved the ball to Kurowski who had Lindell out at third but dropped the ball. Stainback flied to Litwhiler and Lindell, after breaking for the plate, turned back to third but Stirnweiss went to second unmolested.

The Cards elected to pass Crosetti, figuring Johnson would be less dangerous, but that's where they made their mistake. The first pitch to the freshman was a called strike and he beefed about it to Umpire Joe Rue, but when the next pitch came along he lined it low into center and it hopped past Walker's hands for a triple, Lindell, Stirnweiss, and Crosetti clattering across the plate. Plainly weary from his labors, Brazle walked Keller and was yanked.

Krist came in, but not for long. He tumbled into a 3 and 1 jam against Gordon and the latter belted a single into left, Johnson scoring. Southpaw Brecheen came forth to pitch to Dickey, who slapped what would have been a legitimate single to right, but it hit Gordon's leg and the latter was automatically out. Etten made up for this by singling, Keller registering the fifth run and the slow footed Dickey was nailed trying for third.

THE DELAWARE AND HUDSON RAILROAD CORPORATION

INVITATION FOR TENDERS of The Delaware and Hudson Company First and Refunding Mortgage 4% Bonds, Due by Extension May 1, 1963

(Assumed by The Delaware and Hudson Railroad Corporation)

The Delaware and Hudson Railroad Corporation (hereinafter called the Corporation) hereby invites tenders of Bonds of the above mentioned issue for purchase by the Corporation for sinking fund purposes under the Plan of Debt Adjustment dated December 15, 1942, relating to the Bonds.

Tenders pursuant to this Invitation are to be made, in duplicate, on the form prescribed by the Corporation, and are to be delivered by mail or messenger to City Bank Farmers Trust Company, as Agent for the Corporation, at said Agent's Corporate Trust Department, 22 William Street, New York 15, N. Y., in sealed envelopes marked "Tender of Delaware and Hudson Bonds", at or before 12 o'clock noon, Eastern War Time, October 19, 1943, at which time and place the tenders will be opened.

Tenders may be signed either by the owner of the Bonds, or by a bank, trust company or member of a national securities exchange or association, acting as agent for the owner. Any bank, trust company or member of such exchange or association, signing a tender as agent for an owner and delivering and accepting settlement for Bonds pursuant to an acceptance of the tender, will be paid by the Corporation $2.50 per $1,000 face amount of the Bonds so delivered.

The Corporation reserves the right, in its discretion, to accept or reject any or all tenders or to accept any portion of Bonds covered by any tender and reject the balance.

In addition to the tender price, interest will be paid on the face amount of each Bond delivered pursuant to tender acceptances, at the rate of 4% per annum from May 1, 1943 to November 1, 1943.

Notices of acceptance of tenders in whole or in part, or of rejection of tenders, will be mailed not later than October 21, 1943, to the makers thereof at the addresses designated in their respective tenders. Delivery of all Bonds pursuant to acceptances, in whole or in part, of any tenders must be made on or before October 29, 1943, at the Corporate Trust Department of City Bank Farmers Trust Company, 22 William Street, New York 15, N. Y., where payment of the tender price will be made, together with interest as above provided.

NOTE: This Invitation relates to Bonds in their face amount as now outstanding, and not to the reduced principal amount which will remain after the 10% payment which is to be made on November 1, 1943, pursuant to the aforesaid Plan. The present holders of Bonds which are purchased upon acceptance of tenders will not be entitled to receive the 10% partial payment of principal thereon, and as to such Bonds the holders should disregard the notice dated October 7, 1943, directing presentation of Bonds on November 1, 1943, for such partial payment.

Requests for tender forms, and inquiries and correspondence regarding this Invitation, should be addressed to Corporate Trust Department, City Bank Farmers Trust Company, 22 William Street, New York 15, N. Y.

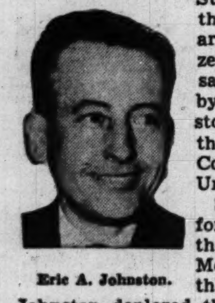
KEEP STANDARD OF LIVING HIGH, ASKS JOHNSTON

Deplores Accepting British Thinking.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.



Eric A. Johnston.

Post-war plans that would impair the economic freedom of the United States or lower the living standards of its citizens were assailed yesterday by Eric A. Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Speaking before members of the American Meat institute in the Drake hotel, Johnston deplored the tendency of influential persons in this country to accept without reservation British political and economic thinking as the basis for American policy.

Few persons in this country realize how far to the left England has swung in its political and economic thought, said Johnston. British business men are not fighting aggressively to avoid total socialization. They are inclined to shrug their shoulders at the advances in state socialization of industry and other economic facilities, he said.

Urges Guarding Freedoms.

Johnston predicted that the United States may remain the only country in which the political and economic freedom of the individual is preserved after the war. But that will not come about unless Americans take steps now to safeguard those freedoms, he warned.

"If we can preserve those things in America, we will make the greatest contribution that we can make to the welfare, peace, and prosperity of the entire world," he added.

Johnston said that the social worker type was appearing in the field of international planning.

"There are many well intentioned people who believe that you can raise the standard of living of the world by lowering the standard of living of America," he said. "They fail to understand that we make the greatest contribution to this war, the decisive contribution, only because we were rich and powerful, and because we were economically free. We can make the greatest contribution to the peace only if we continue to be rich, industrious, and remain economically free."

World to Remain Imperfect.

It is clear, Johnston declared, that the United States is destined to play the major role in world reconstruction.

Speaking later before the American Life convention at the Edgewater Beach hotel, he said it was plain that we still shall be living in a "most imperfect world" after the war. Altho the United States is ready to collaborate to maintain peace, its own prosperity and strength will be the greatest bulwark of world peace and progress.

Johnston criticized those who have ready made formulas to cure all world ills. With an obvious dig at Wendell Willkie, he said: "Those who venture, after one whirl about the globe, to prescribe medicine for every existing ill seem to me to be lacking in realism and modesty. They can only be glossing over contradictions and soft pedalling difficulties."

Price Controls Discussed.

Other speakers at the concluding session of the meat institute's three day meeting included Dr. Harold G. Moulton, president of Brookings institution, and representatives of the war food administration and the meat section of the office of price administration.

Moulton said success achieved in price control in the last year demonstrated cost control at the primary source could prevent inflation even tho the so-called "inflation gap" was growing steadily.

John J. Madigan, chief of the OPA meat rationing section, told the packers a failure of the rationing program would lead to "other and more drastic methods" of control.

Four billion pounds of meat will be supplied by the United States to allied nations in the next 12 months, said Roy F. Hendrickson, deputy WFA administration. Another 4 billion pounds will be required for use of American military forces, leaving 17 billion pounds for civilians.

Britain, Reds Get Most.

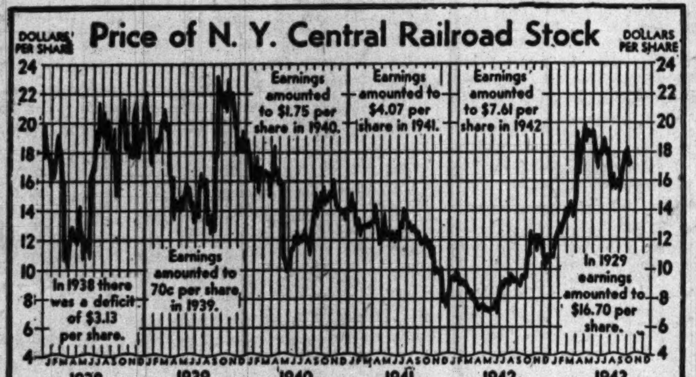
Of the 4 billion pounds to be provided to allied nations 1⅓ billions will go to Russia and 1¾ billions to England, Hendrickson said. Most of it will be pork and lard.

Altho American and Canadian hog production has been greatly expanded it does not offset the loss to Britain of her continental sources.

T. Henry Foster, president of John Morrell & Co., Ottumwa, Ia., was elected chairman of the institute to succeed George A. Schmidt of Stahl-Meyer, Inc., New York. Wesley Hardenbergh was reëlected president and Samuel Slotkin, president of Hygrade Food Products corporation, New York, was elected a vice chairman of the board.

$1 Dividend Declared by Universal Pictures

New York, Oct. 7 (AP).—Directors of Universal Pictures company today declared a dividend of $1 a share on common stock, payable Oct. 30 to holders of record Oct. 25. The disbursement will be the first for common stockholders in the history of the company.



OPA Bungling Laid to Slash in Work Funds

Some of the confusion laid by business men on the doorstep of the office of price administration is the result of the cut by congress in OPA appropriations this year from 177 million dollars to 155 million, Raymond S. McKeough, OPA director for seven midwestern states, said yesterday.

His testimony was presented to the Illinois legislative commission on small business in Chicago. On Wednesday representatives of small business groups had told the commission, of which Rep. Frederick A. Virkus [R., La Grange] is chairman, that OPA policies were leading to food shortages and business bankruptcy.

OPA Understaffed, He Says.

"The cut was a severe one," McKeough said, "and we are much understaffed. Without the voluntary help of citizens we could not do the job at all. When ration book No. 3 was issued we were able to use the mails. For No. 4 we shall have to ask local governments and the schools to help with the distribution. We have in many cases had to ask for free rent, light, and heat."

Michael F. Mulcahy, Chicago area director, complimented volunteer workers who aided OPA.

Cites Simplified Forms.

W. Bayard Taylor, regional price executive under McKeough, asserted that the operations of OPA had in general been favorable to small business men and that simplified forms had been provided to cut down their reporting.

"While OPA has been compelled to adopt a paternal attitude," Taylor said, "it has also undertaken to assure reasonable returns by protecting distributors from unduly low markups." He admitted that injustices had appeared and that the agency was doing everything possible to iron out such troubles.

Most of the business men's complaints were not considered, as they concerned general policies made in Washington. However, McKeough asserted that his employes were required to be courteous and to act speedily when there were complaints.

TREASURY LIFTS $5,000 LIMIT ON TAX NOTES' USE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7 (AP).—The treasury announced today the removal of restrictions limiting to $5,000 the amount of series "A" tax savings notes that could be used in any one year for payment of taxes.

Sale of the notes, issued to permit taxpayers to invest in interest bearing securities primarily for meeting income tax liability, was discontinued with passage of the current payment tax act.

Because they were redeemable in cash, officials explained, the treasury removed the $5,000 limitation to permit transfer of the notes directly to internal revenue collectors without the necessity of first redeeming them.

KAISER ELECTED PRESIDENT OF BREWSTER AERO

New York, Oct. 7 (AP).—Henry J. Kaiser today was elected president of Brewster Aeronautical corporation. He said he would assume active management of the company, which has been criticized for failure to increase its output.

Previously chairman of the board, Kaiser succeeded Frederick Riebel Jr., navy trouble shooter, who resigned to accept a special assignment for the navy. Shortly after his election, Kaiser announced that he had designated his son, Henry J. Kaiser Jr., as his principal assistant.

U.S. BORROWING NEARS 55 BILLION THIS YEAR; NEW LOAN IN JANUARY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7 [Special].—Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury, reported today that from Jan. 1 thru last night the government had borrowed 51 billion 800 million dollars. With the 3 billion more to be borrowed this week from commercial banks and receipts from war savings bonds and treasury bills during the last quarter, the treasury hopes to be able to get thru the calendar year without another drive, he said. This would mean that a fourth war loan drive would come next January.

Total receipts realized by the third war loan drive will not be known for another 10 days. Morgenthau pointed out that none of the big Detroit automobile companies has yet reported its sales of war bonds to employes, and that is true of many other industrial centers.

MASONITE SETS PEAK IN SALES; EARNINGS DROP

For the sixth consecutive year sales of the Masonite corporation, Chicago, set a new record in the fiscal period ended Aug. 31, the corporation's annual report showed yesterday. Total sales were $18,763,938, compared with $17,044,152 the preceding year.

Increased materials and production costs and larger provisions for war time contingencies caused earnings to decline to $1,256,243, compared with an adjusted total of $1,616,806 in 1942. Earnings a common share in the respective years were $2.04 and $2.71.

LEHMAN CORP. HAS SMALL RISE IN ASSET VALUE

New York, Oct. 7 (AP).—Lehman corporation reported today net asset value of the investment company on Sept. 30 was $37.51 a share compared with $37.35 on June 30. Gross assets were $75,287,092, with 11.6 per cent in cash, receivables, and government bonds, 75.3 per cent in common stocks, and 12.9 per cent in preferred shares and bonds other than governments.

Among corporate securities, oil industry common stocks were valued at $11,202,359, merchandising issues at $7,247,350, and public utility bonds and stocks at $9,999,111 market value.

Among major changes in holdings were disposal of 35,265 shares of Radio-Keith-Orpheum and 29,771 R-K-O warrants, 10,000 shares of American Radiator, and 2,800 shares of Santa Fe which eliminated railroad common stock from the portfolio. Decreases included Warner Brothers, Studebaker, and Union bag. Holdings of General Foods, Ohio Oil, United Drug, and United States Steel were increased.

Department Store Sales Dip 5 Pct. from Year Ago

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7 (AP).—The federal reserve board reported today that department store sales last week were 5 per cent lower than in the similar period of 1942. In the four weeks ended Oct. 2 they totaled 5 per cent more than in the corresponding period last year.

Stocks Weaken in Heavier Trade

New York, Oct. 7 (AP). — Selling again dominated today's stock market and leaders lost fractions to more than 3 points on the largest turnover since Sept. 20.

Altho nothing particularly depressing was found in the day's news, Wall street appeared to regard tax prospects a bit more pessimistically. There also was a tendency to lighten commitments pending results of forthcoming three power conferences at Moscow. "Peace" issues were among the heaviest hit as short-war predictions waned, but most armament stocks failed to gain.

The majority of steels, rails, oils, utilities, and coppers held losses to minor amounts.

The Associated Press 60 stock average duplicated its 0.5 drop of the preceding session, falling to 49.7, a low mark since early September. The market was relatively broad, 878 issues being traded. Of these, 619 were off, only 94 rose, and 165 were unchanged. Transfers of 854,370 shares compared with 715,860 yesterday.

MOST BONDS DECLINE.

New York, Oct. 7 (AP).—The bond market declined all along the line today, with medium priced rails offering the least resistance. Investment rated issues were up well, and some miscellaneous issues were firm.

Losers of about a point included New Haven 4½s, Otis Steel 4½s, Phillips Petroleum 1¾s, Pittsburgh and West Virginia 4½s, Frisco 4s, Seaboard 4s, Texas & Pacific 5s, Missouri Pacific 5s, International Telephone 5s, and Rock Island 4s.

CHICAGO LIST WEAK.

Prices on the Chicago stock exchange weakened yesterday on a reduced turnover of 28,000 shares. Volume leaders were Chicago corporation, closing at 5⅞, down ¼; Central and South West Utilities, ½, down 1-16; Midland Utilities 6 per cent prior lien, 8, up ½, and Mickelberry Food Products, 4⅛, unchanged.

Rails Nearing Capacity Haul, Asserts Betts

The railroads are "fast approaching the practical limitations of their transportation facilities even when used to the utmost capacity," L. M. Betts, Washington, D. C., manager of the car service division of the Association of American Railroads, told the Mid-West Shippers Advisory board yesterday in the Palmer House. He said the roads would meet peak transportation demands this fall, but not without difficulty.

His assertion that new cars and locomotives were necessary not only to protect current requirements, but also for replacements, was supported by Dr. Sidney L. Miller, Washington, D. C., assistant to the deputy director of the office of defense transportation.

Betts said the railroads were obtaining nearly maximum efficiency from their cars, with a record average of more than 50 miles per car each day.

Lauds Shipper Coöperation.

"Shippers are coöperating in measures of car efficiency to an unparalleled extent," he said. "They, like the railroads, can probably do a little better, but not much. There is a definite need for more cars, more locomotives, and more men.

"Railroad equipment has been used so hard that a tremendous volume of deferred maintenance and deferred retirement has been built up. Many cars and locomotives have been kept in service only because of great need and not because they are economical units for service. Already unserviceable cars are growing in number, after being reduced to record low figures."

Dr. Miller asserted that the outlook for 1944 appeared to be more promising than at any time since the war began for obtaining equipment.

Man Power Is "More Serious."

"I believe this because there appears to be a growing realization on the part of the war production board that the railroads should be permitted to acquire equipment more nearly commensurate with their needs," he asserted.

He said, however, that he regarded man power difficulties as even more serious than the equipment situation.

Dr. Alfred P. Haake, economist and president of the Executives Club of Chicago, told the traffic men at a joint luncheon of the shippers' board and the Traffic Club of Chicago that business, not government, must take the initiative in solving post-war industry problems.

"The contribution of government should be held to a minimum, and government should be called upon only when business cannot reach a solution," he said.

One of the prime requisites in aiding business to shoulder the post-war burden will be a change in the tax structure to permit the building of reserve funds, he asserted.

WESTERN UNION HELD TO VIOLATE CHILD LABOR BAN

New York, Oct. 7 (AP).—Federal Judge Simon H. Rifkind ruled today the United States department of labor was entitled to summary judgment in its suit to restrain the Western Union Telegraph company from violating the child labor provision of the 1938 fair labor standards act. Attorneys said the decision called for replacement of about 11⅓ per cent of the company's messengers as being less than 16 years old.

The company contended it was not bound by the child labor provisions because it was not a producer of goods and merely transmitted the ideas of others. Officials withheld comment on the decision pending a study.

Judge Rifkind said he would confer with company and labor department representatives on means of avoiding any interruption of business.

DESCRIBE USES OF WITCOGUM TO REPLACE RUBBER

A new chemurgic rubber called witcogum was described yesterday at the American Oil Chemists' society in the Palmer House by four men who helped develop it. Manufactured from linseed oil, the rubber-like material was said to be unsuited for tire manufacture because of limited tensile strength and low elongation.

The new product is offered as a replacement for rubber only for products which do not require high tensile strength. Jar rings, hospital sheeting, hose and tubing, wire insulation, brake linings, stationers' goods, and gaskets are some of the products in which witcogum is being used.

The use of drying oils in protective coatings was discussed in a symposium which summarized experimental work being carried on in their use in war production.

Industrial Rayon Plans Expansion in Tire Yarn

New York, Oct. 7 (AP).—Hiram S. Rivitz, president of Industrial Rayon corporation announced today the company's Cleveland plant would be expanded to produce an additional 9 million pounds of rayon tire yarn a year. The company will have a rayon producing capacity of 70 million pounds annually, of which 42 million will be tire yarn.

SPEEDY TAXING CUT AFTER WAR URGED BY RUML

Asks Government Aid to Business.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

The government "need not wait for a balanced budget to proceed with a program of reducing taxes" after the war, Beardsley Ruml, exponent of pay-as-you-go taxation, asserted last night in outlining his version of sound post-war economics.

He said that private business, to meet its goal of high employment and high productivity in returning to a peace economy, must have government support thru "an effective compensatory fiscal policy."

Ruml, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and treasurer of R. H. Macy & Co., told a dinner meeting of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers in the Blackstone hotel that industry's vast war production was evidence of what the nation "can accomplish if its technical capacities are given full rein."

Asks Definite Commitment.

He called for "a commitment on the part of government that, thru an explicit fiscal and monetary policy, it will act when business, as business, cannot act to sustain employment and effective demand." The government, he said, "must complement and supplement the activities of private business in the maintenance of high production and high employment."

Business may be apprehensive, Ruml said, "not that the intentions of government will be hostile or even indifferent, but that, unless the preparatory organizational work is done now, the government will be helpless in executing even the most elementary collaborative program."

In calling for a maximum of activity by private enterprise Ruml said the nation should not expect too much from proposed post-war public works construction with federal funds. He asserted that such activity would be of benefit principally in the construction trades, and advocated a policy of "no wasteful public expenditures and no spending for its own sake."

New Curtailment Predicted.

Other parts of his post-war economic pattern were "a minimum protection against the hazards of life, and an improvement in the operations and positions of our representative governmental processes."

At earlier business sessions of the group, furniture manufacturers whose operations already have been curtailed severely because of their inability to obtain normal amounts of wood and metal were warned to prepare for a cut of 10 to 15 per cent from present production schedules. Henry A. Dinegar, director of the durable goods and products division of the war production board, said WPB intended to limit civilian consumption of wood to 60 per cent of the 1942 volume.

In forecasting the cut, Dinegar sought to assure the manufacturers that the government had no intention of advocating standardized products and said they "can dismiss any suspicions that so-called victory models" will be recommended.

"It will be the intent of any wood limitation order to assure the continued availability of furniture items in all price brackets, and in the same proportion as they were available during a base period," he said.

May Eliminate Some Lines.

"But it may be necessary, in the interest of economical use of allocated material, to eliminate the production of some items that under war time conditions could be classed as less essential."

Dinegar identified less essential furniture as "articles which obviously serve decorative and non-functional purposes." He said the WPB had no intention of enforcing a curtailment so severe as to make furniture rationing necessary.

The wood limitation order would fall most heavily on the furniture industry, the largest present consumer. Many new war uses have been developed for wood to substitute for metal, and the industry has been handicapped in production by a man power shortage.

R. N. Greenwood of Gardner. Mass., was elected president of the association to succeed E. O. Hultquist of Jamestown, N. Y.

Delaware, Hudson to Pay 10 Pct. on Bonds Nov. 1

New York, Oct. 7 (AP).—The Delaware & Hudson company today notified holders of its 4 per cent extended bonds that payment of 10 per cent of principal and full interest up to Nov. 1 would be made on that date.

Wholesale Price Index Advances During Week

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7 (AP).—The bureau of labor statistics wholesale price index rose 0.1 per cent in the week ended Oct. 2, to 103 per cent of the 1926 average. It was 3.3 per cent higher than a year ago.

Teamsters Lose Their Fight Against Curb on Deliveries

Union Opposed Plan

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—The teamsters' union opposition to the drastic curtailment of wholesale and retail truck deliveries thruout the country starting Oct. 11 was ignored today by Joseph B. Eastman, director of the office of defense transportation.

The ODT regulation, in effect in 12 eastern states since last spring, would cut home milk deliveries to three times a week and would restrict even more sharply deliveries of other less perishable or less essential goods.

The Chicago Milk Wagon Drivers union has fought efforts to stagger milk deliveries in that city for months. The ODT had proposed deliveries every other day but the union objected that the milk companies would gain benefits in economies which would not be passed on to the workers in higher wages. Also, the union believed that numerous workers would be discharged.

Effective on Oct. 11.

In a letter to Dave Beck, vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen, and Helpers of America [AFL], Eastman asserted that the delivery curtailment order will go into effect as scheduled on Oct. 11, despite the union's request for postponement or cancelation.

A union committee, headed by Beck, warned Eastman last Sept. 30 that the union would demand a congressional investigation of the ODT if it persists in imposing the order. The committee also threatened that the union would become "uncoöperative" if the ODT did not withdraw the order. Beck predicted the order would be unworkable and impossible to enforce.

Eastman informed Beck that the restriction on truck deliveries was imperative to conserve man power, motor equipment, gasoline, and tires. He rejected Beck's plea for postponement, asserting that the plan had been carefully tested in the east and that it had been thoroly considered in numerous conferences with industry and labor representatives.

"We are satisfied that it [the order] will operate as an important conservation measure," Eastman wrote. "We do not believe that the accomplishment of this conservation should be delayed any longer, and in this opinion we are supported by other government agencies which are concerned with the situation."

Fewer New Trucks

The trucking industry has asked the war production board for only 128,000 new vehicles in 1944, Ted V. Rodgers, president of the American Trucking associations, Washington, D. C., yesterday told the Central Motor Freight association in the Morrison hotel. The average annual need before the war was put at 800,000 trucks over a three year period. He said WPB wished to cut in half the industry's estimate of minimum requirements.

"Washington reports indicate that all industry not directly connected with war production will be given few concessions in the months ahead," Rodgers said. "Restrictions will tend to tighten rather than ease. The wise truck operator will stretch all his facilities as far as possible, for the day may come when present meager replacements will be impossible."

In addition to delay in new vehicle production, a similar reduction in parts output was predicted.

People and Events

The promotion of Capt. Roy E. Washburn to the rank of major was announced yesterday by headquarters, air service command. Maj. Washburn, for many years art director with McCann - Erickson, Inc., in the Chicago and Detroit offices, is chief of the master copy preparation branch in the maintenance division of the command.

Maj. R. E. Washburn

James P. Carey Jr. has been elected chairman of the board of directors of Roberts & Oake, Inc., pork packers with plants in Chicago and Madison, S. D. Other officers are R. J. Gunderson, president; Joseph Seeley, vice president; Herbert C. De Young, secretary and general counsel; J. J. Dillon, assistant secretary; W. E. Kistner, treasurer.

The retirement of William A. Kraemer, assistant general manager, eastern district, of the Chicago and North Western railway, because of illness was announced yesterday. He had been with the railway 40 years. At the same time, the appointments of L. B. Kendall to succeed Kraemer, and of H. S. Smith as superintendent of the Galena division of the railway were announced.

The 6th service command's superior plant guard guidon will be presented to the plant protection department of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation's south works this afternoon, for close coöperation in the plant protection program. More than 125 south works guards will receive certificates of accomplishment and medallions.

E. W. Hughes, general agent of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company, has been elected president of the Chicago Life Agency Managers.

PROBE PLANNED ON PLANE PLANT LABOR HOARDING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—Sen. Mon C. Wallgren [D., Wash.] announced today that a subcommittee of the Truman committee will conduct a private investigation of charges of inefficiency at the North American aviation plant at Dallas, Tex.

Wallgren, chairman of the subcommittee, said numerous complaints concerning operations of the plant have been received by the Truman committee and others have been referred to the committee for investigation by United States district Judge T. Whitfield Davidson of Dallas.

Wallgren said that since North American's drain on labor made necessary the designation of Dallas as a critical labor area, the committee believes that it should check on the possibility that wasteful labor practices are making man power requests by the aviation firm unduly high.

HOGS SELL AGAIN AT $14.75 LEVEL; SUPPLIES SHORT

Buyers yesterday continued to pay the $14.75 per hundred pounds ceiling price for all classes of good hogs and also took many off quality grades at that level. Pigs weighing upwards from 100 pounds to 600 pound old packing sows brought that price. Only inferior pigs, some thin sows, and boars, sold below $14.75.

Steers and yearlings were uneven, but averaged steady. Steady to strong prices were paid for most heifers, beef cows, canners, cutters, bulls, and calves. Lambs advanced 25 cents to the highest postion in 10 days. Top natives reached $14. Old sows sold at $5.75.

This week's hog shipments to the biggest packing centers were second smallest for early October on record. Twenty leading markets yesterday handled only 58,000 hogs, against 85,000 a week earlier. The four day total at these markets, 255,000, stood 37 per cent below four days last week when 406,000 arrived. The run the same four days last year also was light at 285,000.

WARD SALES DIP 11.7 PCT.; GAIN FOR WALGREEN

A decline of 11.7 per cent in September sales to $54,280,420 from $61,495,048 a year earlier was reported yesterday by Montgomery Ward & Co. Sales during the first eight months of the company's fiscal year increased .16 per cent to $404,065,801 from $403,423,423 in the corresponding period of 1942.

Walgreen sales increased 8.5 per cent in September to $9,185,882 from $8,467,215 a year earlier. Nine months' sales increased 15.4 per cent to $82,075,773 from $71,125,375 a year ago. Store sales reported yesterday:

SEEK VINSON'S STAND ON CRUDE OIL HIKE TODAY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7 (AP).—A congressional committee will try to get a definite answer tomorrow from Fred Vinson, economic stabilization director, on demands for an immediate increase of 35 cents a barrel in crude oil prices. This was made known today by Rep. Edward H. Rees [R., Kas.], member of a four-man committee selected by an oil-state bloc of more than 100 congressmen.

Before Vinson is an appeal of Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, from a decision of the OPA rejecting an oil price increase of 35 cents a barrel.

WMC TO BARE TEETH IN TIGHT RULE OVER JOBS

Chicagoans Battle Employe Fetters.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—The war man power commission has stopped its soft talk about voluntary coöperation with its employment stabilization program and will soon bare its teeth, a WMC spokesman indicated today.

The first step in the WMC's new program to exercise its war powers where appeals to voluntary local coöperation have failed will be the imposition of the minimum national employment stabilization program on Oct. 15.

Efforts to Coax Fail.

In the Chicago industrial area, this hiring control program, which requires workers in essential industry to obtain a job transfer slip before shifting to a new job, has been opposed by labor and management.

Despite repeated efforts of the WMC for eight months to coax and cajole the Chicago area labor-management advisory committee to adopt the program, a majority vote on the proposal could not be obtained. Leading the employer opposition to the plan was W. Homer Hartz, president of the Morden Frog and Crossing works, who contended that the hiring controls were an un-American restriction on the worker's right to quit his job.

Peonage System Charged.

Bitter objection to the proposal also came from Victor A. Olander, veteran secretary treasurer of the Illinois Federation of Labor, who said the WMC was enacting a peonage system for American labor.

The new program which becomes effective a week from tomorrow was established in WMC regulation No. 7 and must be incorporated in the local hiring control plans by that date, whether the local labor-management advisory committees approve or not.

In the Chicago area, William H. Spencer, regional WMC director, is endeavoring to win approval for the plan from the area advisory committee before the deadline. If he fails, he will put the minimum program into effect himself, it was reported.

Minimum Requirements.

The minimum program required by the WMC in controlling the hiring of workers follows:

Employers can hire workers who were engaged in an essential or locally needed activity in the preceding 60 days only if the workers will be employed in essential activities, are referred by the United States employment service, or have a statement of availability [job transfer slip] from their previous employers.

This requirement stiffens the regulation now in effect in the Chicago area which limits the need of a job transfer slip only to those essential workers who change jobs for higher pay. The new regulation requires a transfer slip regardless of whether the job shift is for more wages or not.

Availability Test Given.

A worker will be able to obtain a statement of availability from his previous employer or the USES under the following conditions:

1. He has been discharged or laid off for more than seven days.
2. Continuance of his employment would involve "undue personal hardship."
3. His wages or working conditions were below standards established by state or federal law, or his wages were below going wage rates set by the national war labor board.

The new regulation also imposes strict hiring controls for workers in so-called critical occupations.

GRAIN MARKETS RISE AGAIN ON FEED SCARCITY

Grain markets resumed an upward course yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade after hesitating in early trading. Distillers and mills were buyers of wheat futures, but on a smaller scale than recently. Closing wheat trades were ⅜ to ⅝ cent a bushel higher. Oats gained ⅛ to ¾ cent, and rye was ⅛ to ½ cent higher. Barley gained ⅝ to ¾ cent.

There was a lack of selling pressure on all grains, and commission houses were fairly persistent buyers. New reports of a shortage of feed grains and increased feeder interest in cash wheat aided all markets.

'Day by Day on the Farm.

The FARM by Ben Markland

October 7, 1943.

TWO of the three silos on the Wheaton farm have been filled by the hired crew which utilized a field ensilage harvester. About 140 tons of ensilage was cut on approximately 14 acres. This amount of feed filled two silos, one 13¼ feet in diameter and 30 feet high, the other 12 feet in diameter and 34 feet high.

The third silo, on the south part of the farm, will be filled in the next few days. This is the largest silo on the place. It is 14 feet in diameter and 60 feet high. The ensilage to be stored in this silo is to be used for feeding the Hereford steers, and the farm manager wants the corn to be a little more mature than that stored for the dairy cattle on the north side of the farm.

Women Busy on Canning.

While the male members of the farm population were checking on the progress of the silo filling and harvesting apples and pears from the farm orchards this week, the women were completing some of their final canning chores. The fruits were processed, of course, and when we visited one of the farm kitchens the housewife was making crabapple jelly and a relish called chowchow.

Included in this latter concoction were shredded cabbages, ground green tomatoes, onions, and red peppers, with such additional flavorings as cloves, vinegar, cinnamon, and cassia buds. The aroma of this stewing mixture and the sight of sterilized canning jars on the kitchen table, left little doubt as to the final destination of the relish—it will be saved for winter use.

The housewife who was busily stirring the chowchow had only one complaint, and that was against the Southdown sheep. Early this summer she planted oldfashioned string beans along the edge of a nearby corn field, with the corn stalks serving as poles for her crop. For the last two months she harvested many messes of the beans from her extra garden in the corn field. She served them on her table, canned many quarts, and even sold several bushels.

Sheep Have Field Day.

Last week the sheep were released from their regular grazing quarters, and their first object of attack was the corn field where the green beans were abundant and succulent. Before the housewife knew what was occurring, the hungry sheep had eaten the leaves and pods of almost all the bean vines, the only limitation being the stretching powers of their necks. Now, when the housewife wants a serving of green beans she doesn't have to worry about getting a backache during the picking process, because she doesn't have to lean over to pick beans which are from 2 to 6 feet in the air.

★ The GARDEN ★

ONE of the most disappointing crops of potatoes ever grown on the Wheaton farm is being harvested this week. Last year the men produced more than 30 bushels of potatoes from two bushels of seed. This year the harvest from the same amount of seed will be about 14 bushels. The same general complaint about the potato harvest is being heard elsewhere in the Chicago area.

The May rains must take the major share of the blame for the reduced yield. The potatoes were planted in April. Then came three weeks of almost daily rain, decreasing the percentage of germination. Some sections of the potato rows were replanted, but these got such a late start that the tubers did not fully mature.

About potato varieties: The Chippewa type proved to be the best of those grown in the garden this season. This is a late white variety and gave the best yield and the smoothest tubers, with shallow eyes. Warba, an early red variety, was the second best type grown in the gardens. Triumph, a midseason red potato, will be avoided in the gardens next year. It provided the poorest yield, and the potatoes were rough, indicating waste in peeling.

TELEPHONE BONDS.

Will you kindly give me any information you have on Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania 5 per cent gold bonds, series B, due in 1948?—S. A.

Answer: The 35 million dollar issue is secured equally with the series C, 5s of 1960, series D, 2¾s of 1976, and series E, 2¾s of 1973, by a first mortgage on the company's entire property in Pennsylvania. The company's fixed charges were covered 2.63 times in 1942, and 2.72 times in 1941.

CATERPILLAR.

Please describe the capitalization of the Caterpillar Tractor company. What were the company's net sales and net profit in 1942?—J. R. T.

Answer: Capitalization consists of 1½ million dollars in notes payable to banks, due in 1944, 250,000 authorized but unissued shares of 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock, $100 par value, and 2½ million authorized shares of no par common, of which 1,882,240 shares are outstanding. Net sales in 1942, totaled $142,168,850, and net income amounted to $7,002,449, equal to $3.72 a common share.

RUT"

. . . ADMITS MR. K.

Mr. K. was "frozen" on his former job. Not only his salary. But his initiative . . . and ambitions . . . and capabilities.

He had never particularly liked the work he was doing, but he had dragged along at it year after year . . . often wanting to try something different . . . but always afraid to make a change.

Then one day he stopped being afraid and came over to Wards. Our interviewer suggested a completely different type of work . . . something Mr. K. had never thought of trying.

It stirred his imagination . . . awakened a talent he didn't know he had, and today he's a NEW MAN STRIDING FAST ALONG THE ROAD TO SUCCESS.

Come in today and just see which of the openings listed below our Interviewers would suggest for you. Any one of them can start YOU on a SHORT CUT TO SUCCESS AT WARDS . . . where there is a policy of RAPID ADVANCEMENT.

A STOCK CLERK
A FEW MONTHS AGO
NOW EARNING
$40 A WEEK AT WARDS.

Sounds like a fairy tale, doesn't it? Like a Business CINDERELLA, but it's true . . . every bit of it.

Ruth knew absolutely nothing about Stock work when she first came to Wards. But she learned fast. Even her first week, she showed so much real ability that her Supervisor slated her for advancement. Then she was promoted . . . and she has been climbing ever since.

Ruth is only one of hundreds of women at Wards now earning $40 a week or more. Many of them started at such openings as are listed below, which may look dull in print, but which have very bright futures for for Cash

COSTS ONLY 60c

The common-sense solution to any money shortage is a short-term loan. It allows a "breathing spell" in which to adjust expenses to fit income. Right now, for instance, living costs are up and it is becoming increasingly difficult to make ends meet. A loan from Commonwealth will "tide you over" until you get adjusted to these new war time conditions. Monthly rate 3% of balance of $150 or less, and 2½% on that part of the unpaid balance over $150.
